WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland reportedly will press for earlier deployment of troops already authorized but won't ask for a bigger U.S. troop commitment in South Vietnam, sources say.

These same sources predicted Westmoreland's request will be agreed to today when the U.S. commander in South Vietnam meets with President Johnson at the White House.

Talks Continuing

Westmoreland's talks with Johnson continue high-level Vietnam conferences begun Wednesday when the President met with Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam.

Joining the President and Bunker at luncheon were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, director Richard Helms of the Central Intelligence Agency and special presidential assistant Walt W. Rostow.

After talking with Westmoreland today, Johnson is to meet with Robert Komer, chief of the U.S. pacification effort in South Vietnam.

Never More Encouraged

Bunker reportedly gave Johnson a cautiously optimistic report on American progress in Vietnam and Westmoreland, on his arrival by plane Wednesday from Saigon, told newsmen: "It is very, very encouraging. I have never been more encouraged in my four years in Vietnam."

Military progress by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces was reportedly behind Westmoreland's request that authorized troop levels be reached more quickly than now scheduled.

There now are about 468,000 American fighting men in Vietnam and Johnson earlier this year authorized boosting the total by 57,000 troops to 525,000 by next July 1.

But Westmoreland is said to feel that the extra troops should be deployed faster to allow him to keep maximum military pressure on the enemy, in the belief both the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are reeling from recent defeats.

Pentagon officials are said to be in agreement with Westmoreland and tacit White House approval also is reported in advance of his meeting with Johnson.

Hit Prolonged Pause

Although a speedup in the authorized troop buildup is likely, sources said, they emphasized Westmoreland is not expected to seek additional troops above the 525,000-man level.

Both Bunker and Westmoreland spoke out against any prolonged pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Bunker told newsmen, after meeting privately for two hours with a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, that he felt it would be "very unfortunate" to suspend the bombing for very long. In line with a long standing administration position, he said a longer pause might be considered if the North Vietnamese indicate interest in peace talks.

Westmoreland told newsmen, "We can live with" short bomb-

The Pilot's Calm Words: 'I'm In Spin'--Then Death

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — "I'm in a spin... I'm in a spin."

Those words from the calm-voiced pilot of an X15 rocket plane that plunged into the desert from an altitude of more than 50 miles Wednesday left investigators with a mystery.

Air Force Maj. Michael J. Adams went down to his death with the plane, Adams reported control troubles, but officials say that alone wasn't enough to cause the crash.

The Costly Delay

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said Adams may have delayed pulling his ejection mechanism in a last-ditch effort to gain control. That delay may have cost him his life.

Adams may have tried to eject from the craft and been unable to, but the spokesman said there is no indication this happened.

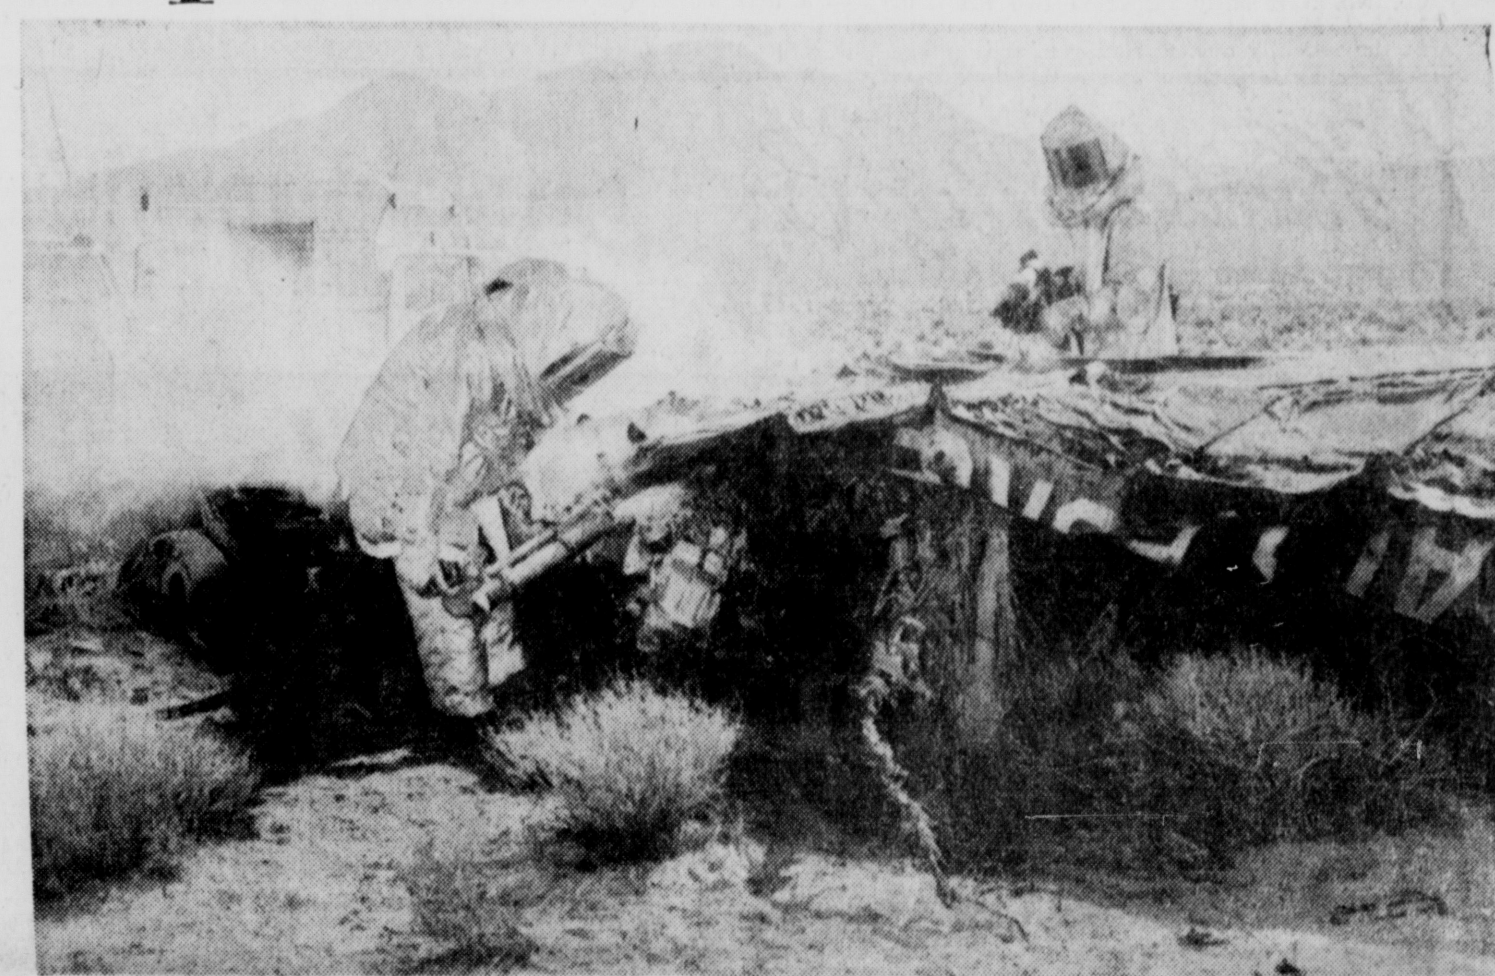

"There was apparently some kind of control malfunction as the pilot attempted to pull out of his descent," a NASA spokesman said.

"Pull it up... get some G on it, Mike," ground controllers told Adams seconds before he crashed. "Mike, do you read? Pull it up!"

Adams had reported control problems with the plane's dampers—devices to reduce oscillation as the craft is controlled. Then radar trackers showed he had regained control—but only for a very few seconds.

Any Number of Reasons

The NASA spokesman said there could be "any number of reasons" why Adams failed to eject after he lost control of the X15 the second time. "He could have blacked out... maybe the

After flights investigating maneuverability in space X15s descend from high altitude on a glide path about 30 degrees below horizontal. The stubby ships come down pancake style as they enter denser atmosphere, where the pilot switches from automatic to manual control.

Adams' ship, one of three, crashed in the Mojave Desert north of Edwards AFB near the town of Johannesburg. Adams, who lived at the base with his wife and three children, was on his 11th flight. The craft was dropped from the belly of a B52 at 10:30 a.m. and shot about 265,000 feet on a routine research flight.

A NASA-Air Force board has been appointed to investigate the crash.

Haiphong Shipyard Hit for First Time

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy planes bombed a boat construction and repair yard close to the center of Haiphong and only 1.7 miles from the international docks today for the first time in the Vietnam war.

A U.S. spokesman said A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Coral Sea struck at noon at the "Haiphong Shipyard No. 2," only one mile west of the geographical center of the city.

Three similar boatyards farther away from the city's center were hit in raids last month.

Left untouched were Haiphong's vital unloading piers and docks where an attack on a Soviet ship might bring Soviet-American relations to a crisis point.

The U.S. spokesman said the boatyard hit today was on a small river called the Tram Bac. The yard previously had been on the Pentagon's list of off-limits targets.

There was no immediate word on the extent of damage.

In the ground war in South Vietnam, Communist forces generally avoided a close combat but made three mortar and gunfire attacks which killed 26 Americans and wounded 53.

Red mortars also hit the forward base camp at Dak To for the fifth time in 24 hours, causing little damage, but U.S. officers reported the earlier shelling at the battleground in the central highlands Wednesday destroyed 1,100 tons of ammunition, 60,000 gallons of aircraft fuel and $5 million worth of planes.

U.S. Told About Same

The U.S. Command in its weekly summary of casualties announced that the number of Americans killed or wounded last week was almost the same as the week before, the number of enemy killed dropped more than 500, and South Vietnamese losses increased sharply.

The command said 177 Americans were killed, 761 wounded and 28 were missing or captured, compared with 178 killed, 793 wounded and no missing reported the week before. Enemy dead dropped from 2,354 to 1,802, while reported South Vietnamese losses were 279 killed, 810 wounded and 91 missing, compared with 160 killed, 533 wounded and 60 missing the week before.

The U.S. Command also announced that the number of American troops in Vietnam reached 470,000 by last Saturday, only 2,800 less than the peak U.S. strength in the Korean War in 1953. Arrivals since Saturday may have brought the total to the Korean War maximum or greater.

25th Hardest Hit

Troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were hardest hit in the Red ground attacks Wednesday.

The enemy opened up with small arms and automatic weapons on two companies that had just landed near Saigon from helicopters, killing 14 Americans and wounding 13. U.S. headquarters said six Communists were killed.

More than 100 mortar and recoilless rifle rounds landed on the division's headquarters camp 18 miles northwest of Saigon and a nearby South Vietnamese military training center. Five Americans were reported killed and 27 wounded.

The Army said that Viet Cong firing positions were spotted from the southeast corner of the base camp, and heavy mortar fire was returned.

Dak To in the central highlands area, scene of the heaviest fighting in the last two weeks, was relatively quiet. One U.S. battalion operating near a strategic hill ran into heavy sniper fire late this afternoon, pulled back and called in fighter-bombers to pound the Communist positions.

Iwo Jima Return Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan departs Washington bearing a promise the United States will return the Bonin Islands, including the World War II battleground of Iwo Jima, to Japan within a year.

But the 66-year-old Japanese leader was unable to win a timetable promise from President Johnson for a similar return of strategic Okinawa to Japanese control. The key American defense base is only 350 miles from the Chinese mainland.

Flies to U.N.

Sato flies to New York today for meetings with U.N. Secretary General U Thant after two days of hard bargaining sessions with Johnson over Okinawa, a politically explosive issue in Japan.

Expectations have been building in Japan for months that the United States would yield control of Okinawa while maintaining American use of military bases there for the security of Japan and the non-Communist countries of east Asia.

Instead, Johnson and Sato worked out an agreement to establish an advisory committee to the U.S. military high commissioner of the Ryukyu Islands. The committee composed of high-level American, Japanese and Okinawan officials will meet with Lt. Gen. Ferdinand Unger, the high commissioner.

To Retain Bases

Their job will be to lessen the economic and social differences between the 950,000 Okinawans and the 100 million Japanese. A communiqué issued by the President and prime minister following their two-day meeting said the United States would retain military facilities in the Bonin Islands.

A Polaris nuclear submarine base reportedly is maintained at Chichi Jima, largest of the Bonins.

Japan also agreed to gradually take over responsibility for defense of the Bonins, some 750 miles south-southeast of Tokyo.

Joe Would Quit Senate Race If Goldberg Decides to Run

By LYNN MULVANEY

Bowing in just four days ago as a possible Democrat candidate for the U.S. Senate, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick told a press audience yesterday he would bow out if Arthur J. Goldberg should choose to run.

Goldberg, ambassador to the United Nations, long considered star material to oppose the powerful Republican Jacob K. Javits, has stated repeatedly that he would not be a candidate for the nomination.

Calls Him a Winner

Resnick also cautioned that he would compete against anyone else seeking the nomination, including former New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner. Asked why he would withdraw in favor of Goldberg and not Wagner, Resnick said smilingly, "Wagner's a loser and Goldberg's a winner."

He said Wagner had done nothing to enhance his political attractiveness since losing to Javits in the 1962 senatorial race.

Wagner, a vice-president of the Constitutional Convention, has been reported entertaining the idea of taking on Javits again next year.

A liberal lawmaker, Javits has racked up the largest overall vote for a single candidate in the United States, once in a run for state attorney general and again for the Senate.

Avalanche of Comment

Resnick's announcement Monday, based on his support of President Johnson's Vietnam War policies, has brought on an avalanche of comment, especially from other potential candidates standing in the wings.

Yesterday Georgia-born Morris Abram, a member of former Kennedy aide Ted Sorensen's New York City law firm, said it was his "present intention" to enter the senatorial race. He stipulated, however, that he would not seek the nomination without Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's support, since he regarded him as the state's Democratic leader.

Just Monday Resnick refused to cast Kennedy in the lead role when asked if he considered him the top performer.

Moving on stage too is Congressman Samuel S. Stratton who said today that he agrees with Resnick that the party's candidate should not advocate "peace at any price" in Vietnam.

"I think it is important" the Amsterdam Democrat told reporters, "that we not nominate a peace candidate."

'Peace People' Challenge

Resnick, 20 years Javits junior and midway through his second House term, has said that his candidacy is a direct challenge to the "peace people" of the Democratic Party.

Aside from the Vietnam issue, Resnick said he has no deep quarrel with Javits personally, pointing out that their voting records are similar.

He told newsmen recently that in spite of the similarity, Javits "put his arms around Hamilton Fish" during the last congressional campaign in which the Dutchess County lawyer opposed Resnick in the 28th District race. "He was paying dues to his party," he commented.

Resnick, who has gained state and nationwide attention during the past two years through his attack on the Farm Bureau and his interest in the Beth Luni adoption case, now announces that he will make his third annual Christmas trip to Vietnam to study conditions.

Leaving Nov. 20, he plans to observe the war's progress and visit with servicemen from the district.

This year's itinerary is more extensive than in the past and includes New Zealand, Australia, Indonesia, Singapore, Burma, Thailand, Laos, Vietnam and Hong Kong.

"This is a private and unofficial trip being taken for my own personal enlightenment and at my own expense," he gleaned from the man in Panama in 1966 to Mueller's divorced wife and she exclaimed: "For God's sake, it is him."

Prosecutor Gerhard Spletzer said later he had been in Munich Wednesday to see Mrs. Sophie Mueller but that he could not confirm the report.

Mrs. Mueller was not immediately available for comment.

The chief of Panama's Department of Investigations, Hector Valdes, said there was a strong resemblance between the man arrested Tuesday and photographs of Mueller but his department had failed to connect the two.

"I don't believe he is the man," Valdes told a reporter.

West Germany's Justice Ministry said the suspect was identified as Mueller by a Belgian informant who also said a Belgian graphologist had confirmed the suspect's handwriting was that of the former lieutenant general in Heinrich Himmler's SS Elite Guard.

Newsmen who viewed the suspect at a news conference Wednesday night saw a man apparently in his 60s with several days growth of stubble. He sat silent in the glare of television lights, wearing a light gray coat and faded brown trousers. When a reporter handed him a microphone, he gave it to Valdes who did not permit questions.

Mueller was believed dead by many Germans, but last week the West German Central Office for Nazi Crimes said it had uncovered a new "hot trail" to him. It came from Simon Wiesenthal, the Viennese Nazi hunter who directed Israeli agents to Eichmann in Argentina.

Valdes said he personally arrested the man in a Panama City restaurant and described him as a peddler of ties, honey and liquor who had lived in Panama for eight or ten years. Valdes called him "half crazy."

In London, Dr. Gerhart Riegner, secretary-general of the World Jewish Congress, said Mueller was a leading participant in the 1942 Wannsee conference which planned the annihilation of Europe's Jews.

Two employees of the Israeli Ministry of Labor were arrested on Nov. 2 in the Munich home of Mueller's wife. Their lawyer said they were seeking evidence that Mueller was still alive and were acting as private individuals, not on government orders.

IS HE OR NOT?—Heinrich Mueller (Francis Willard Keith) is shown looking haggard as he stares distantly into space during press exhibition. Panama's secret police are holding him until German diplomats present evidence that the man is actually Mueller. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

The problems with the dampers could have occurred, he said, "but that alone wouldn't have been enough to cause the crash. There had to be something else, perhaps a major malfunction, perhaps not."

The X15 burns its 10 tons of fuel in about 85 seconds as it accelerates. Then the ship noses over and begins the long dive to earth. As it enters denser atmosphere the pilot begins to pull the craft out of its dive and begins a glide to a landing. This is where Adams ran into trouble.

A NASA-Air Force board has been appointed to investigate the crash.

The new Ulster Hose Co., No. 5 firehouse recently opened on Route 9W in Glenrie Lake Park, comprises a radio room, an officers headquarters, hose room, kitchen and a three-bay apparatus room. In the new fire station is housed a 750 GPM Mack pumper, a 65-foot aerial ladder and a 1,000-gallon truck.

Adjacent to the firehouse and owned by the fire company is a five-acre tract of land to be developed as a park and picnic area for the firefighters.

Planning of fire training classes under the supervision of company officers twice a month, provides opportunities for the firemen to increase their knowledge of firefighting and handling equipment. Among instructions and training subjects were locating and diagramming the sprinkler systems in the buildings in the fire district, how to use the resuscitator, gauging nozzle pressures, operation of the new pumper and the aerial ladder and different hose lays to be used in case of fire.

Alarms recorded this year totaled 68 and included 38 for fires, 11 false alarms, 3 mutual aid calls, 5 emergencies, and 11 brush fires.

Thruway Toll Hike Mulled, Could Come Within the Year

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Officials running the State Thruway are seriously considering raising tolls on the cross-state expressway — possibly within the next year.

Their reason is that costs of operating and maintaining the superhighway are increasing at a pace that far outstrips the steady growth in income.

The three-member State Thruway Authority, which runs the New York - to - Buffalo road, is loathe to concede the possibility of a toll increase in public discussion of the problem.

Just Matter of Time

Privately, however, persons closest to the Thruway operation maintain that it is just a matter of time before motorists must be asked to pay more.

One top-ranking official expressed his private view to The Associated Press this way:

"Everything else is going up. If we should need a toll increase, I wouldn't regard it as a catastrophe."

His opinion was that a boost in tolls was likely within the next 12 months.

Another highly placed official said he hoped the authority could get by on present rates for another two years. But, he added, this would depend on a marked improvement in the present financial outlook.

Both pointed out that the Thruway, which opened its first segment in 1954, has not raised tolls since 1959.

In January of that year, the passenger-car rate was increased from 1.25 cents a mile to 1.7 cents and the annual fee for a passenger-car permit, affording unlimited travel on the main route, was boosted from $20 to $40.

Truck rates, which were not raised, range up to 5 cents a mile, depending upon the size of the vehicle. Tractor trucks towing trailers in tandem pay 10 cents a mile.

Permit Hike, Too

A Thruway official said any future toll boost would require trucks, as well as passenger cars, to pay more. He said the charge for the annual permit almost surely would be increased at the same time.

The Thruway realized a record income last year of $83.3 million, from tolls and a share of restaurant and gas-station concessions. Its income is up 4 per cent this year, but operating expenses climbed 23.7 per cent, the agency reported last month.

Under the present financial setup, nearly half of the Thruway's income must be set aside to help pay off the $980 million in bonds floated to build the highway. The rest goes into daily operations and maintenance, including resurfacing and rebuilding of worn portions of the road.

Pay, Benefits Problem

One major problem, says Authority Chairman R. Burdell Bixby, is that the agency is committed to a policy of matching for its 2,300 employees the pay raises and fringe-benefit improvements that the state gives to its workers in comparable jobs.

"We don't have to do this," Bixby said, "but we feel we must, both to be fair to our employees and to keep them working for us."

Noting that Gov. Rockefeller has talked of raising state employees' pay in 1968, Bixby said, "If we're hit with a big pay increase, it's going to make our situation much worse."

In an attempt to make ends meet for a while longer, the authority has its staff making an intensive study of all operations, in hope of finding ways to economize.

It also has commissioned its consulting engineers, Madigan-Hyland of New York City, to study prospects for increased traffic — and greater income from the present toll structure — in the years ahead.

The 1959 toll boost was the product of a similar inquiry by Madigan-Hyland. Its new report is due by year's end.

Bixby said the Thruway was faced with these possibilities:

— Reversing the rising cost pattern by making major economies, including a cutback in expensive resurfacing projects.

— Experiencing a sharp increase in income from its present toll structure, which seems doubtful in view of the steady construction of competing toll-free superhighways.

— Raising tolls. "Right now," he said, "I'm hopeful that we won't have to raise tolls for quite a while. We'll just have to wait and see."

Y Public Relations Have Many Projects

The public relations committee of the YMCA, under the chairmanship of Paul Coon, has been designated as the Publicity and Public Relations Committee of the building fund campaign, it was announced today by N. LeVan Haver, general campaign chairman. The committee has so far kept very busy not only planning for the forthcoming fund drive but also in promoting and selling the day-to-day programs and activities of the YMCA.

Among the main projects of the committee is the formation of a speaker's bureau under the direction of Sam Pepper, assisted by Edward Feeney. They will set up a program whereby the persons who are to present the filmed YMCA story, will do so to selected groups, clubs and societies throughout the county after the first of the year. The speaker's bureau will consist of about a dozen community leaders who will relate the history, development and future of the Association assisted by a firm of short duration.

Further projects aimed at keeping the Y's name in front of the county is the road sign program. Headed by Carl Modjeska, this program is designed to keep the Y programs in front of everyone until Jan. 1, and after that, the emphasis will be on the building fund campaign. Through the cooperation of Modjeska Sign Studios, space has been arranged that will allow the YMCA maximum exposure to the traveling public throughout the county.

Slashed OEO Fund Clears The House

WASHINGTON (AP) — An antipoverty bill cut by $460 million has cleared the House and both the budget-cutters and administration supporters claim a victory.

Republicans succeeded in cutting the money total well below President Johnson's request but the pared-down version—with all its controversial programs intact—then sailed through 283 to 129, the biggest margin in its three-year history.

As it passed the House Wednesday night after a long, frequently raucous session, the bill would extend the Office of Economic Opportunity's programs for one year at an authorized spending level of $1.6 billion.

That's the amount the OEO had last year. Johnson had asked for $2.06 billion to expand the antipoverty program this year.

The Senate has already authorized $2.25 billion and a compromise agreement will now have to be worked out.

After three frustrating days in which they were defeated on every major attempt to cut funds and revise the program, the Republicans scored on their final thrust just before passage.

Their motion to cut back to $1.6 billion was approved 221 to 190, with 148 Republicans and 73 Democrats, mostly from the South, supporting it. Opposing the slash were 162 Democrats and 28 Republicans.

On final passage, 186 Democrats and 97 Republicans voted for the bill and 50 Democrats and 79 Republicans against it. The entire top leadership of the Republican party either voted or was paired against the bill.

The bill's supporters shrugged off the cut in funds as a small price to pay for keeping alive a program that at one time appeared doomed.

The coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats that rewrote major administration education and crime control bills earlier in the year had made a complete revision of the antipoverty program its main goal.

Another project is the planning for the rotation of permanent signs that the Y had made for the Community Chest parade. Henry Millonig is planning this, with the thought of keeping vacant store windows full of the story of the YMCA's variety of activity available for youngsters, adults and families.

Further programs include the distribution of placemats to various restaurants that will present the YMCA message, as well as the issuing of news releases to the media that constantly stress the universality of YMCA appeal to all faiths.

Programs using the services of many persons have already been planned for use in the actual building fund drive itself and its promotion. Albert O. Sonnenberg is coordinator of the use of radio media, and Richard L. Treat, assistant public relations chairman, is programming the newspaper release schedule.

Once design of the new building has been approved, Hal Boyer, local designer, is going to prepare a small rendering as well as a full scale model that will be available for display and promotion purposes.

Put Out News Letter

Further responsibilities of the committee have been the preparation of the monthly news letter that is being circulated, the development of endorsement brochures that are to be mailed to a selected group and the planning of luncheon and dinner meetings designed to intergrade more closely the various campaigns divisions and programs.

The committee's responsibility is clearly to keep the public informed of YMCA development and activities, and it is hoped that with their efforts, combined with many others, the building fund campaign will be a success story paralleled by none.

The YMCA is one of the 13 member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest.

BID FAILS—Mounting returns Wednesday from the violence marked Philippine congressional and municipal elections indicated that President Ferdinand E. Marcos (1965 bid) had failed in his bid to municipal elections. In 65 governorships his political hand was strengthened in 41. Liberals led in 13 and independents in three.

Assured of Senate Edge

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos appeared assured today of the control of the Philippine Senate needed to provide firm ground for his 1969 re-election campaign.

With more than half the votes in Tuesday's off-year elections counted, Marcos' Nacionalista party was ahead in six of the eight Senate races. The president needed that many seats in the 24-member Senate to assure passage of the economic programs on which he expects to campaign.

Ex-Gov. Benigno Aquino, an outspoken Liberal party critic of Marcos, led all senatorial vote-getters, however.

Mrs. Magnolia Antonio, an independent riding a wave of sympathy, also seemed certain of election. She substituted for her husband who died in a helicopter crash less than 24 hours before balloting started.

Nacionalistas also ran up substantial leads in provincial and municipal elections. In 65 governorships his political hand was strengthened in 41. Liberals led in 13 and independents in three.

Manila gave the Liberals their only other major victory. Mayor Antonio Villegas, a critic of Marcos with anti-American leanings, trounced the president's handpicked candidate, Pablo Ocampo, by 50,000 votes.

The traditional violence that surrounds Philippine politics brought death to 60 persons since the start of campaigning early this year, the national police reported. Despite nine election-day killings, the police called the balloting "generally peaceful." The Philippine News Service reported 107 political killings for the year and said more than 30 persons were slain on election day.

Inflation War Stalemate

It is beginning to look as if Congress will adjourn without acting on President Johnson's request for a 10 per cent surcharge tax and without his giving assurance that he will reduce non-military spending enough to balance the $7 billion the tax would raise. That would create a stalemate on the war on inflation, a stalemate that would be hurtful to all of us.

Inflation is the direct result of the cost push that has reduced the value of the dollar from the base of 100 cents in 1940 to 41.5 cents in purchasing power today. Much of the drop of 58.5 cents is due to the higher costs of goods and services, and in turn they are the result of higher cost of wages and materials.

One of the major causes also is the cost of government. Ever since the philosophy of tax and tax and spend and spend was introduced, the government has been running on deficits. These deficits are made up of money we borrow from ourselves to make up the difference between income and outgo. They have boosted the national debt from $22.5 billion in 1933, the first New Deal year, to the present $320 billion—from a per capita debt of $179.48 to the present $1,625.20.

Now we are faced with a budget for the current fiscal year that began July 1 last and that President Johnson estimates will show a deficit of $29 billion. That is $7.5 billion more than the entire national debt of 1933, which had been the accumulation of all deficits that had been incurred by the government from its beginning to the Roosevelt era.

Fortunately, the House Ways and Means committee under Chairman Wilbur Mills has firmly refused to report out a surtax until and unless the President cuts non-military spending substantially.

If you want the deficits to come under control, let your Congressmen know that you insist on a substantial cut in non-military spending first, and a close watch on all requests for new appropriations. If revenue from the surtax is not to reduce the deficit but to go for more projects, we will be digging a deeper inflation hole for ourselves.

Tire Safety Standards

Last July, the Department of Transportation issued proposed standards for tire safety, which tire manufacturers and the automobile industry accepted. Now that they have been promulgated to be effective January 1, spokesmen for the industry say they were anticipated and are already on new cars and tires. How much they will reduce accidents will depend on the effectiveness of enforcement.

Automobile manufacturers must place a permanent placard on the glove compartment door or other handy location by April 1, to guide the owner on tire safety. It would recommend the tire size, inflation pressure, test procedures and specifications for strength, endurance and high speed performances. The manufacturer would be required to equip the car with rims capable of holding tires in place after blow-outs at speeds up to 60 miles an hour.

Tire manufacturers would follow specifications for performance, to guard against structural faults, overloading, excessive tread wear and blowouts.

Of course, the owner will be the one who will prove the effectiveness of his tires by use. If all specifications are followed, then it is hoped and believed, a significant number of highway accidents due to faulty tires will be eliminated and many lives saved.

The Department of Transportation is only 13 months old, but it has begun to have an effect on the traffic movement in the country and, especially to emphasize safety in transportation. Placing most agencies dealing with transportation under one head is proving effective.

"Once I stood in a long, slow relief line awaiting handouts. I couldn't stomach myself doing this. So I got out of the line and never returned." That was the source of ambition for Jeno Paulucci, who has turned a small Minnesota bean-sprout processor into a major producer of Chinese foods he has just sold for $63 million. Relievers who leave the line, never to return, become big taxpayers some day.

Following the inauguration of Carl B. Stokes as the first Negro mayor of Cleveland, New York City Council President Frank D. O'Connor predicted a Negro would be elected Mayor of New York "not too many years from now." Stokes' performance may determine the timetable.

Former Senator Barry Goldwater, in his campaign for President in 1964 and since, has urged a super-effort to win the war in Vietnam. His prediction that it will end in 12 months and should not be an issue in the 1968 election is encouraging. He has followed the war closely both as an air force reserve general and a political leader.

Happy Anniversary!

David Lawrence Says

Soviet and China Must Join in Peace Talks

WASHINGTON — The Vietnam War has been getting attention from the American people, not just because it costs many billions of dollars, but because of the loss in human lives now and the possibility of an unprecedented number of casualties if a Third World War is precipitated.

The sacrifices already made, however, are perhaps little realized throughout America. Up to the end of the year 1965, there were 1-636 Americans killed in action in Vietnam. In 1966, there were 5,008 additional lives lost, and 7,800 were listed as killed in 1967 up to November 4. Thus, battle deaths in the Vietnam War total more than 14,000.

Approximately 91,000 have been wounded since 1961, but more than half—namely, 53,400—were in 1967.

Are all these sacrifices to be of no avail? This is the real issue facing the President of the United States and his advisers. The argument made by the critics of the war is that the casualties would be ended if the war were stopped. Undoubtedly withdrawal from Vietnam is looked upon by many people as a simple way to terminate the losses. It is assumed that, once the United States halts the bombing, the other side will enter peace negotiations. But the Hanoi government has made it clear that it not only wishes the bombing attacks to cease, but wants American forces completely withdrawn from Vietnam.

Thus, in effect, the United States would have fought a futile war. Whatever principles were espoused in behalf of the "self-determination of peoples" would be forsaken if, as some of the antiwar critics suggest, the United States should pull its forces back into the Pacific and take up an observation post there.

The most significant fact about the Vietnam War, however, is the news that is coming out of Moscow. In a United Press International dispatch on November 13, it was stated:

"Two Kremlin leaders said today the Soviet Union supplies 80 to 85 per cent of all aid currently flowing into North Vietnam from abroad. 'Communist party politburo member Mikhail Suslov and Secretary Boris Ponomarev said this aid will continue and increase despite the problems of land shipments across China.'

"The comments by Suslov and Ponomarev were reported by Koichi Yamamoto, General Secretary of the Japanese Socialist Party, who talked with the two Soviets for 90 minutes."

No specific figure was mentioned to the Japanese spokesmen on the cost of the aid, but "high Pentagon sources" have been quoted as saying that Moscow was spending 5 billion dollars yearly on the Vietnam war.

So the problem is not simply a matter of withdrawing from Vietnam and ending the war. The question is what the effect will be on both Red China and the Soviet Union if the United States pulls out? Would such a move be construed as an appeasement, just as happened prior to the outbreak of World War II? The problem, therefore, doesn't involve Vietnam alone. It concerns the future relations of the United States with the Soviet Union as well as with Red China.

Not enough attention has been given to the need for a formula that will bring Moscow and Peking to the peace table, either by a special conference called for the purpose or one that could be invoked by action of the United Nations General Assembly. For when the word "peace" is mentioned in connection with Vietnam, it should mean a peace participated in by both the Soviet Union and Red China.

The United States has for years had an ambassador at Warsaw conferring with an envoy from Red China. While these meetings have not made much progress, a precedent has been established for contact with the Peking government. Certainly if the United Nations called on the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States to join in peace talks, there would be a far better opportunity to end the Vietnam war than by relying on the Hanoi government to come forward with any constructive plan.

For unless the questions at issue between the United States and the two big Communist nations are resolved, the American government will find itself committed to a continuance of the war in Vietnam in order that the sacrifices already made there shall not have been in vain.

Meanwhile, maybe just to keep in shape for the big event later or because he was just anxious for something, he tried in 1958 for the governorship of Pennsylvania and in 1959 for the mayor's job in Philadelphia. He was drowned both times.

Another stab Tuesday he announced he would make another stab at the presidency in 1968. Few men have outmatched his eagerness. William Jennings Bryan was a little more successful, at least in trying. He won the Democratic presidential nomination three times—1896, 1900 and 1908—only to lose in the elections.

But those two would-be presidents, Stassen and Bryan, not only couldn't hold a candle to Norman Thomas, they could not hold a match to him although Thomas, who got the Socialist party's presidential nomination six times, was different from Stassen and Bryan.

He almost certainly knew from the beginning that in all the times he ran a Socialist had no chance. He must have been running for the principle of the thing.

About the time Stassen was announcing, Thomas, at 83, was hospitalized Tuesday with a slight stroke. Two weeks ago he said he was withdrawing from public light but was skeptical he had made his last speech.

As if to prove it, he made a speech Saturday and was stricken shortly afterward.

But all this doesn't answer the question: What makes Harold run? Maybe he doesn't know himself. He has an explanation, though. He said Tuesday he wants to give voters a wider choice.

He said he will be a "peace" candidate, referring to the war in Vietnam. When he announced his candidacy in 1963 he said, "I should like to see the Republican party take the lead in trying to modernize the United Nations."

Drew Pearson Says
Passman, No. 1 Whittler
Of Foreign Aid Gets Excited

On Wednesday, Nov. 8, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that Rep. Joseph Resnick, Democrat of New York, would announce for the Senate to oppose Sen. Jake Javits, Republican. On Nov. 13, Resnick officially threw his hat in the ring for the Senate from New York state.

WASHINGTON—Rep. Otto Passman of Monroe, La., is a dapper, likeable Congressman who keeps 12 suits hanging in the closet of his Congressional office, has more watches than any other member of Congress, and likes to spend April in Paris supposedly checking on our foreign aid spending, even though haughty President de Gaulle long ago banned American aid from France.

Rep. Passman keeps two Cadillacs in his garage, has brought back a brilliant assortment of jewelry from his junkets to Hong Kong at taxpayers' expense and prides himself on being the No. 1 whittler-down of foreign aid. It was against this background that a hot argument took place behind the closed doors of the House Foreign Aid Appropriations Subcommittee the other day. The public is entitled to know what happened. On one side was the whittling Congressman from Louisiana; on the other, Chairman George Mahon of Texas—both Democrats.

Otto wanted to uphold his record as the No. 1 whittler. Mahon knew that the price of coffee had fallen in Brazil, the price of bananas had dropped in Ecuador, the price of tin had caved in in Bolivia, the price of copper had plummeted in Peru and Chile. He also knew that the West African countries which had kicked out pro-communist dictators were struggling with drastic price drops on these same commodities.

Finally, Mahon knew that pro-Chinese communists were attempting to stir up revolt in all of these countries; that Che Guevara, the Cuban revolutionist, had only recently been killed in Bolivia; and that some kind of financial aid was badly needed from the United States. Chairman Mahon therefore opposed the $2.2 billion foreign aid fund which the subcommittee was considering. This amount was about $1 billion less than President Johnson had requested. However, Otto Passman had personally chopped down the money for the Peace Corps, for refugees, for the Inter-American Development Bank, and for individual foreign nations.

Despite the fact that Passman, as chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee, had actually and personally done the chopping, he pretended he hadn't. "I know nothing about this bill," he declared excitedly behind closed doors. "The chairman (Mahon, of the full Appropriations Committee) knows nothing about it. Nobody knows anything about it. It was handed down to us by the administration. I take no responsibility for it."

Otto Gulps "What do you mean?" snapped Mahon. "You have to handle the bill on the floor. Are you for it or against it? Take a stand."

"All I want to say is that it's the best of a bad bargain," shot back Passman. "We have cut here and there, but it's still a colossal giveaway."

The House and Senate have already passed a $2.7 billion authorization bill, the lowest in history. But Otto was fighting a one-man battle to cut half a billion more from the appropriation bill below the figure authorized by both houses of Congress.

As Passman began to harangue against various parts of his own appropriation bill, his voice rose to a high, emotional pitch, and at times committee colleagues could hardly understand what he was saying. Finally, Mahon broke in angrily:

"Listen, if you know nothing about the bill, as you say, and feel it is such a bad measure, maybe you should resign as chairman of the subcommittee. Nobody asked you to be the subcommittee chairman."

This thrust quieted Passman down a little. He gulped once or twice, then replied stiffly: "The chairman took me too seriously. I have no intention of resigning as chairman of the subcommittee."

There was another flareup when Rep. Thomas Morris, D-N.M., commented: "After listening to you, too, I'm more confused than ever. I think I'll vote against the bill on the floor."

Rep. George Andrews, D-Ala., also confessed that Passman left him confused. Rep. Elford Cederberg, R-Mich., finally demanded: "Otto, are you yourself going to vote for or against the bill on the House floor?"

"In answer to your question," replied the excited Passman, "I might say that I've never voted for a foreign aid authorization (a preliminary measure reported by the House Foreign Affairs Committee), but, yes, I intend to vote for this appropriation, bad as it is."

"Well, you ought to know," snapped Mahon. "You drafted it."

When and if pro-communist revolutions break out in Latin America and Africa, Otto Passman will undoubtedly disclaim any responsibility whatsoever.

Food in Ghettos Social workers in the Negro slums have complained that some food chains charge impoverished Negroes more than affluent whites for the same groceries. The Federal Trade Commission is now investigating alleged price discrimination in the Washington area.

Meanwhile, Congressional investigators have discovered that some chain stores have been loading their counters, particularly in the Negro ghettos, with food that has been rejected by the Defense Supply Agency for U. S. troops. Some of the cans and packages contain false labels claiming the food meets government specifications.

The Federal Trade Commission plans to expand its investigation of price discrimination to other cities. Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., also plans to hold public hearings on price discrimination in New York City; Charleston, W. Va.; St. Louis; Denver; Los Angeles and San Francisco. He has evidence that one well known coast-to-coast chain has been flagrant in overcharging the poor.

Stassen's Incurable Itch
For Presidency Breaks Out

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If anyone has an incurable presidential itch, it's Harold Stassen. He's been scratching for years, and he is not through yet although most people thought he was years ago.

Hope for Stassen is like a rubber band. He's been stretching it all his life.

From the exercise he got, you'd think he'd be in wonderful political condition. He's been running for something since he was 22. For a while he was so successful, back in the 1930's, he was called the "Boy Wonder" of American politics.

He's not a boy anymore, he's 60. But he never hung up his sweatshirt. He tried for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948, again in 1952 and again in 1964. He never had a chance any of those times.

Meanwhile, maybe just to keep in shape for the big event later or because he was just anxious for something, he tried in 1958 for the governorship of Pennsylvania and in 1959 for the mayor's job in Philadelphia. He was drowned both times.

Another stab Tuesday he announced he would make another stab at the presidency in 1968.

Few men have outmatched his eagerness. William Jennings Bryan was a little more successful, at least in trying. He won the Democratic presidential nomination three times—1896, 1900 and 1908—only to lose in the elections.

But those two would-be presidents, Stassen and Bryan, not only couldn't hold a candle to Norman Thomas, they could not hold a match to him although Thomas, who got the Socialist party's presidential nomination six times, was different from Stassen and Bryan.

He almost certainly knew from the beginning that in all the times he ran a Socialist had no chance. He must have been running for the principle of the thing.

About the time Stassen was announcing, Thomas, at 83, was hospitalized Tuesday with a slight stroke. Two weeks ago he said he was withdrawing from public light but was skeptical he had made his last speech.

As if to prove it, he made a speech Saturday and was stricken shortly afterward.

But all this doesn't answer the question: What makes Harold run? Maybe he doesn't know himself. He has an explanation, though. He said Tuesday he wants to give voters a wider choice.

He said he will be a "peace" candidate, referring to the war in Vietnam. When he announced his candidacy in 1963 he said, "I should like to see the Republican party take the lead in trying to modernize the United Nations."

In this year's August edition of Esquire magazine, when he said, "I don't rule out the 1968 nomination" for himself, he gave this view:

"I want a progressive Republican party. I want a strong United Nations. I want peace in Vietnam."

Different Line But he doesn't always stick to the same line. Early in 1952 he said he was the most likely compromise candidate for a deadlock between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft. In May 1952, he was saying Gov. Earl Warren of California was a likely compromise candidate.

But his worst political boo-boo came in 1956 when he was in the Eisenhower administration and suddenly took a news conference in an effort to block the renomination that year of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, that his own private polls showed Nixon would be a handicap to the re-election of President Eisenhower.

He suggested Christian A. Herter, governor of Massachusetts, as Eisenhower's running-mate. Herter called Stassen's performance comic opera. Herter nominated Nixon. Stassen, after a brief talk with Eisenhower, seconded it.

The road was all down hill after that. Yet, at 22 he was elected a county attorney in Minnesota and at 31 was elected governor. He was twice re-elected.

Fred Harris Is New Star
In Senate's Gray Murky Way

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When you can find a handsome westerner who rattles off Shakespeare from memory and is reputedly the smartest, toughest man on President Johnson's riot commission, it's too early to say that—except for the Kennedys—the Senate has lost its color.

Democratic Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, just turning 37, is the new star beginning to shine through the Senate's gray murk.

At mid-November, Harris has just had his first mention as a future vice presidential possibility, in a New England newspaper's profile on, yes, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York. There will surely be more.

Any list of key activists on the President's commission which leaves off Harris is gravely incomplete. He and Mayor John Lindsay of New York are said to be the real driving forces in that agency's nearly finished inquiries into urban riots.

Says one inside informant: "If I had to choose between them, I'd pick Harris as the most effective."

Harris is said to have chewed up a fat stack of books on the nation's urban-racial dilemma. He is the only member of the commission who is also on the Senate's Permanent subcommittee on Investigations, which currently is conducting its own probe of riots and their causes. He often chairs the group.

Hard, contentious questioning of the sort Harris is employing behind closed commission doors is not new to him. Last year a Senate subcommittee headed by Connecticut Sen. Abraham Ribicoff got a lot of headlines for Ribicoff and Bob Kennedy as the group delved into city problems. Sharp listeners noted that Fred Harris was no less searching and tenacious a questioner than his more celebrated colleagues.

The Oklahoma man is likewise busy on the Senate Finance Committee, which lately has been hacking through the thickets of Social Security-Medicare. One day recently, Harris sat down at a cafeteria table in the Senate Office Building and, with an aide scribbling, banged out the substance of Social Security amendments. He sounded as if he had written the basic law. Both changes were adopted.

Almost unnoticed outside the field, he has made himself an expert in education, science and government research. He heads a subcommittee on the latter. The specialists in this realm love him and keep telling him so in places like Science magazine.

Trained in history, government and law, Harris had eight years in the Oklahoma Senate under his belt by time he was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1964 at the age of 33.

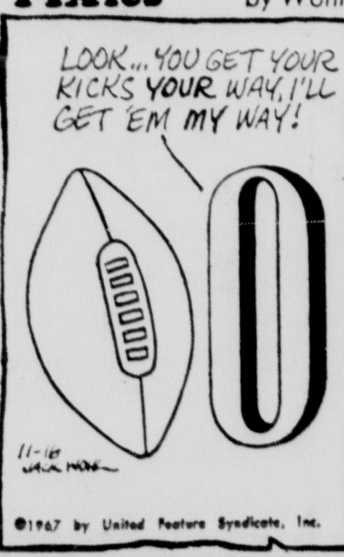

For those who did not know him, which meant almost everybody outside Oklahoma, he seemed the spoiler who crushed sports fans' romantic notion of getting former Oklahoma football coach Ernest (Bud) Wilkinson, Republican, into the Senate.

Harris is making the wise ones forget the old coach. He devours books as some people munch chocolates. His off-cuff replies to newsmen's questions spray facts right off the top shelf. Shakespeare, George Bernard Shaw, Francis Bacon and others quoted with an ease that should make quite a dent out there in Kennedyland, where literary allusions are big.

Harris is no novice in foreign affairs, either. This April he made a knowledgeable talk on NATO in Cincinnati. He attended a Bonn conference of world parliamentarians this spring and soon will visit London for a big public welfare parley.

He stands pretty much with the President on Vietnam. That puts him in "the establishment" but the record shows he is just about as tough an "inside critic" as the establishment has.

David Lawrence Says

Soviet and China Must Join in Peace Talks

WASHINGTON — The Vietnam War has been getting attention from the American people, not just because it costs many billions of dollars, but because of the loss in human lives now and the possibility of an unprecedented number of casualties if a Third World War is precipitated.

The sacrifices already made, however, are perhaps little realized throughout America. Up to the end of the year 1965, there were 1,636 Americans killed in action in Vietnam. In 1966, there were 5,008 additional lives lost, and 7,800 were listed as killed in 1967 up to November 4. Thus, battle deaths in the Vietnam War total more than 14,000.

Approximately 91,000 have been wounded since 1961, but more than half—namely, 53,400—were in 1967.

Are all these sacrifices to be of no avail? This is the real issue facing the President of the United States and his advisers. The argument made by the critics of the war is that the casualties would be ended if the war were stopped. Undoubtedly withdrawal from Vietnam is looked upon by many people as a simple way to terminate the losses. It is assumed that, once the United States halts the bombing, the other side will enter peace negotiations. But the Hanoi government has made it clear that it not only wishes the bombing attacks to cease, but wants American forces completely withdrawn from Vietnam.

Thus, in effect, the United States would have fought a futile war. Whatever principles were espoused in behalf of the "self-determination of peoples" would be forsaken if, as some of the antiwar critics suggest, the United States should pull its forces back into the Pacific and take up an observation post there.

The most significant fact about the Vietnam War, however, is the news that is coming out of Moscow. In a United Press International dispatch on November 13, it was stated:

"Two Kremlin leaders said today the Soviet Union supplies 80 to 85 per cent of all aid currently flowing into North Vietnam from abroad. 'Communist party politburo member Mikhail Suslov and Secretary Boris Ponomarev said this aid will continue and increase despite the problems of land shipments across China.'

"The comments by Suslov and Ponomarev were reported by Koichi Yamamoto, General Secretary of the Japanese Socialist Party, who talked with the two Soviets for 90 minutes."

No specific figure was mentioned to the Japanese spokesmen on the cost of the aid, but "high Pentagon sources" have been quoted as saying that Moscow was spending $5 billion dollars yearly on the Vietnam war.

So the problem is not simply a matter of withdrawing from Vietnam and ending the war. The question is what the effect will be on both Red China and the Soviet Union if the United States pulls out? Would such a move be construed as an appeasement, just as happened prior to the outbreak of World War II? The problem, therefore, doesn't involve Vietnam alone. It concerns the future relations of the United States with the Soviet Union as well as with Red China.

Not enough attention has been given to the need for a formula that will bring Moscow and Peking to the peace table, either by a special conference called for the purpose or one that could be invoked by action of the United Nations General Assembly. For when the word "peace" is mentioned in connection with Vietnam, it should mean a peace participated in by both the Soviet Union and Red China.

The United States has for years had an ambassador at Warsaw conferring with an envoy from Red China. While these meetings have not made much progress, a precedent has been established for contact with the Peking government. Certainly if the United Nations called on the Soviet Union, Red China and the United States to join in peace talks, there would be a far better opportunity to end the Vietnam war than by relying on the Hanoi government to come forward with any constructive plan.

For unless the questions at issue between the United States and the two big Communist nations are resolved, the American government will find itself committed to a continuance of the war in Vietnam in order that the sacrifices already made there shall not have been in vain.

an expert in education, science and government research. He heads a subcommittee on the latter. The specialists in this realm love him and keep telling him so in places like Science magazine.

Trained in history, government and law, Harris had eight years in the Oklahoma Senate under his belt by time he was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1964 at the age of 33.

For those who did not know him, which meant almost everybody outside Oklahoma, he seemed the spoiler who crushed sports fans' romantic notion of getting former Oklahoma football coach Ernest (Bud) Wilkinson, Republican, into the Senate.

Harris is making the wise ones forget the old coach. He devours books as some people munch chocolates. His off-cuff replies to newsmen's questions spray facts right off the top shelf. Shakespeare, George Bernard Shaw, Francis Bacon and others quoted with an ease that should make quite a dent out there in Kennedyland where literary allusions are big.

Harris is no novice in foreign affairs, either. This April he made a knowledgeable talk on NATO in Cincinnati. He attended a Bonn conference of world parliamentarians this spring and soon will visit London for a big public welfare parley.

He stands pretty much with the President on Vietnam. That puts him in "the establishment," but the record shows he is just about as tough an "inside critic" as the establishment has.

Drew Pearson Says Passman, No. 1 Whittler Of Foreign Aid Gets Excited

On Wednesday, Nov. 8, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that Rep. Joseph Resnick, Democrat of New York, would announce for the Senate to oppose Sen. Jake Javits, Republican.

On Nov. 13, Resnick officially threw his hat in the ring for the Senate from New York state.

WASHINGTON—Rep. Otto Passman of Monroe, La., is a dapper, likeable Congressman who keeps 12 suits hanging in the closet of his Congressional office, has more watches than any other member of Congress, and likes to spend April in Paris supposedly checking on our foreign aid spending, even though haughty President de Gaulle long ago banned American aid from France.

Rep. Passman keeps two Cadillacs in his garage, has brought back a brilliant assortment of jewelry from his junkies to Hong Kong at taxpayers' expense and prides himself on being the No. 1 whittler-down of foreign aid.

It was against this background that a hot argument took place behind the closed doors of the House Foreign Aid Appropriations Subcommittee the other day. The public is entitled to know what happened. On one side was the whittling Congressman from Louisiana; on the other, Chairman George Mahon of Texas—both Democrats.

Otto wanted to uphold his record as the No. 1 whittler. Mahon knew that the price of coffee had fallen in Brazil, the price of bananas had dropped in Ecuador, the price of tin had caved in in Bolivia, the price of copper had plummeted in Peru and Chile. He also knew that the West African countries which had kicked out pro-communist dictators were struggling with drastic price drops on these same commodities.

Finally, Mahon knew that pro-Chinese communists were attempting to stir up revolt in all of these countries; that Che Guevara, the Cuban revolutionist, had only recently been killed in Bolivia; and that some kind of financial aid was badly needed from the United States. Chairman Mahon therefore opposed the $2.2 billion foreign aid fund which the subcommittee was considering.

This amount was about $1 billion less than President Johnson had requested. However, Otto Passman had personally chopped down the money for the Peace Corps, for refugees, for the Inter-American Development Bank, and for individual foreign nations.

Despite the fact that Passman, as chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee, had actually and personally done the chopping, he pretended he hadn't.

"I know nothing about this bill," he declared excitedly behind closed doors. "The chairman (Mahon, of the full Appropriations Committee) knows nothing about it. Nobody knows anything about it. It was handed down to us by the administration. I take no responsibility for it."

Otto Gulps

"What do you mean?" snapped Mahon. "You have to handle the bill on the floor. Are you for it or against it? Take a stand."

"All I want to say is that it's the best of a bad bargain," shot back Passman. "We have cut here and there, but it's still a colossal giveaway."

The House and Senate have already passed a $2.7 billion authorization bill, the lowest in history. But Otto was fighting a one-man battle to cut half a billion more from the appropriation bill below the figure authorized by both houses of Congress.

As Passman began to harangue against various parts of his own appropriation bill, his voice rose to a high, emotional pitch, and at times committee colleagues could hardly understand what he was saying. Finally, Mahon broke in angrily:

"Listen, if you know nothing about the bill, as you say, and feel it is such a bad measure, maybe you should resign as chairman of the subcommittee. Nobody asked you to be the subcommittee chairman."

This thrust quieted Passman down a little. He gulped once or twice, then replied stiffly: "The chairman took me too seriously. I have no intention of resigning as chairman of the subcommittee."

Stassen's Incurable Itch For Presidency Breaks Out

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — If anyone has an incurable presidential itch, it's Harold Stassen. He's been scratching for years, and he is not through yet although most people thought he was years ago.

Hope for Stassen is like a rubber band. He's been stretching it all his life. From the exercise he got, you'd think he'd be in wonderful political condition. He's been running for something since he was 22. For a while he was so successful, back in the 1930's, he was called the "Boy Wonder" of American politics.

He's not a boy anymore. He's 60. But he never hung up his sweatshirt. He tried for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948, again in 1952, and again in 1964. He never had a chance any of those times.

Meanwhile, maybe just to keep in shape for the big event later or because he was just anxious for something, he tried in 1958 for the governorship of Pennsylvania and in 1959 for the mayor's job in Philadelphia. He was drowned both times.

Another Stab
Tuesday he announced he would make another stab at the presidency in 1968. Few men have outmatched his eagerness. William Jennings Bryan was a little more successful, at least in trying. He won the Democratic presi-idential nomination three times — 1896, 1900 and 1908 — only to lose in the elections.

But those two would-be presidents, Stassen and Bryan, not only couldn't hold a candle to Norman Thomas, they could not hold a match to him although Thomas, who got the Socialist party's presidential nomination six times, was different from Stassen and Bryan.

He almost certainly knew from the beginning that in all the times he ran a Socialist had no chance. He must have been running for the principle of the thing.

About the time Stassen was announcing, Thomas, at 83, was hospitalized Tuesday with a slight stroke. Two weeks ago he said he was withdrawing from public light but was skeptical he had made his last speech.

As if to prove it, he made a speech Saturday and was stricken shortly afterward.

But all this doesn't answer the question: What makes Harold run? Maybe he doesn't know himself. He has an explanation, though. He said Tuesday he wants to give voters a wider choice.

He said he will be a "peace" candidate, referring to the war in Vietnam. When he announced his candidacy in 1963 he said, "I should like to see the Republican party take the lead in trying to modernize the United Nations."

In this year's August edition

There was another flareup when Rep. Thomas Morris, D-N.M., commented: "After listening to you, too, I'm more confused than ever. I think I'll vote against the bill on the floor."

Rep. George Andrews, D-Ala., also confessed that Passman left him confused. Rep. Elford Cederberg, R-Mich., finally demanded: "Otto, are you yourself going to vote for or against the bill on the House floor?"

"In answer to your question," replied the excited Passman, "I might say that I've never voted for a foreign aid authorization (a preliminary measure reported by the House Foreign Affairs Committee), but, yes, I intend to vote for this appropriation, bad as it is."

"Well, you ought to know," snapped Mahon. "You drafted it."

Food in Ghettos

Social workers in the Negro slums have complained that some food chains charge impoverished Negroes more than affluent whites for the same groceries. The Federal Trade Commission is now investigating alleged price discrimination in the Washington area.

Meanwhile, Congressional investigators have discovered that some chain stores have been loading their counters, particularly in the Negro ghettos, with food that has been rejected by the Defense Supply Agency for U. S. troops. Some of the cans and packages contain false labels claiming the food meets government specifications.

The Federal Trade Commission plans to expand its investigation of price discrimination to other cities. Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., also plans to hold public hearings on price discrimination in New York City; Charleston, W. Va.; St. Louis; Denver; Los Angeles and San Francisco. He has evidence that one well known coast-to-coast chain has been flagrant in overcharging the poor.

of Esquire magazine, when he said, "I don't rule out the 1968 nomination" for himself, he gave this view:

"I want a progressive Republican party. I want a strong United Nations. I want peace in Vietnam."

Different Line

But he doesn't always stick to the same line. Early in 1952 he said he was the most likely compromise candidate if a deadlock for the nomination developed between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft. In May 1952, he was saying Gov. Earl Warren of California was a likely compromise candidate.

But his worst political boo-boo came in 1956 when he was in the Eisenhower administration and suddenly told a news conference in an effort to block the renomination that year of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, that his own private polls showed Nixon would be a handicap to the re-election of President Eisenhower.

He suggested Christian A. Herter, governor of Massachusetts, as Eisenhower's running-mate. Herter called Stassen's performance comic opera. Herter nominated Nixon. Stassen, after a brief talk with Eisenhower, seconded it.

The road was all down hill after that. Yet, at 22 he was elected a county attorney in Minnesota and at 31 was elected governor. He was twice re-elected.

Trading with the Enemy

Editor, The Freeman:

In 1949, Congress passed, and the President signed into law the Export Control Act. Basically the law was enacted for the following purposes: 1) To protect domestic economy; 2) to further the foreign policy of the United States; 3) to protect the national security. Therefore, the power to determine what items are non-strategic and to what countries these items could be shipped was placed in the hands of men appointed by the President, and appointments of the appointees.

Recently the Department of Commerce released "Current Export Bulletin No. 958, dated October 5th, 1967. In this Bulletin, the commodity control listed the following items as cleared for shipment to Communist - controlled countries, including Soviet Russia: diesel engines, nuclear reactors, water turbines, oil-processing material, gas turbines, military tractor shovel loaders, ball bearings, ammunition-loading machines.

The American Legion in National Convention in Boston, August 29, 30, 31, 1967 resolved to take all appropriate steps to stop trading with the enemy and in addition to recall American ships on lend-lease to Russia which are carrying arms to North Vietnam and flying the Red hammer and sickle from the American mastsheads.

There can be no reasonable explanation for such depravity on the part of the present administration. For Americans to remain silent is to give tacit approval to the most treasonous administration in history. Our fighting men cannot wait for '68 to be allowed to win, while their own government supplies the war tools which kill them.

Very truly yours,
FRANK C. TOBIN

Vietnam Ground War Demands Great Skills and Much Patience

A distinguished American correspondent discusses the changing nature of the ground war in this fourth of a series of eye-witness reports.

By BOB CONSIDINE

SAIGON—The land war in Vietnam calls for skills and patience of a degree never before demanded of the American man.

He is pitted against an enemy who makes up in cunning and stamina what he lacks in firepower and physical size. The American has had to learn to fight like the Indians fought his ancestors. He has had to throw away just about every manual of warfare printed in the U. S. in the past century. He has had to forget how the great battles of World War I and II and in Korea were planned and prosecuted, and concentrate on a blade of elephant grass being brushed aside by an enemy rifle, or the tell-tale wire which, if tripped, will blow him apart.

The American, impetuous by nature, has had to wait for days and weeks at a time for the enemy to show his hand, though the enemy was all around him, and above him in trees, and huddled in tunnels beneath the jungle. The enemy, particularly the VC in the south, chooses the time and place to come out, shooting. Thus, in that area, we fight what amounts to a defensive war. In the north, where the enemy is a North Vietnamese army man, or boy, we go out looking for him and have broken up three, perhaps four, of what appeared to be build-ups to stream across the DMZ (Demilitarized Zone) in regiment or even division strength.

There is no prim pattern to this land war, as in other wars. For example, there is no allied headquarters, though South Vietnamese, Americans, Koreans, Australians, New Zealanders, Filipinos and Thais are in the field. Each has his sector, or patch, and does his job as best he can. It is not likely that even the Americans would think of barging into the central coastal area where the 46,000 Koreans are opening roads and kicking the stuffings out of their fellow Asians.

The U. S. Army fights one kind of a war, the U. S. Marines another. The nature of the enemy, the Topography and the separate traditions of the two services decide that.

The army holds off the entrenched enemy when he makes his darting hit-and-run attacks, then plods in the direction in which he fled—preceded by artillery, B-52 bombloads, fire and napalm and everything else that churns down from the sky we own. Many times, maddeningly enough, the enemy disappeared—figuratively and literally swallowed by the earth.

We are like a Dempsey trying to tag a dancing flyweight.

The Saigon government's forces, which heavily outnumber even the huge American commitment, are the most improved in the field. The Americans started out great. The South Vietnamese started out despairingly bad.

They are better fighting men today for assorted reasons:

—We are providing them with better equipment. One Vietnamese Air Force Squadron has turned in its World War II propeller-driven A-1 Skyhawks for F-5 Northrop-built jets that fly twice the speed of sound.

—Only recently did the South Vietnamese ever maintain army rosters; that is, no one quite knew where any individual South Viet Nam soldier was at any given point. Thus, desertion was relatively easy to get away with.

—A promotion system based on merit instead of favoritism has been put in operation.

—The South Vietnamese soldier, looking around at the new roads, bridges, airfields, buildings, etc. which the U. S. is everywhere planting, knows at long last that he has something to fight for, sometime to inherit when the war is over and the Yanks go home.

—The stability of the military dictatorship that took over the Saigon government in 1965, and the honesty of the two top men in the land, president-elect Thieu and Air Marshal Ky, has given the native fighting man a new pride and interest (probably his first) in the government.

The ARVNS (Army of the Republic of Viet Nam), as our men call them, have learned to work well with our own forces when called upon.

"They're a dam' sight better than the Koreans were when we first started fighting there," one veteran American commander told me the other day. That's high praise. Our respect for the calibre of the Korean fighting man knows hardly any bounds.

Another cause of the enemy's slow but sure deterioration is the fact that VC units, riddled by desertions (22,000 for the first eight months of this year) and by illness, food shortages and casualties, are being beefed up by replacements from North Vietnam.

There is no great love between North and South in this country, even though, in this case, they are teaming together to throw out the enemy—particularly the Americans—and take over South Vietnam. Poor morale is eroding the VC. He doesn't like the man who is lying in the hole next to him because the man came from Hanoi. He doesn't like the way he's been lied to, to the effect that the Americans soon will tire of the war and go home. He doesn't like the propagandist who told him that America would never get itself involved in a land war in Asia. He is awed by the enormity of the American investment, the endless gunfire, screaming jets, clouds of helicopters, tanks, rugged personnel carriers, and the blizzards of bombs that fall from B-52's that he cannot see or hear.

We know we are beating him and now he knows, too. He didn't, for a long time. He thought we were the French all over again.

Prediction: He may collapse sooner than anyone, including himself, may think. The inducements we offer to him to come over the hill are most tempting: Money for his weapon, a job, housing, no induction in the South Vietnamese army, a patch of land to work, and we'll find and deliver his family to him, too, or help him start raising one.

It won't happen tomorrow, but the "light at the end of the tunnel" has never been as visible as today.

(Tomorrow: South Vietnam, democracy or "democratic dictatorship"?)

Are We in for a Tough Winter?

By EDWIN A. LAHEY

Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—The sycamores and the birches are dropping their leaves as though the sap were taking cover from the oncoming frigid blasts.

The oaks are showering us with acorns. They pop on the roof. They bounce on the sidewalk. The squirrels are stashing them like mad.

Does not this mean another tough winter?

Forget it. The old proverbs foretelling the seasons are from hunger. Climatologists are making attempts at seasonal forecasting, but it is still experimental. They are testing the flow of the atmosphere at levels of 20,000 to 40,000 feet, in hopes of finding some measure of future weather conditions. They have not yet found the pattern.

At this time of the year, my conscience requires some assurance that there is a bad winter ahead. This makes it easier to plan on working out of the Miami Herald until the nasty Washington winter has departed.

But when I called the U. S. Weather Bureau for some moral support, Summer Barton, an information man who has done a lot of research on old wives' tales, told me to stop kidding myself. A few almanacs still claim to make book on winter. But the longest forecast that the U. S. meteorologists will make is for 30 days.

There are a lot of farmers' weather proverbs, based on the texture of a bear's fur, on the thickness of tomato skins, on the action of bees and insects, and the acorn storage by squirrels," Barton said.

"But animals and plants react to momentary conditions. The superstitions about their actions forecasting the winter have never been proved out."

The Weather Bureau man said that of all the weather proverbs, only those of the mariners came close to being valid. Some of these proverbs are "Red Sky at Night, Sailors Delight," and "Red Sky in Morning, Sailor Take Warning."

There is a pretty logical reason for the validity of the mariner's weather proverbs. "The men who made them were putting their lives on the line," Barton points out.

Come to think of it, only a thoughtless person would base weather predictions on something else like the actions of a squirrel. I have come to the conclusion that squirrels are goofy. They have no directional apparatus like the migratory birds. The squirrels stash those nuts without knowing how to find them again. When they go looking for a buried acorn, there is an odds-on chance that they'll find one planted by some other squirrels, rather than their own.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, incidentally, is preparing to celebrate its 100th birthday in a few years. It was founded in 1870, as part of the Army Signal Corps, to give forecasts for the Great Lakes, where storms had destroyed a lot of shipping. The bureau was later transferred to the Department of Agriculture, and then to the Department of Commerce, of which it is now a part.

The Beat At City Hall

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Freeman City Hall Reporter
So you want to be a Kingston cop? You'll get richer digging a ditch.

You get $5,100 a year for openers as a cop. Not bad says a wide-eyed youth. That's almost a hundred bucks a week. Maybe in private industry it wouldn't be bad but they use different figures in the police department. That $5,100 is figured on a 365 day basis, or less than $14 a day . . . before taxes.

The police commissioners, in a burst of generosity, have offered the cops a $300 across the board raise. Figured on a 40-hour week, which the cops often exceed, that amounts to a 15 cents an hour increase.

Work Week
The work week is also under discussion. It can stretch to ridiculous limits. A 48-hour week is common. Over time? Forget it. You get time off, if you're lucky.

The cops would like to get paid for that authorized overtime for two reasons. First, it would be a few extra bucks in their pockets and secondly, it would remove the panic button.

The panic button has received little publicity but it's very popular among police hierarchy. And it's cheap to use. Whenever an emergency or imagined emergency arises the big wheels hit the button summoning off-duty cops to the station house, often to stand around for a few hours awaiting the emergency. No emergency? So what . . . the cops don't get paid overtime anyway.

Thinking Twice
The cops don't mind responding to real emergencies at any time. It's their job. They feel the paying of overtime would make the bosses think twice before routing an off-duty officer out of bed.

Cops are also seeking additional money for their uniform allowances, currently pegged at $100 a year. One cop estimated he goes through at least five dollars a week in drycleaning bills.

Judging from reports around city hall, the $300 limit was set by Mayor Garraghan. We find it odd that the mayor has taken this stand. True, he's no spendthrift when it comes to city money, but neither is he penny wise and pound foolish. The $300 raise Garraghan is offering would cost about 33 cents on the tax rate. Why not spring for a buck on the tax rate and give the cops a $900 raise?

Of course, this is all supposition. If the cops asked the commissioners for $900 they'd be laughed out of the room. Residents of Kingston victimized by the recent wave of vandalism aren't laughing.

The Saigon government's forces, which heavily outnumber even the huge American commitment, are the most improved in the field. The Americans started out great. The South Vietnamese started out despairingly bad.

They are better fighting men today for assorted reasons:—We are providing them with better equipment. One Vietnamese Air Force Squadron has turned in its World War II propeller-driven A-1 Skyhawks for F-5 Northrop-built jets that fly twice the speed of sound.

—Only recently did the South Vietnamese ever maintain army rosters; that is, no one quite knew where any individual South Viet Nam soldier was at any given point. Thus, desertion was relatively easy to get away with.

—A promotion system based on merit instead of favoritism has been put in operation.

—The South Vietnamese soldier, looking around at the new roads, bridges, airfields, buildings, etc. which the U. S. is everywhere planting, knows at long last that he has something to fight for, sometime to inherit when the war is over and the Yanks go home.

—The stability of the military dictatorship that took over the Saigon government in 1965, and the honesty of the two top men in the land, president-elect Thieu and Air Marshal Ky, has given the native fighting man a new pride and interest (probably his first) in the government.

The ARVNS (Army of the Republic of Viet Nam), as our men call them, have learned to work well with our own forces when called upon.

"They're a dam' sight better than the Koreans were when we first started fighting there," one veteran American commander told me the other day. That's high praise. Our respect for the calibre of the Korean fighting man knows hardly any bounds.

Another cause of the enemy's slow but sure deterioration is the fact that VC units, riddled by desertions (22,000 for the first eight months of this year) and by illness, food shortages and casualties, are being beefed up by replacements from North Vietnam.

There is no great love between North and South in this country, even though, in this case, they are teaming together to throw out the enemy—particularly the Americans—and take over South Vietnam. Poor morale is eroding the VC. He doesn't like the man who is lying in the hole next to him because the man came from Hanoi. He doesn't like the way he's been lied to, to the effect that the Americans soon will tire of the war and go home. He doesn't like the propagandist who told him that America would never get itself involved in a land war in Asia. He is awed by the enormity of the American investment, the endless gunfire, screaming jets, clouds of helicopters, tanks, rugged personnel carriers, and the blizzards of bombs that fall from B-52's that he cannot see or hear.

We know we are beating him and now he knows, too. He didn't, for a long time. He thought we were the French all over again.

Prediction: He may collapse sooner than anyone, including himself, may think. The inducements we offer to him to come over the hill are most tempting: Money for his weapon, a job, housing, no induction in the South Vietnamese army, a patch of land to work, and we'll find and deliver his family to him, too, or help him start raising one.

It won't happen tomorrow, but the "light at the end of the tunnel" has never been as visible as today.

(Tomorrow: South Vietnam, democracy or "democratic dictatorship?")

Are We in for a Tough Winter?

By EDWIN A. LAHEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—

The sycamores and the birches are dropping their leaves as though the sap were taking cover from the oncoming frigid blasts.

The oaks are showering us with acorns. They pop on the roof. They bounce on the sidewalk. The squirrels are stashing them like mad.

Does not this mean another tough winter?

Forget it. The old proverbs foretelling the seasons are from hunger. Climatologists are making attempts at seasonal forecasting, but it is still experimental. They are testing the flow of the atmosphere at levels of 20,000 to 40,000 feet, in hopes of finding some measure of future weather conditions. They have not yet found the pattern.

At this time of the year, my conscience requires some assurance that there is a bad winter ahead. This makes it easier to plan on working out of the Miami Herald until the nasty Washington winter has departed.

But when I called the U. S. Weather Bureau for some moral support, Summer Barton, an information man who has done a lot of research on old wives' tales, told me to stop kidding myself. A few almanacs still claim to make book on winter. But the long-term forecast that the U. S. meteorologists will make is for 30 days.

"There are a lot of farmers' weather proverbs, based on the texture of a bear's fur, on the thickness of tomato skins, on the action of bees and insects, and the acorn storage by squirrels," Barton said.

"But animals and plants react to momentary conditions. The superstitions about their actions forecasting the winter have never been proved out."

The Weather Bureau man said that of all the weather proverbs, only those of the mariners came close to being valid. Some of these proverbs are "Red Sky at Night, Sailors Delight," and "Red Sky in Morning, Sailor Take Warning."

There is a pretty logical reason for the validity of the mariner's weather proverbs. "The men who made them were putting their lives on the line," Barton points out.

Come to think of it, only a thoughtless person would base weather predictions on something else like the actions of a squirrel. I have come to the conclusion that squirrels are goofy. They have no directional apparatus like the migratory birds. The squirrels stash those nuts without knowing how to find them again. When they go looking for a buried acorn, there is an odds-on chance that they'll find one planted by some other squirrels, rather than their own.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, incidentally, is preparing to celebrate its 100th birthday in a few years. It was founded in 1870, as part of the Army Signal Corps, to give forecasts for the Great Lakes, where storms had destroyed a lot of shipping. The bureau was later transferred to the Department of Agriculture, and then to the Department of Commerce, of which it is now a part.

The Beat At City Hall

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Freeman City Hall Reporter

So you want to be a Kingston cop? You'll get richer digging a ditch.

You get $5,100 a year for openers as a cop. Not bad says a wide-eyed youth. That's almost a hundred bucks a week. Maybe in private industry it wouldn't be bad but they use different figures in the police department. That $5,100 is figured on a 365 day basis, or less than $14 a day before taxes.

The police commissioners, in a burst of generosity, have offered the cops a $300 across the board raise. Figured on a 40-hour week, which the cops often exceed, that amounts to a 15 cents an hour increase.

Work Week

The work week is also under discussion. It can stretch to ridiculous limits. A 48-hour week is common. Over-time? Forget it. You get time off, if you're lucky.

The cops would like to get paid for that authorized overtime for two reasons. First, it would be a few extra bucks in their pockets and secondly, it would remove the panic button.

The panic button has received little publicity but it's very popular among police hierarchy. And it's cheap to use. Whenever an emergency or imagined emergency arises the big wheels hit the button summoning off-duty cops to the station house, often to stand around for a few hours awaiting the emergency. No emergency? So what . . . the cops don't get paid overtime anyway.

Thinking Twice

The cops don't mind responding to real emergencies at any time. It's their job. They feel the paying of overtime would make the bosses think twice before routing an off-duty officer out of bed.

Cops are also seeking additional money for their uniform allowances, currently pegged at $100 a year. One cop estimated he goes through at least five dollars a week in drycleaning bills.

Judging from reports around city hall, the $300 limit was set by Mayor Garraghan. We find it odd that the mayor has taken this stand. True, he's no spend-thrift when it comes to city money, but neither is he penny wise and pound foolish. The $300 raise Garraghan is offering would cost about 33 cents on the tax rate. Why not spring for a buck on the tax rate and give the cops a $900 raise?

Of course, this is all supposition. If the cops asked the commissioners for $900 they'd be laughed out of the room. Residents of Kingston victimized by the recent wave of vandalism aren't laughing.

OIL HEAT Takes You To The Cleaners

(But only to show you a thing or two)

Let's listen to Marie Brombart who operates a cleaning and tailoring establishment at 17 So. Hamilton St., Poughkeepsie, which is heated with oil. Mrs. Brombart, who is an expert seamstress and tailor, knows that during cold weather she and her customers need a comfortable, draftless room for fittings. She, like so many other business people, also knows that oil heat provides that comfort — and she appreciates its cleanliness and dependability.

MARIE BROMBART,
Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

"In my business you have to give satisfaction! That means good workmanship, a smile for the customer, and pleasant surroundings. That, plus the home-like comfort of OIL HEAT is what I believe keeps my customers coming back."

Poughkeepsie Is Selected In Model Cities Program

The City of Poughkeepsie has been selected to participate in President Johnson's Model Cities Program. It was learned today from Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's office in Washington.

The official announcement was made by Housing and Urban Development Secretary Robert C. Weaver.

Funds set aside for the Model Cities Program total $312 million and nearly 200 cities applied for the aid.

Poughkeepsie was chosen along with Rochester, Buffalo, and New York City.

The program originally called for a "massive attack on neighborhood blight" through physical and social rehabilitation.

According to Poughkeepsie Mayor Richard Mitchell, the city applied for a planning grant of $160,000. The planning stage of the Poughkeepsie program is expected to last for about nine months.

"Afterwards, we would be funded to complete the project," said Mitchell, recently re-elected as Republican mayor of the Dutchess County city.

Informed sources pointed out that this marks the first time social rehabilitation has been included in the urban renewal process.

The Poughkeepsie plan for urban renewal includes classes in homemaking and job training.

Mayor Mitchell believed that "Congressman Resnick's office worked very hard to get the needed funds for Poughkeepsie."

Storm Dumps 13-Inch Snow On New England; Jams Boston

BOSTON (AP) — A violent storm dumped up to 13 inches of snow on parts of New England Wednesday, causing several deaths and a massive traffic jam in the Boston area.

Motorists were stuck in Boston traffic for hours. Many left their offices at 5 p.m.—and at midnight had progressed only a few blocks.

Thousands of cars ran out of gasoline or stalled when their batteries went dead and many motorists abandoned their cars on the street.

Four fatalities were attributed to the storm.

Robert Jones, a Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority bus driver, said students from area colleges, including Harvard, Radcliffe, MIT and Boston University, were pushing cars, directing traffic and bringing coffee, sandwiches and cookies to stranded motorists.

"It was absolutely amazing to me," he said, "especially where they knock kids so much. These kids weren't pro or con anything. They weren't handing out literature."

He said the students apparently "were digging into their own pockets to buy the food and coffee which they handed out."

A Boston City Hospital doctor and a nurse ran through the blinding snow to deliver a baby girl in a car trapped in traffic two blocks away.

Sabeno Rivera was driving his wife, Carmela, 23, to the hospital when they were caught in the snarled traffic. A policeman reported their plight to the hospital and Dr. Beach Conger, nurse Rosemary O'Brien and three helpers with medical supplies and a stretcher ran to the car where the baby was delivered.

Both mother and baby later were reported in good condition.

The abandoned cars blocked city and state sand trucks and hampered efforts of police to untangle the traffic.

In the downtown area, restaurants became jammed beyond capacity, and many ran out of some foods.

By early evening every hotel in downtown Boston reported every available room as well as spaces which could be furnished with cots, had been sold out."

ing halts, but "I'm not very happy about the prospect."

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has said he wants a bombing halt during the year-end holiday period.

In a New York speech Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said the cost of the Vietnam war is no reason to cut domestic spending, particularly programs aimed at solving big-city racial problems.

Hubert Talk Picketed

As Humphrey spoke, about 25 antiwar demonstrators picketed quietly outside the hotel. Earlier five of the demonstrators dashed toward the banquet room before Humphrey arrived, shouting, "Humphrey, murderer!" Police ejected them.

In a report Wednesday to Congress on U.S. participation in the United Nations during 1966, Johnson said the United States has continued to push for an honorable settlement of the war.

"Those efforts have never abated," said Johnson, adding the United States retains hope "the United Nations will make its contribution toward such a settlement."

She Claims Coercion Led to Spying

young Czech-born school teacher told congressmen Wednesday that a Russian agent plied her with vodka in a bare, Moscow hotel room, then persuaded her to become an agent for the Soviet secret police.

But the teacher, Natalie Bienstock, 31, a former Cornell University student, told the House Committee on Un-American Activities that she did her best to avoid helping the Communists. She said that the material she supplied the Soviets, in the year or so before she said she broke with them, was matter already known.

Miss Bienstock now teaches at a private school in Boston, which was not identified.

The activities described in her testimony took place in 1962 and 1963.

She said she signed a paper saying she would be an agent in the KGB during the second of two lengthy sessions in a Moscow hotel room where she had gone in an effort to get her visa for a visit to Russia extended.

"I ate and I drank a lot of vodka. I was quite high," she said, adding that she feared "if I didn't sign the document, I wouldn't get out of the Hotel Ukraine. I felt I was awfully alone there. I didn't think anyone would help me."

She was supposed to supply names of American agents working with Soviet cultural exchange groups she knew about because of her job as an interpreter for Sol Hurok Enterprises, which booked many Soviet performing groups into the United States.

She said her contact was Alexander Sorokin, formerly assigned to the Soviet Union's mission to the United Nations in New York. She said he did not think the material she was providing was very satisfactory.

Car Gets Deer

Francis Porto, 32, of Catskill, probably will have venison for his Thanksgiving Day dinner. He was driving his 1965 suburban car north on Route 9W in the Town of Catskill at 5:10 p. m. Wednesday when he hit and killed a deer that leaped in the path of the vehicle. The suburban was damaged on the right front and hood but the driver was not injured. He was given a temporary deer permit by Trooper E. W. Konow Jr., of Leeds, and Porto drove home with the deer, according to Trooper P. H. Madigan.

Poughkeepsie Is Selected In Model Cities Program

The City of Poughkeepsie has been selected to participate in President Johnson's Model Cities Program, it was learned today from Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's office in Washington.

The official announcement was made by Housing and Urban Development Secretary Robert C. Weaver.

Funds set aside for the Model Cities Program total $312 million and nearly 200 cities applied for the aid.

Poughkeepsie was chosen along with Rochester, Buffalo, and New York City.

The program originally called for a "massive attack on neighborhood blight" through physical and social rehabilitation.

According to Poughkeepsie Mayor Richard Mitchell, the city applied for a planning grant of $160,000. The planning stage of the Poughkeepsie program is expected to last for about nine months.

"Afterwards, we would be funded to complete the project," said Mitchell, recently re-elected as Republican mayor of the Dutchess County city.

Informed sources pointed out that this marks the first time social rehabilitation has been included in the urban renewal process.

The Poughkeepsie plan for urban renewal includes classes in homemaking and job training.

Mayor Mitchell believed that "Congressman Resnick's office worked very hard to get the needed funds for Poughkeepsie."

Storm Dumps 13-Inch Snow On New England; Jams Boston

BOSTON (AP) — A violent storm dumped up to 13 inches of snow on parts of New England Wednesday, causing several deaths and a massive traffic jam in the Boston area.

Motorists were stuck in Boston traffic for hours. Many left their offices at 5 p.m.—and at midnight had progressed only a few blocks.

Thousands of cars ran out of gasoline or stalled when their batteries went dead and many motorists abandoned their cars on the street.

Four fatalities were attributed to the storm.

Robert Jones, a Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority bus driver, said students from area colleges, including Harvard, Radcliffe, MIT and Boston University, were pushing cars, directing traffic and bringing coffee, sandwiches and cookies to stranded motorists.

"It was absolutely amazing to me," he said, "especially where they knock kids so much. These kids weren't pro or con anything. They weren't handing out literature."

He said the students apparently were digging into their own pockets to buy the food and coffee which they handed out.

A Boston City Hospital doctor and a nurse ran through the blinding snow to deliver a baby girl in a car trapped in traffic two blocks away.

Sabeno Rivera was driving his wife, Carmela, 23, to the hospital when they were caught in the snarled traffic. A policeman reported their plight to the hospital and Dr. Beach Conger, nurse Rosemary O'Brien and three helpers with medical supplies and a stretcher ran to the car where the baby was delivered.

Both mother and baby later were reported in good condition.

The abandoned cars blocked city and state sand trucks and hampered efforts of police to untangle the traffic.

In the downtown area, restaurants became jammed beyond capacity, and many ran out of some foods.

By early evening every hotel in downtown Boston reported every available room as well as spaces which could be furnished with cots, had been sold out.

ing halts, but "I'm not very happy about the prospect."

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has said he wants a bombing halt during the year-end holiday period.

In a New York speech Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said the cost of the Vietnam war is no reason to cut domestic spending, particularly programs aimed at solving big-city racial problems.

Hubert Talk Picketed

As Humphrey spoke, about 25 antiwar demonstrators picketed quietly outside the hotel. Earlier five of the demonstrators dashed toward the banquet room before Humphrey arrived, shouting "Humphrey, murderer!" Police ejected them.

In a report Wednesday to Congress on U.S. participation in the United Nations during 1966, Johnson said the United States has continued to push for an honorable settlement of the war.

"Those efforts have never abated," said Johnson, adding the United States retains hope "the United Nations will make its contribution toward such a settlement."

She Claims Coercion Led to Spying

young Czech-born school teacher told congressmen Wednesday that a Russian agent picked her with vodka in a bare, Moscow hotel room, then persuaded her to become an agent for the Soviet secret police.

But the teacher, Natalie Bienstock, 31, a former Cornell University student, told the House Committee on Un-American Activities that she did her best to avoid helping the Communists. She said that the material she supplied the Soviets, in the year or so before she said she broke with them, was matter already known.

Miss Bienstock now teaches at a private school in Boston, which was not identified.

The activities described in her testimony took place in 1962 and 1963.

She said she signed a paper saying she would be an agent in the KGB during the second of two lengthy sessions in a Moscow hotel room where she had gone in an effort to get her visa for a visit to Russia extended.

"I ate and I drank a lot of vodka. I was quite high," she said, adding that she feared "if I didn't sign the document, I wouldn't get out of the Hotel Ukraine. I felt I was awfully alone there. I didn't think anyone would help me."

She was supposed to supply names of American agents working with Soviet cultural exchange groups she knew about because of her job as an interpreter for Sol Hurok Enterprises, which booked many Soviet performing groups into the United States.

She said her contact was Alexander Sorokin, formerly assigned to the Soviet Union's mission to the United Nations in New York. She said he did not think the material she was providing was very satisfactory.

Virginia Mae Sutton

A requiem Mass was offered by the Rev. John G. Russell, pastor. Attending the Mass in a group was the entire sixth grade of the George Washington School together with Principal Ambrose Boyd. Several hundred friends and relatives called at the funeral home and many floral tributes as well as spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. A large number of the students and faculty members from the George Washington School also called at the funeral home Tuesday evening, the members and auxiliary of Kingston Power Boat Association called at the funeral home. Father Russell also called Tuesday evening and offered prayers. Burial was in Benton Bar Cemetery, Kyserike, where Father Russell gave the final blessing. Bearers were Michael Letus, Herman Cernak, Herbert Frost, John Eigo, Francis McClosky and Raymond McCord.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

American Life in the Year 2000

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 10. The year 2000 no longer looms like an imaginary time in science fiction. In fact, most people 45 years old or younger have a very good chance of still being active by the year 2000, — and beyond. It's only about 32 years distant, but the changes between now and then will be spectacular in a great many ways.

What Workers May Expect

A new study of the year 2000, supported by the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the Carnegie Corporation, and the Corning Glass Works Foundation, takes more than a casual view of what the workers of the nation and their families can anticipate for the beginning of the next millennium. Many of the projections are worth contemplating, especially by those young enough to become socially and economically involved in what lies ahead when the 20th century gives way to the 21st.

First off, family income is expected to be substantially higher, with enough people in the upper brackets to create a kind of "gentleman's" class... those with sufficient means to lead a life of leisure. Even those who do work may be on the job only four days a week, and for a lot shorter day. This will come as a shock to the businessman of today who is so high-pressure that he doesn't even take time off for vacations. But the study figures that by the year 2000 employees will be working 147 days a year, getting 218 days off!

Disposable income will continue to be the key to the degree of one's prosperity and level of living standards. While we have seen tremendous advances in this factor in recent years, far more solid gains are likely by the end of the century. Disposable income per capita by the year 2000 may range from $4,900 to $9,000. Import of this forecast is that the typical family is expected to be as well off then as the relatively high-income family is today.

Filling up leisure time to advantage will be a big problem, and youngsters will be encouraged to take up interests outside their career choices. Sports, music, theater, and art will be widely pursued. It is even implied that museums, theaters, and other cultural centers may be at such a premium that time will have to be rationed to make them available for all interested.

So much has been seen in the way of transferral from a cash retail economy to a credit-card system that the study's projection in this line may not be so surprising. Housewives are likely to have pushbutton houses making wide use of computers. Department stores and supermarkets will accept the housewife's credit card by computer, and the bank will pay her bills the same way. Women will make up a higher proportion of the labor force, particularly in view of the availability of innumerable pleasant part-time jobs.

There will be big jumps in transportation, far beyond even the supersonic jet travel already on the horizon. Flying platforms could be in use for local trips, even for calls on neighbors. It may be easy to take a half-hour rocket trip to Europe. Travel wardrobes — as well as "street wear" — will be largely made of paper, to be thrown away after a few wearings. This is already being tried out, but will be prevalent by then.

Life Span 150 Years?

Wide immunization against more and more diseases will have lengthened the life span even further. Health programs and dietary controls will be workaday, plus the more frequent resort to artificial or transplanted organs and automatic heart devices. People could be living to the age of 150 by the year 2000, or very soon thereafter; and the population of the U. S. may well total 318 million persons.

Averill Park Man Heads New Office

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Conrad H. Lang of nearby Averill Park will become director of maintenance in the new State Transportation Department on Dec. 7, succeeding the retiring Charles E. Walsh Jr.

Transportation Commissioner J. Burch McMorran said Lang would take a leave of absence as chief engineer of the State Thruway Authority to assume the $27,900-a-year post.

McMorran also announced the appointment of Lester H. Krick of Whitesboro, Oneida County, as assistant director of maintenance, at $27,000 a year. Krick has been general supervisor of highway maintenance.

Walsh, 63, a resident of suburban Delmar, has been employed by the Public Works Department intermittently since 1947. Public Works became the nucleus of the new Transportation Department when it was created his year.

Social Security Head Explains Trust Funds

George J. Habernig, district manager of the Kingston Social Security benefits; the Security Administration re-emphasized today that trust fund monies cannot be used for anything other than the payment of benefits provided by the Social Security Law and administrative expenses of the program. Payments are made from trust fund monies to workers and certain members of their families only if the worker has contributed to the trust fund a certain period of time as defined by the Social Security Law.

Certain costs of several programs administered by the Social Security Administration are financed from general funds of the U. S. Treasury and not from trust fund monies. For example, the cost of hospital insurance benefits for people age 62 and over.

Habernig issued the above clarification because of recent publicity which contained inaccurate statements regarding the use of trust fund monies. Habernig said that Pamphlet 36 is available at the office, 57 Albany Avenue. It explains the financing of Social Security benefits.

Religious Film

Two Sons, a modern film version of the parable of the two sons as recorded in Matthew 21:28-32, will be shown on Sunday, 7 p. m., at the Olive-Sho example, the cost of hospital insurance benefits for people age 62 and over.

A new study of the year 2000, supported by the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the Carnegie Corporation, and the Corning Glass Works Foundation, takes more than a casual view of what the workers of the nation and their families can anticipate for the beginning of the next millennium. Many of the projections are worth contemplating, especially by those young enough to become socially and economically involved in what lies ahead when the 20th century gives way to the 21st.

First off, family income is expected to be substantially higher, with enough people in the upper brackets to create a kind of "gentleman's" class . . . those with sufficient means to lead a life of leisure. Even those who do work may be on the job only four days a week, and for a lot shorter day. This will come as a shock to the businessman of today who is so high-pressure that he doesn't even take time off for vacations. But the study figures that by the year 2000 employees will be working 147 days a year, getting 218 days off!

Disposable income will continue to be the key to the degree of one's prosperity and level of living standards. While we have seen tremendous advances in this factor in recent years, far more solid gains are likely by the end of the century. Disposable income per capita by the year 2000 may range from $4,900 to $9,000. Import of this forecast is that the typical family is expected to be as well off then as the relatively high-income family is today.

Filling up leisure time to advantage will be a big problem, and youngsters will be encouraged to take up interests outside their career choices. Sports, music, theater, and art will be widely pursued. It is even implied that museums, theaters, and other cultural centers may be at such a premium that time will have to be rationed to make them available for all interested.

So much has been seen in the way of transfer from a cash retail economy to a credit-card system that the study's projection in this line may not be so surprising. Housewives are likely to have pushbutton houses making wide use of computers. Department stores and supermarkets will accept the housewife's credit card by computer, and the bank will pay her bills the same way. Women will make up a higher proportion of the labor force, particularly in view of the availability of innumerable pleasant part-time jobs.

There will be big jumps in transportation, far beyond even the supersonic jet travel already on the horizon. Flying platforms could be in use for local trips, even for calls on neighbors. It may be easy to take a half-hour rocket trip to Europe. Travel wardrobes — as well as "street wear" — will be largely made of paper, to be thrown away after a few wearings. This is already being tried out, but will be prevalent by then.

Life Span 150 Years?

Wide immunization against more and more diseases will have lengthened the life span even further. Health programs and dietary controls will be workaday, plus the more frequent resort to artificial or transplanted organs and automatic heart devices. People could be living to the age of 150 by the year 2000, or very soon thereafter; and the population of the U. S. may well total 318 million persons.

Averill Park Man Heads New Office

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Conrad H. Lang of nearby Averill Park will become director of maintenance in the new State Transportation Department on Dec. 7, succeeding the retiring Charles E. Walsh Jr.

Transportation Commissioner J. Burch McMorran said Lang would take a leave of absence as chief engineer of the State Thruway Authority to assume the $27,900-a-year post.

McMorran also announced the appointment of Lester H. Krick of Whitesboro, Oneida County, as assistant director of maintenance, at $27,000 a year. Krick has been general supervisor of highway maintenance.

Walsh, 63, a resident of suburban Delmar, has been employed by the Public Works Department intermittently since 1947. Public Works became the nucleus of the new Transportation Department when it was created his year.

Social Security Head Explains Trust Funds

George J. Habernig, district manager of the Kingston Social Security Administration re-emphasized today that trust fund monies cannot be used for anything other than the payment of benefits provided by the Social Security Law and administrative expenses of the program. Payments are made from trust fund monies to workers and certain members of their families only if the worker has contributed to the trust fund a certain period of time as defined by the Social Security Law.

Certain costs of several programs administered by the Social Security Administration are financed from general funds of the U. S. Treasury and not from trust fund monies. For example, the cost of hospital insurance benefits for people who are not insured for cash Social Security benefits; the government share of the premiums for voluntary Medical Insurance; and cash benefits for certain uninsured people age 72 and over.

Religious Film

Habernig issued the above clarification because of recent publicity which contained inaccurate statements regarding the use of trust fund monies. Habernig said that Pamphlet 36 is available at the office, 57 Albany Avenue. It explains the financing of Social Security benefits.

Two Sons, a modern film version of the parable of the two sons as recorded in Matthew 21:28-32, will be shown on Sunday, 7 p. m., at the Olive-Sho-kan Baptist Church, West Shokan. The public may attend.

High Spending and Low Jobless, Prudential Forecast for 1968

NEWARK, N. J. — Highs in spending and lows in unemployment will characterize a prosperous 1968, according to the Prudential Insurance Co.'s annual economic forecast being released today by Orville E. Beal, the company's president.

Family Income Up
Average family income is expected to rise to $8,400 in 1968, gain, of which 5 per cent will be "real growth" and 3 per cent inflation. Without a surcharge on the federal income tax, the forecast points out, inflation may be even more serious.

The U. S. gross national product—total value of all goods and services—will rise $63 billion to $848 billion according to the forecast prepared by Prudential's chief economist, Dr. William C. Freund.

This represents an 8 per cent gain, of which 5 per cent will be "real growth" and 3 per cent inflation. Without a sur-

Federal spending will rise about 10 per cent to $100 billion, Prudential's forecast says. This will result from increases in defense spending, a federal pay hike, and other programs.

While defense is one of the primary elements of government spending, the forecast says that peace in Vietnam would provide "welcome relief for an overheating economy."

Appropriate federal actions, moreover, could minimize dislocations and hardships produced by the "shifting of gears from military to civilian production."

At the state and local levels of government, 1968 expenditures will rise to $95 billion, up $8.5 billion over this year's estimate. The outlays will respond to a growing need for schools, highways and social services, according to the forecast.

Called Major Factor
Business spending will be a major factor in next year's economy, the forecast states, especially in the area of inventory investment.

During 1967, bulging warehouses led to a cutback on inventory buying and at the same time exerted "a massive drag" on production of new goods.

During the first half of 1968, inventory buying will be at a healthy $7 billion rate, leveling to a full year's total of about $5.5 billion.

Plant and equipment outlays will rise $5 billion to $87.5 billion in 1968, with the rate approaching 1.6 million by the fourth quarter. This will bring housing outlays to $28 billion, up $3.7 billion.

Elsewhere on the consumer scene, Prudential expects a new spurt of buying—cars, furniture, appliances, color television sets, as well as services.

NEWARK, N. J. — Highs in spending and lows in unemployment will characterize a prosperous 1968, according to the Prudential Insurance Co.'s annual economic forecast being released today by Orville E. Beal, the company's president.

Family Income Up

Average family income is expected to rise to $8,400 in 1968, an impressive 6.3 per cent, or $500 gain. Unemployment will be close to the 3.5 per cent historic minimum.

The U. S. gross national product—total value of all goods and services—will rise $63 billion to $848 billion according to the forecast prepared by Prudential's chief economist, Dr. William C. Freund.

This represents an 8 per cent gain, of which 5 per cent will be "real growth" and 3 per cent inflation. Without a surplus charge on the federal income tax, the forecast points out, inflation may be even more serious.

The continuing growth of the total economy next year will be due to increases in spending by government, business and the individual consumer.

Federal spending will rise about 10 per cent to $100 billion, Prudential's forecast says. This will result from increases in defense spending, a federal pay hike, and other programs.

While defense is one of the primary elements of government spending, the forecast says that peace in Vietnam would provide "welcome relief for an overheating economy." Appropriate federal actions, moreover, could minimize dislocations and hardships produced by the "shifting of gears from military to civilian production."

At the state and local levels of government, 1968 expenditures will rise to $95 billion, up $8.5 billion over this year's estimate. The outlays will respond to a growing need for schools, highways and social services, according to the forecast.

Called Major Factor

Business spending will be a major factor in next year's economy, the forecast states, especially in the area of inventory investment.

During 1967, bulging warehouses led to a cutback on inventory buying and at the same time exerted "a massive drag" on production of new goods. During the first half of 1968, inventory buying will be at a healthy $7 billion level, leveling to a full year's total of about $5.5 billion.

Plant and equipment outlays will rise $5 billion to $87.5 billion in 1968.

Housing stands on the verge of a resurgence in 1968, depending on the availability of mortgage money. Prudential's forecast calculates that the demand for new housing—spurred by the lowest vacancy rate since 1959—can easily support 1.6 million starts.

Prudential expects housing starts to total 1.5 million units during 1968, with the rate approaching 1.6 million by the fourth quarter. This will bring housing outlays to $28 billion, up $3.7 billion.

Elsewhere on the consumer scene, Prudential expects a new spurt of buying—cars, furniture, appliances, color television sets, as well as services.

Journey Into the Whirlwind: Horrors of Soviet Purge

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Enemies, said her interrogator, "are not people—we're allowed to do what we like with them."

And so, for one Soviet woman, began what she called a symphony of madness, not only for herself but for hundreds of thousands of her compatriots—years of fantastic horror, cruel suffering, inhuman torture, presided over by Stalin's secret police, the NKVD.

Another Horror

But there is another kind of horror in this stark account of the great Soviet purge. It is that so many of Stalin's victims, even in the depths of their torment and degradation, still idolized Stalin, still refused to blame him for the ocean of insanity which engulfed a vast nation.

The author of "Journey into the Whirlwind," published by Harcourt, Brace & World, Inc., is Eugenia Semyonovna Ginzburg, herself blamed Stalin. But unlike Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alleluieva, Mrs. Ginzburg would not place blame on the Communist party or the Soviet system for the terrible hell she describes through the eyes of one who suffered through 18 years of it.

Mrs. Alleluieva, as a defector from Communism, noted in a New York television interview in October that "not much has changed in the last 50 years" in Russia. Mrs. Ginzburg, released from a living death in 1955, two years after Stalin died, concluded that "great Leninist truths have come into their own in our country and party; today people can be told of things that have been and shall be no more."

She was wrong. People outside the Soviet Union could be told of her suffering. Her book, a nakedly simple diary of the grotesque cruelty of the Soviet system under Stalin, was published in Italy, and today is published in the United States. It was not published in the Soviet Union, and probably never will see the light of day in her own country.

More Gripping
Mrs. Ginzburg's story is one vastly more gripping than even the one told by Mrs. Alleluieva, and in many respects probably far more important as a historical document.

It is the story of what one woman saw, what one woman suffered, against the background of a whole nation in torment.

Mrs. Ginzburg was a teacher and an editor of the newspaper Red Tartary, in Kazan, capital of the Tatar Republic. A member of the Communist party herself, she was the wife of a high-ranking Communist official, and at the time her descent into hell began, the 30-year-old mother of two children.

Her story really began with the assassination in Leningrad, on Dec. 1, 1934, of Sergei M. Kirov, a party secretary and right-hand man of Stalin. There is still a widespread belief today that Stalin himself engineered that murder as a pretext for the purge that would consolidate his autocratic power.

Journey Into the Whirlwind: Horrors of Soviet Purge

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Enemies, said her interrogator, "are not people—we're allowed to do what we like with them."

And so, for one Soviet woman, began what she called a "symphony of madness," not only for herself but for hundreds of thousands of her compatriots—years of fantastic horror, cruel suffering, inhuman torture, prescribed over by Stalin's secret police, the NKVD.

Another Horror

But there is another kind of horror in this stark account of the great Soviet purge. It is that so many of Stalin's victims, even in the depths of their torment and degradation, still idolized Stalin, still refused to blame him for the ocean of insanity which engulfed a vast nation.

The author of "Journey into the Whirlwind," published by Harcourt, Brace & World, Inc., Eugenia Semyonovna Ginzburg, herself blamed Stalin. But unlike Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alleluieva, Mrs. Ginzburg would not place blame on the Communist party or the Soviet system for the terrible hell she describes through the eyes of one who suffered through 18 years of it.

Mrs. Alleluieva, as a defector from Communism, noted in a New York television interview in October that "not much has changed in the last 50 years" in Russia. Mrs. Ginzburg, released from a living death in 1955, two years after Stalin died, concluded that "great Leninist truths have come into their own in our country and party; today people can be told of things that have been and shall be no more."

She was wrong. People outside the Soviet Union could be told of her suffering. Her book, a nakedly simple diary of the grotesque cruelty of the Soviet system under Stalin, was published in Italy, and today is published in the United States. It was not published in the Soviet Union, and probably never will see the light of day in her own country.

More Gripping

Mrs. Ginzburg's story is one vastly more gripping than even the one told by Mrs. Alleluieva, and in many respects probably far more important as a historical document.

It is the story of what one woman saw, what one woman suffered, against the background of a whole nation in torment.

Mrs. Ginzburg was a teacher and an editor of the newspaper Red Tartary, in Kazan, capital of the Tatar Republic. A member of the Communist party herself, she was the wife of a high-ranking Communist official, and at the time her descent into hell began, the 30-year-old mother of two children.

Her story really began with the assassination in Leningrad, on Dec. 1, 1934, of Sergei M. Kirov, a party secretary and right-hand man of Stalin. There is still a widespread belief today that Stalin himself engineered that murder as a pretext for the purge that would consolidate his autocratic power.

Steel, Copper Industries Planning Price Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders in the steel and copper industries plan price increases as the government reports a second straight monthly drop in the nation's industrial output.

As the price hikes were being announced Wednesday, Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board urged Congress to enact a tax hike to stem inflation. President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge appears all but dead for this session of Congress.

Martin said disruptive forces already are at work on the economy.

Adding to the economy's woes were continued scattered strikes in the auto industry.

Plan Activities

The Rosendale Woman's Club met Thursday, 8 p.m. at Williams Lake Lounge. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Irwin Smith, president. Plans are being made for the ski weekend scheduled for Jan. 27 and 28. Names were taken of those who could accommodate skiers, lodging for the weekend.

Mrs. Catherine O'Leary will replace Mrs. Peter Mathews on the loan closet committee. Mrs. Mathews has worked very hard on this committee the last seven years.

Two of the club members, Mrs. Lottie Burns and Mrs. Jeff Marks will attend the village board meeting Nov. 15.

Clothes were distributed to the needy by Mrs. Lottie Burns. The health clinic in November was attended by club members Mrs. Catherine O'Leary and Mrs. Stanley Van Wagenen. Serving next month will be Mrs. Jeff Marks and Mrs. Karl Strobel.

The Christmas dinner was discussed and will be held at Williams Lake Thursday, Dec. 14 at 7 p.m. Mrs. Robert Sheehan, Mrs. Lottie Burns and Mrs. Walter Williams will serve on the committee.

Mrs. Catherine O'Leary spoke on the library. The Christmas bazaar will be held Nov. 30 from 2 to 5 and 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Hostesses for the evening were the Meses, Wilfred Doolittle and Karl Strobel.

Dems to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Town of Rosendale Democratic Club Inc. will be held in the community building, Maple Hill, Monday, 8 p.m.

All members are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its rally early Thursday. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losses by better than 3 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up about 5 points.

Raytheon, Ling Temco Vought, IBM and Polaroid rose about 3 each. Xerox added 4.

Up a couple of points were Control Data, Westinghouse Electric, and Gulf & Western.

Gains of a point or so were made by American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, Associated Brewing, Sanders Associates, Flying Tiger, Chrysler General Dynamics, Zenith, Kennecott, General Electric and Merck.

George D. Roper 7½ at 22½ on 74,600 shares, was the volume leader.

American Telephone, which eased Wednesday as the expected news came of its increased dividend, recouped fractionally.

Successful Investing....

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst
Sell Strong Stock
Only If Too Rich

Q—I am a widow, 57, with no children but a widowed mother to support. I have a $140,000 trust fund from my late husband and $20,000 in savings. I have stock in American Telephone, Ingersoll Rand, El Paso, Natural Gas, Consolidated Edison, Commonwealth Oil, National Cash Register, Tenneco, Jersey Standard, American News. I also have $25,000 in convertible bonds. I have a substantial profit in National Cash Register and I need more income. Should I switch this to a slower stock paying 5 per cent?—B.C.

A—It is good if you to look after your mother and I am glad to see you so well equipped to do so. You have a generally sound list of stocks, with National Cash Register, in some respects, your best growth holding. This company is not only the leader in cash registers but it is expanding strongly in the field of computers. The stock is not unreasonably priced in its group but the yield is less than 1 per cent. If you require more income, it is certainly too rich for you. In its place you might well consider Maytag, yielding 5.3 per cent. Your Commonwealth Oil seems to me to be rather fully priced and it yields only 2.5 per cent. I advise switching this to Sunray DX, yielding 4.3 per cent with, I believe, at least as good potential.

Q—I'm a college freshman, 21, and I'm seriously considering the stock market as a medium for investment in later years. I have $500 that I could invest now. Do you think I should do so and what do you suggest?—P.M.

A—You seem to be a pretty foresighted young man and I see no reason why you should not invest now. I strongly advise you to buy only the highest quality for your initial purchase. My recommendation would be four shares of Avon Products, which has shown consistently increasing earnings and a rising price curve for many years.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Grange Royalty

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Lawrence McCann of Roaring River, N.C., and Miss Lynn Aaron of Carbondale, Kan., have been chosen prince and princess at the centennial convention of the National Grange.

McCann, 22, is a graduate of Appalachian State University at Boone, N.C., and plans to be a college teacher.

Miss Aaron, 18, is a freshman at the University of Kansas. She is majoring in interior design.

The two were selected Wednesday night. The convention continues through next Wednesday. Chosen as the couple of the year were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith of Grinnell, Iowa.

Conservatives May Tab Schick as Foe for Joe

The leader of the Conservative Party of Ulster County has underlined gains the party made in the recent election, ridiculed Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's bid for the Senate, and declared that John J. Schick is looked upon "favorably" as a possible Conservative contender for the Congressional post.

Harry S. Hoffman Jr., chairman of Ulster's Conservatives, said today. "The Conservative Party is now considering an opponent for (Congressman) Resnick, and one name that has favorably been considered is that of John J. Schick who drew a heavy vote on Row C and waged a strong campaign for county judge."

The next election in the five-county area that makes up the 28th Congressional District will be held in November, 1968.

In other statements Hoffman said, "The (Conservative) party has increased its vote for county candidates over its vote tally of last year."

"In races for town office in Esopus, and for county legislature in Saugerties, the Conservative vote was crucial to the outcome."

Commenting on Congressman Resnick's bid for the Democratic nomination to the Senate, Hoffman said, "We are looking ahead to the '68 campaign with particular emphasis on replacing Congressman Resnick who must be kidding someone signed from his position as when he seeks the Senatorial nomination."

"This is probably just a way of getting publicity and blaming the big city bosses when he fails to get the nomination," Hoffman said.

The Ulster County Conservative leader told The Freeman that party chairmen in the other counties of the five-county district "had been contacted" and that this was one of the reasons why he said that Schick's name was being considered.

Only yesterday Schick re-democratic State committee-man from Ulster County.

The five-county area of the 28th District includes Dutchess, Greene, Schoharie, and Columbia, along with Ulster.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its rally early Thursday. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losses by better than 3 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up about 5 points.

Raytheon, Ling Temco Vought, IBM and Polaroid rose about 3 each. Xerox added 4.

Up a couple of points were Control Data, Westinghouse Electric, and Gulf & Western. Gains of a point or so were made by American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, Associated Brewing, Sanders Associates, Flying Tiger, Chrysler, General Dynamics, Zenith, Kennecott, General Electric and Merck.

George D. Roper off 1/2 at 2 1/2 on 74,600 shares, was the volume leader.

American Telephone, which eased Wednesday as the expected news came of its increased dividend, recouped fractionally. Opening blocks included:

Successful Investing....

Investment Advisor & Analyst
Sell Strong Stock
Only If Too Rich

Q—I am a widow, 57, with no children but a widowed mother to support. I have a $140,000 trust fund from my late husband and $20,000 in savings. I have stock in American Telephone, Ingersoll-Rand, El Paso Natural Gas, Consolidated Edison, Cash Register, Tenneco, Jersey Standard, American News. I also have $25,000 in convertible bonds. I have a substantial profit in National Cash Register and I need more income. Should I switch this to a slower stock paying 5 per cent?—B.C.

A—It is good of you to look after your mother and I am glad to see you so well equipped to do so. You have a generally sound list of stocks, with National Cash Register, in some respects, your best growth holding. This company is not only the leader in cash registers but it is expanding strongly in the field of computers. The stock is not undervalued in its group but the yield is less than 1 per cent. If you require more income, it is certainly too rich for you. In its place you might consider Maytag, yielding 5.3 per cent. Your Commonwealth Oil seems to me to be rather fully priced and it yields only 2.5 per cent. I advise switching this to Sunray DX, yielding 4.3 per cent with, I believe, at least as good potential.

Q—I'm a college freshman, 21, and I'm seriously considering the stock market as a medium for investment in later years. I have $500 that I could invest now. Do you think I should do so and what do you suggest?—P.M.

A—You seem to be a pretty foresighted young man and I see no reason why you should not invest now. I strongly advise you to buy only the highest quality for your initial purchase. My recommendation would be four shares of Avon Products, which has shown consistently increasing earnings and a rising price curve for many years.

Grange Royalty

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Lawrence McCann of Roaring River, N.C., and Miss Lynn Aaron of Carbondale, Kan., have been chosen prince and princess at the centennial convention of the National Grange.

McCann, 22, is a graduate of Appalachian State University at Boone, N.C., and plans to be a college teacher.

Miss Aaron, 18, is a freshman at the University of Kansas. She is majoring in interior design.

The two were selected Wednesday night. The convention continues through next Wednesday.

Chosen as the couple of the year were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith of Grinnell, Iowa.

Conservatives May Tab Schick as Foe for Joe

The leader of the Conservative Party of Ulster County has underlined gains the party made in the recent election, ridiculed Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's bid for the Senate, and declared that John J. Schick is looked upon "favorably" as a possible Conservative contender for the Congressional post.

Harry S. Hoffman Jr., chairman of Ulster's Conservatives, said today. "The Conservative Party is now considering an opponent for (Congressman) Resnick, and one name that has favorably been considered is that of John J. Schick who drew a heavy vote on Row C and waged a strong campaign for county judge."

The next election in the five-county area that makes up the 28th Congressional District will be held in November, 1968.

In other statements Hoffman said, "The (Conservative) party has increased its vote for county candidates over its vote tally of last year."

"In races for town office in Esopus, and for county legislature in Saugerties, the Conservative vote was crucial to the outcome."

Commenting on Congressman Resnick's bid for the Democratic nomination to the Senate, Hoffman said, "We are looking ahead to the '68 campaign with particular emphasis on replacing Congressman Resnick who must be kidding someone when he seeks the Senatorial nomination."

"This is probably just a way of getting publicity and blaming the big city bosses when he fails to get the nomination," Hoffman said.

The Ulster County Conservative leader told The Freeman that party chairmen in the other counties of the five-county district "had been contacted" and that this was one of the reasons why he said that Schick's name was being considered.

Only yesterday Schick resigned from his position as Democratic State committee man from Ulster County. The five-county area of the 28th District includes Dutchess, Greene, Schoharie, and Columbia, along with Ulster.

Testing Several New Aids for GIs

SAIGON (AP) — American science and technology have come up with some way-out answers to fighting Vietnam guerrilla war but officers would like them to go still farther.

Items being tested or soon to be tested include lightweight body armor capable of stopping a .30-caliber armor-piercing bullet, a 10-pound electronic navigation computer for infantrymen, and radar beacons to guide jet bombers to the rescue of infantrymen caught in deep jungle ambushes.

Among the notable failures so far are attempts to give GIs greater firepower by doubling the size of their M16 rifle ammunition clips and to build a device that accurately detects hidden artillery positions. Hidden artillery has resulted in several thousand Marine casualties along the demilitarized zone.

Armor for infantrymen has always been a problem in Vietnam. The 12-pound flak vest most commonly worn will stop shrapnel but not bullets. The material of the jacket is of such a close weave that some Marines call them pressure cook-

The Army version under test has ceramic plates in a loosely woven material that allows body heat to escape. The 10-pound jacket will stop medium machine-gun bullets.

The position locator, as the navigation system for infantrymen is called, still has a few bugs to be ironed out. Carried on an infantryman's back, the set's computer electrically feeds in compass bearings and the number of steps taken by the wearer and feeds out map coordinates of present position.

Theoretically an infantryman can follow a long twisting circular course over hills and rough ground and find less than a few yards' error when he arrives.

The beacon is to be tested by the Marines in conjunction with their all-weather bomber, the A6 Intruder. Special Forces camps, fixed Marine positions and moving units alike could use the radar beeper to guide in A6s for strikes day or night and in any weather. In deep jungle minutes and lives often are lost during ambushes because allied bombers cannot figure out quickly just where the "friendlies" are.

Flame-resistant flying clothes, being tested by Army and Marine airmen, promise to save many fliers. An Army pilot testing a suit was shot down in flames recently. The fire melted the nylon straps on his helmet and his seat cushions but gave him what amounted to a bad sunburn over his body, the Army reports.

Also being tested are ballistic helmets for airmen. They "sag" under glancing hits, deflecting bullets from the wearer's head.

Discover White Blood Cells Will Shun Cancer Growth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — First filmed evidence that disease-fighting white blood cells tend to avoid cancer cells instead of destroying them has been produced by a team of physicians at the University of Southern California.

"The implication," says Dr. Russell P. Sherwin, associate professor of pathology, "is that if we could find a way to help them get near or in the cancer cells, they might destroy them."

The strange action of the white blood cells, called lymphocytes, was noted in a motion picture of live cancer tissue from human lungs produced by Richters of the USC School of Medicine.

The school said the team used a new technique employing time-lapse photography and a microscope that uses different kinds of light to "stain" living cells for contrast without killing them.

The result is a motion picture of living tissue, rather than a series of slides of dead tissue.

In an interview, Sherwin said the movie showed lymphocytes constantly checking on normal lung cells, even going inside them to clean out foreign matter and thus keep the cells healthy.

"If they find a badly damaged noncancer cell," he said, "they kill it to keep it from being a potential danger to the body."

This was not true with cancer cells.

"We found that there are generally fewer lymphocytes around cancer cells," Sherwin said. "We think it's possible that cancer cells survive because the lymphocytes can't get near enough to kill them."

Sherwin said he was not sure why, but that research was continuing.

CAP Seminar

The New York Wing Civil Air Patrol, civilian auxiliary of the United States Air Force, will hold a one-day Search and Rescue Mission Training Seminar at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, on Saturday. Starting at 9:30 a.m., the session will cover problems and responsibilities arising during an actual search mission. Mainly for Mission Staff personnel training, the attendees will be briefed by representatives of the New York Wing CAP staff as well as representatives of the Eastern Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Center from Warner Robins, Ga.

Reach Settlement

After a jury had been selected and the case opened, settlement was reached in a negligence action brought in Supreme Court by Emelia C. Amendola of Kingston against Catherine Costello. The action arose over an accident July 15, 1965 on Broadway at Cornell Street. Harry Gold appeared for plaintiff and Thomas F. Turley for defendant. The action was before Supreme Court Justice R. Waldron Herzberg.

Move to Dissolve Berzal Corporation

Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn has signed an order directing all persons interested in the S. Berzal & Co., owners of mushroom plants in the Town of Saugerties, to show cause why the corporation should not be dissolved pursuant to the rules and practices of the Supreme Court.

The case is scheduled for hearing before Justice Bruhn at a special term of Supreme Court in Kingston on Jan. 5, 1968 or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard. Guido J. Napoletano of the law firm of Napoletano, Kelly and Sacco, man appears for the petitioner, Salustiano Berzal.

The papers note that the petitioner is the owner and holder of 50 per cent of all of the outstanding and issued stock of S. Berzal & Co., Inc.; that the directors are so divided respecting the management of the corporation's affairs that the votes required for the election of directors cannot be obtained; and that there is internal dissension and two factions of stockholders are so divided that dissolution would be beneficial to the stockholders. It was ordered that a copy of Justice Bruhn's order be served on the State Tax Commission, S. Berzal & Co., Inc., and upon Mildred C. Berzal, the only other stockholder of the corporation. It was further ordered that S. Berzal & Co., Inc., its officers and directors, furnish the court with a schedule of the accounts of the corporation together with a statement of corporate assets and liabilities and the name and address of each shareholder and of each creditor and claimant including any with whom the corporation has unfulfilled contracts.

FBI Resists Proposal

Crime Strike Force Concept

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI and its parent agency, the Justice Department, are at odds over the department's new "strike force" concept for fighting organized crime.

As a result, the FBI has refused to join fully the new anti-crime force—practically the only civilian federal investigative agency to decline full participation.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark made public the new concept earlier this week in a New York speech when he announced the department will set up several "strike forces" to probe organized crime in selected areas. The decision was based on a highly successful operation during the past year in Buffalo, N.Y., which resulted in 14 indictments affecting 31 defendants.

Under the strike force concept, seven federal investigative agencies work together on an intensive drive against organized crime in a selected area for a year or two.

Although Justice Department officials refused to discuss the disagreement, it is known they feel their job would be much easier if the FBI participated fully in the new technique.

FBI participation so far has been passive. It has not assigned agents to work on the strike forces but has made available its vast intelligence sources.

Technically, at least, the attorney general could order FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to assign agents to the strike force, but Clark is said to be reluctant to do so. Although the FBI is part of the Justice Department it operates practically as an autonomous agency.

Insiders familiar with FBI operations say the bureau's opposition to participating fully in the plan is based on three premises:

—The FBI traditionally likes to work alone and take the credit—or the blame—alone.

—The FBI over the years has sought to keep separate the investigating and prosecuting functions of the Justice Department. The bureau does the investigating; the department does the prosecuting.

—The bureau is not convinced that the intensive work of the strike forces—spread possibly over an 18-month or two-year period—would be lasting. It feels that once a drive is completed the target area may slip

RAYMOND A. NELSON

Chamber Speaker Named

The Rev. Raymond A. Nelson, headmaster of Ulster Academy, the new private school to open next September in the City of Kingston, will be the featured speaker at the monthly breakfast of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday.

Chamber president S. James Matthews announced that the new headmaster will speak on the formation of Ulster Academy, its goals and development progress to date. The breakfast will be held at 7:45 a.m. in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Following the Rev. Mr. Nelson's presentation, the audience will be given the opportunity to ask questions relevant to the new school. Matthews urged all Chamber members to place the event on their calendar and attend. As with the other regular monthly breakfasts, this meeting is being held on the third Tuesday of the month. Matthews noted that the meetings have been held promptly at 7:45 a.m. to the Chamber office at 17 Albany Avenue.

Check Completed For Three Towns

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the completion of the examination of the fiscal affairs of a number of towns, villages, schools, and other special districts throughout the State. Included are the fiscal reports for the Towns of Marletown, New Paltz and Shawangunk. Copies of the examination reports have been sent to the clerk and other officials of the units of government examined. Since the reports are a part of the public record, they are available for review by interested citizens.

A copy of each of the reports is also on file at the Department of Audit and Control, in Albany, and is available for public inspection.

Solon Objects But Russia Painting Stays

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — A Russian artist's paintings of the Arctic remained on view in this northernmost outpost of the State University today, despite a congressman's demands they be thrown out into the cold.

College officials at Plattsburgh State voiced firm support for the on-campus display of an exhibit of Russian art works, owned by controversial American artist Rockwell Kent.

Their stance ignored protests by U.S. Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y., whose district includes this northern New York city.

In a telegram sent Tuesday to Dr. George W. Angell, college president, King recalled that Kent had donated his $10,000 Lenin Peace Prize to the North Vietnamese government this year. He noted that Kent was distressed by his country's involvement in the Vietnam War and asked Angell:

"How can you possibly sponsor such an exhibition in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution?"

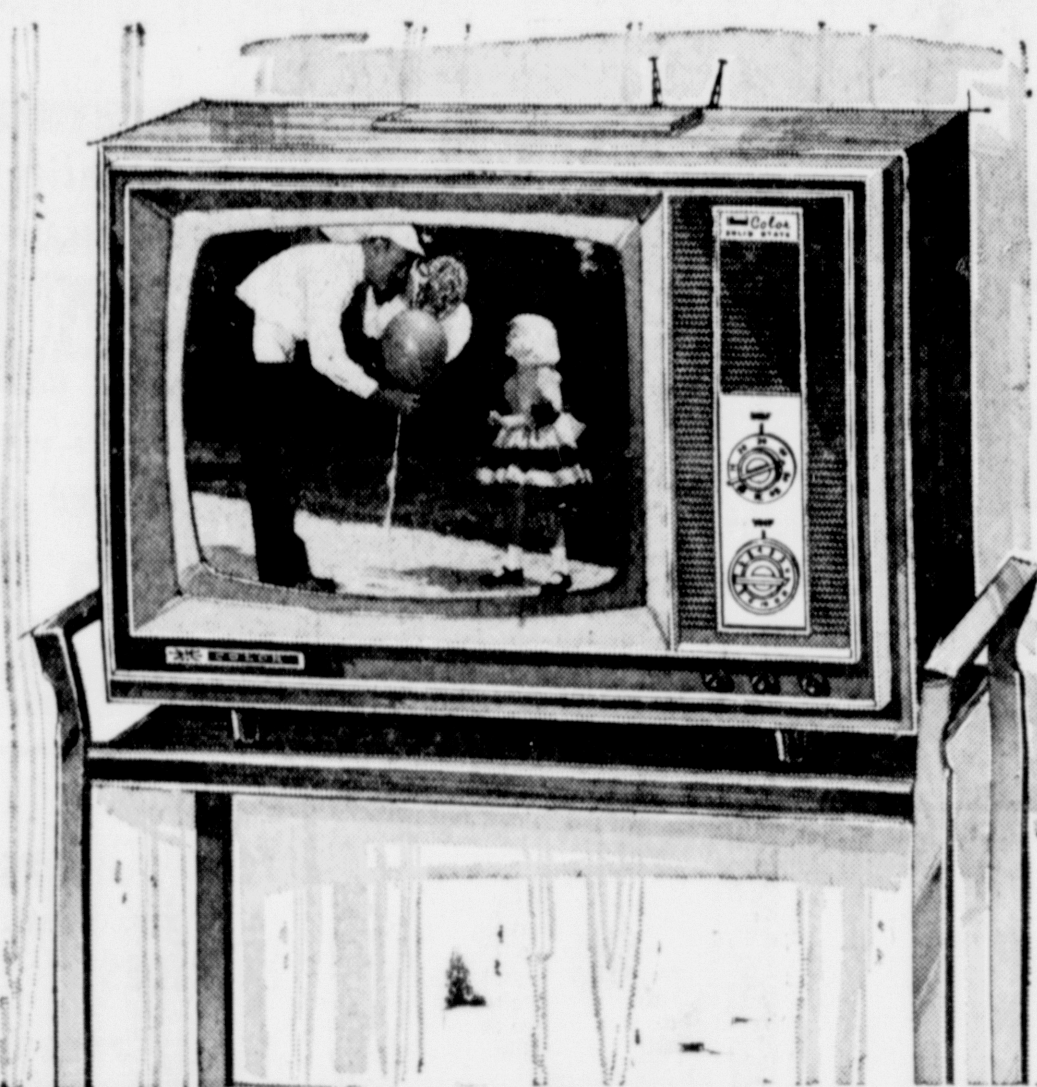

Donald Garrant, Angell's assistant, said the college president had replied to King in a letter.

Its contents were not made public, but Garrant, saying he was speaking for Angell, added that he believed the college had a right to exhibit art done by any individual, regardless of race, religion or political affiliation.

Kent says the paintings generally are Arctic scenes by Soviet artist Alexander Merkulov and were nonpolitical.

The exhibit opened last week and was sponsored by the Student Association International Relations Club. It runs through Friday.

Cheryl Hogle, president of the Student Association, told a newsman she was "bewildered and disappointed" over King's criticism.

Collins Sentenced For Downtown Job

Alvin Collins, 21, a former resident of Cleveland, O., who was found guilty of robbery, assault and petit larceny after trial, was sentenced Wednesday by County Judge Raymond J. Mino to Elmira Reformatory on the robbery and assault charges and on the petit larceny charge a one year jail sentence was imposed. All sentences will run concurrently.

Collins, along with two others, was indicted for the alleged holdup of Milton Cole, proprietor of Manos Market in the downtown section of Kingston, and the taking of $48.

After a plea for leniency by his counsel, Francis Martocci, Judge Mino imposed Elmira sentences on each of the two felony charges and a jail sentence on the misdemeanor charge.

Collins, 21, had come to Kingston some time before the robbery seeking work. His counsel said he had gotten in with the wrong company and as a result found himself before the court. He had previously been involved with the law in Cleveland and had recently been released from probation when he came to Kingston.

In imposing sentence, Judge Mino directed that the term of imprisonment be no longer than a maximum of five years and directed that Sheriff William B. Martin immediately transfer Collins to Elmira.

Arraigned on a charge of first degree grand larceny, two counts, and conspiracy as a misdemeanor, two counts, was Robert G. Beaumont, Kingston, and also Bob Beaumont, Inc., former Chrysler agency. The charges arose out of car transfers. Harry Gold appeared for Beaumont, requested time to examine the indictment and make motions thereto. Judge Mino released defendant in custody of his counsel and adjourned the case to Nov. 29, at 11 when if motions have not been made the case will be placed on the ready calendar. A number of cases were called by Assistant District Attorney Albert Lomstein and added to the ready calendar for trial.

Among the arraignments was Dennis Nelson, 17, charged with burglary, third degree; unlawful entry and petit larceny, alleged to have taken place July 11, 1967. The grand jury recommended he be treated as a Youthful Offender. Employed at the Trailways bus terminal in Albany, Nelson was given until Nov. 29 at 11 a.m. to secure counsel. He was released in custody of his parents who reside in Albany.

William Wieber Quick was arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, first degree, and entered a plea of not guilty.

College Survey Reveals

Promiscuity Not Widespread

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer
STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Is sexual promiscuity widespread on college campuses? No, say researchers who made a four-year study of students at Stanford University and the University of California, Berkeley.

"Our investigations do not confirm the popular stereotype of widespread sexual promiscuity," says Dr. Joseph Katz of the Stanford Institute for the Study of Human Problems.

"Sexual intimacy, where it occurs, takes place in the context of a relationship that is serious rather than casual."

Establishing more communicative relations is often uppermost in couples' minds, not physical contact, he maintains. There are fairly large numbers of students — roughly a third of the men and a quarter of the women — who seem to date little or not at all even as college seniors," Katz says. "In spite of the very favorable male-female ratio at Stanford, over a fifth of the women students seem to have no dates in an average week in any of the four college years."

Katz and 18 other psychologists and psychiatrists analyzed tests and questionnaires from more than 3,000 members of the class of 1965, followed since their freshman days four years earlier. The researchers also collected material through eight in-depth interviews apiece with a cross section of 250 students from college entrance through graduation.

Findings are incorporated in a 666-page report, recently released, entitled "Growth and Constraint in College Students." It is one of the most massive such studies ever made.

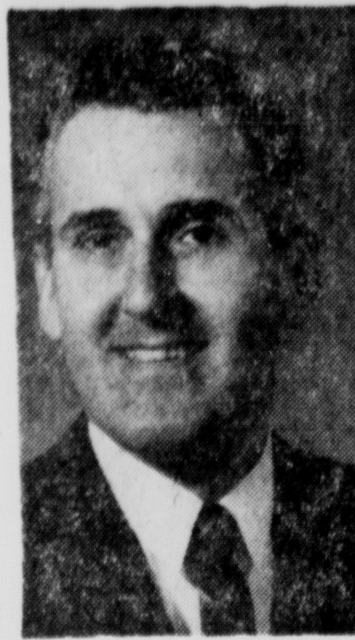

The research was jointly financed by the Danforth Foundation and the U.S. Office of Education. It included personality development, student attitudes toward teachers and courses, relationships with fellow students and parents, occupational choice and college life development of personal values.

The students often don't learn to use their reasoning capacities with development problems they face, he adds, and often make major life decisions, including choice of careers and marriage partners, by default. The researchers scored society's emphasis on achievement — hard work in high school to get into college, then hard work to get into graduate school, and more hard work to get into a high pay job.

"The whole structure of higher education is designed to look at external signs of success and, more rarely, to focus on the needs of the individual," the scientists note.

"Our study has not impressed us that the skills of men to further their own happiness are in a particularly advanced state," Katz comments.

Girl Scouts' PR Head

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts elected E. Robert Johnson, as a member of the Board of Directors, at the November meeting. Johnson, executive director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, will act as public relations chairman for the Council.

Johnson, a member of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies and the Health Services Council of the Citizen's Survey Study, also holds membership in the Ulster County Historical Association, the Huguenot Historical Society, and the local Mendelssohn Club.

He served in the U. S. Army during World War II as a member of the 716th Military Police Battalion, and had the honor of serving as Special Guard for General Jonathan Wainwright upon his return from Japanese captivity; for General Dwight D. Eisenhower, upon his return from Europe after World War II; for General Carl Spatz and General Anthony McAuliffe, during their reception in New York City upon their return from Europe; and as military honor guard for President Franklin D. Roosevelt at the burial services in the rose garden at the Roosevelt Estate in Hyde Park.

Johnson graduated from Columbia University with a major in history, and has participated in a number of TB and Public Health institutes in connection with his present field of work. In addition to history, his special interests are music, gardening, antiques and historical architecture, books, wildlife and conservation.

Johnson resides in Saugerties active in Scouting in that neighborhood as a leader and troop organizer, and as a member of the Council Day Camp Committee. They have two children, Betsy, 2, and Christine, Maria, 13, who is a Girl Scout.

As public relations chairman for the council, Johnson will coordinate the services designed to build public understanding and support of Girl Scouting, keeping the public informed of council goals and projects as well as all important Girl Scout events, and establishing cooperative relationships with other community groups for the mutual benefit of Girl Scouting and the community.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is one of the 13 member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest, and serves a membership of more than 3,700.

Alert Turkey Forces In New Cyprus Rift

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish Cabinet met throughout the night, and the armed forces were reported placed on the alert today in the wake of new fighting on Cyprus between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The Cabinet called a closed session of Parliament to consider the situation, and President Cevdet Sunay broke off a tour of the eastern provinces to hurry back to the capital.

All Turkish airports, including those at Ankara, Istanbul and Izmir, were reported closed to international traffic. A source at Istanbul Airport said the closure was "related to" the Cyprus crisis.

A TWA plane scheduled to fly from Istanbul to Doha, Saudi Arabia, was turned back. Lufthansa's Istanbul-to-Athens flight did not take off and Turkish Airlines canceled its afternoon flight over the same route.

Gen. Cemal Tural, chief of the Turkish general staff, met twice during the night with the Cabinet. One of the commanders told newsmen the armed forces had been put on the alert.

Asked if Turkey's forces might intervene in Cyprus, the commander replied, "If neces-

College Survey Reveals

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON

AP Science Writer

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Is sexual promiscuity widespread on college campuses? No, say researchers who made a four-year study of students at Stanford University and the University of California, Berkeley.

"Our investigations do not confirm the popular stereotype of widespread sexual promiscuity," says Dr. Joseph Katz of the Stanford Institute for the Study of Human Problems.

"Sexual intimacy, where it occurs, takes place in the context of a relationship that is serious rather than casual."

Establishing more communicative relations is often uppermost in couples' minds, not physical contact, he maintains. "There are fairly large numbers of students — roughly a third of the men and a quarter of the women — who seem to date little or not at all even as college seniors," Katz says. "In spite of the very favorable male-female ratio at Stanford, over a fifth of the women students seem to have no dates in an average week in any of the four college years."

Katz and 18 other psychologists and psychiatrists analyzed tests and questionnaires from more than 3,000 members of the class of 1965, followed since their freshman days four years earlier. The researchers also collected material through eight in-depth interviews apiece with a cross section of 250 students from college entrance through graduation.

Findings are incorporated in a 666-page report, recently released, entitled "Growth and Constraint in College Students." It is one of the most massive such studies ever made.

The research was jointly financed by the Danforth Foundation and the U.S. Office of Education. It included personality development, student attitudes toward teachers and courses, relationships with fellow students and parents, occupational choice and college life development of personal values.

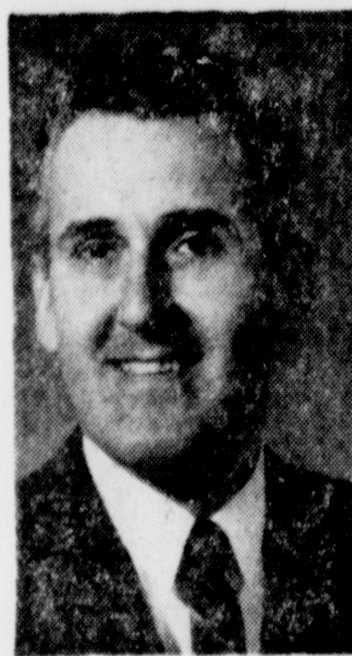

The students often don't learn to use their reasoning capacities in with development problems they face, he adds, and often make major life decisions, including choice of careers and marriage partners, by default.

The researchers scored society's emphasis on achievement — hard work in high school to get into college, then hard work to get into graduate school, and more hard work to get into a high pay job.

"The whole structure of higher education is designed to look at external signs of success and, more rarely, to focus on the needs of the individual," the scientists note.

"Our study has not impressed us that the skills of men to further their own happiness are in with development problems a particularly advanced state," Katz comments.

Girl Scouts' PR Head

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts elected E. Robert Johnson, as a member of the Board of Directors, at the November meeting. Johnson, executive director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, will act as public relations chairman for the Council.

Johnson, a member of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies and the Health Services Council of the Citizen's Survey Study, also holds membership in the Ulster County Historical Association, the Huguenot Historical Society, and the local Mendelssohn Club.

He served in the U. S. Army during World War II as a member of the 716th Military Police Battalion, and had the honor of serving as Special Guard for General Jonathan Wainwright upon his return from Japanese captivity; for General Dwight D. Eisenhower, upon his return from Europe after World War II; for General Carl Spaatz, General Anthony McAuliffe, during their reception in New York City upon their return from Europe; and as military Honor Guard for President Franklin D. Roosevelt at the burial services in the rose garden at the Roosevelt Estate in Hyde Park.

Johnson graduated from Columbia University with a major in history, and has participated in a number of TB and Public Health institutes in connection with his present field of work. In addition to history, his special interests are music, gardening, antiques and historical architecture, books, wildlife and conservation.

Johnson resides in Saugerties active in Scouting in that neighborhood as a leader and troop organizer, and as a member of the Council Day Camp Committee. They have two children, Betsy, 2, and Christine Maria, 13, who is a Girl Scout.

As public relations chairman for the council, Johnson will coordinate the services designed to build public understanding and support of Girl Scouting, keeping the public informed of council goals and projects as well as all important Girl Scout events, and establishing cooperative relationships with other community groups for the mutual benefit of Girl Scouting and the community.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is one of the 13 member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest, and serves a membership of more than 3,700.

Alert Turkey Forces In New Cyprus Rift

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish Cabinet met throughout the night, and the armed forces were reported placed on the alert today in the wake of new fighting on Cyprus between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The Cabinet called a closed session of Parliament to consider the situation, and President Cevdet Sunay broke off a tour of the eastern provinces to hurry back to the capital.

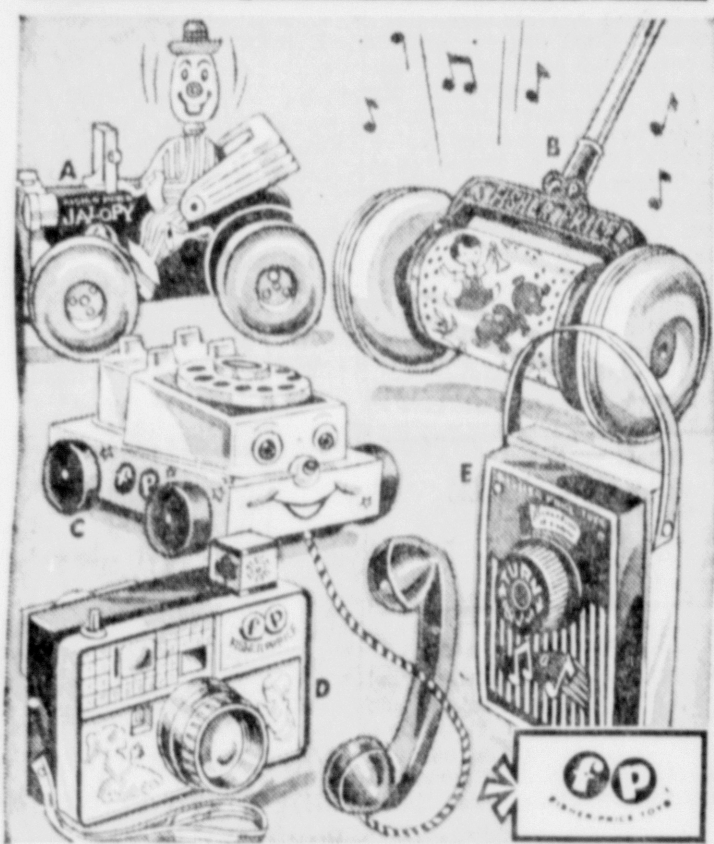

All Turkish airports, including those at Ankara, Istanbul and Izmir, were reported closed to international traffic. A source at Istanbul Airport said the closure was "related to" the Cyprus crisis.

A TWA plane scheduled to overfly Istanbul from Doha, Saudi Arabia, was turned back. Lufthansa's Istanbul to Athens flight did not take off and Turkish Airlines canceled its afternoon flight over the same route.

Gen. Cemal Tural, chief of the Turkish general staff, met twice during the night with the Cabinet. One of the commanders told newsmen the armed forces had been put on the alert. Asked if Turkey's forces might intervene in Cyprus, the commander replied, "if necessary."

Execution Of 3 Cong Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today it has been informed by the South Vietnamese government that the execution of three convicted Viet Cong terrorists will not take place.

A spokesman made the information available, without elaboration, after a flood of inquiries had been received.

Three Viet Cong terrorists had been scheduled to die before a firing squad at Saigon's Chi Hoa Prison at dawn Friday.

The State Department did not say what U.S. efforts had been made to call off the executions but the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had threatened reprisals against American prisoners if the terrorists were executed.

Wrong Office

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — George Seibels, Birmingham's new mayor, headed for his old City Council office Wednesday when he reported for work.

He did an about-face and headed for the mayor's office when newsmen reminded him that voters had given him a promotion.

No Speeches

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A trick will be played Dec. 7 on Republican party leaders including seven Los Angeles area congressmen.

They won't be permitted to make a speech at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Palladium.

The program will include songs by Pat Boone and Howard Keel and dancing—but no speeches—a spokesman says.

Accord

ACCORD—Gordon Wahlberg, a teacher at the Marbletown school will speak on Thursday, 8 p.m. on the Middle East at the Rochester Reformed Church, Route 209, Accord.

His talk will be illustrated with slides taken during his recent visit to the Middle East. There will be a question and answer period.

The program is sponsored by the Ladies Aid of the Church. Refreshments will be served.

500-Car Freight

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — A 500-car Norfolk and Western freight train carries a load of coal today from Iaeger, W.Va., to Portsmouth, Ohio, and into railroad history.

The freight—billed as "Super Train" by the N&W—is the longest ever. It carries a 47,000-ton load and stretches nearly four miles from engine to caboose.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Nov. 16, the 320th day of 1967. There are 45 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1869, the Suez Canal was opened.
On this date: In 1776, the British captured New York's Upper Manhattan.
In 1864, Henry Clay wrote the song, "Marching Through Georgia," to commemorate Gen. William T. Sherman's march to the sea.
In 1907, Oklahoma became the 46th state.
In 1908, Arturo Toscanini made his U.S. debut, conducting "Aida" at New York's Metropolitan Opera House.
In 1933, the United States and the Soviet Union established diplomatic relations.
In 1944, during World War II, six Allied armies began a big offensive drive in France, Germany and the Netherlands.
Ten years ago: The Democratic Advisory Council asserted that the United States, under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, had fallen behind in developing the weapons of tomorrow.
Five years ago: The United States said it would continue surveillance flights over Cuba until the Castro government agreed to better means of guarding against an offensive military buildup.
One year ago: It was announced that President Johnson was in good condition after throat and abdomen operations.

Cites Politics In Hike Bill for Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — A before the election year and roll deductions from the current Senate Republican leading opposition to a Democratic-backed Social Security bill charges it is based more on political factors than on sound financing.
Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, who fought in the Senate Finance Committee against the bill proposing the biggest cash benefit increases in Social Security history, told the Democrats as full Senate debate began Wednesday:
"You want to boast of all the benefits you're giving the people then put on the taxes to pay for them after the votes are counted."
Williams referred to a provision under which total benefits would be hiked by $3.5 billion next April, and by another $5.8 billion in 1969, and financed by a hike in maximum annual payroll deductions from the current $290.40 annually to $352 next year and $422.40 in 1969.
Williams and other Republicans on the committee contend the tax increases next year — election year—would not be sufficient to cover the proposed hike in benefits.
But Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Finance Committee maintained the financing plan is conservative. He said the proposed increases in benefits and taxes would mean a $2.2 billion surplus in the Social Security fund.

Ellenville's Giant Step Receives Phase III Approval

Approval was given last week for Ellenville Giant Step, Phase III under the auspices of Title I of the New York State Department of Education. Sanford Grossman, director of Federal Projects and director of Giant Step at the Ellenville High School has set Dec. 1 as a target date for the beginning of Giant Step's winter-spring operation. The amount allocated for the operation, which also includes the six-week summer mathematics program, "Blast Off," was $49,500.

This approval, under Title I, will enable the educationally deprived children of the Ellenville area to continue in the tutorial reading program which was so successful the past two summers.

RVCS Leaders Attend Parley

Seven Rondout Valley Central School District administrators will participate in the School Administrators' Leadership Training Program, Friday, at Kinderhook.

Program leader is Professor Robert H. Anderson of the Harvard University Department of Education, who will speak and conduct a discussion on "The New Thinking in Education and Its Application to the Work of the School Administrator."

Attending from Rondout Valley will be Superintendent of Schools Dr. Ted T. Grenda, Assistant Superintendent Robert A. Robertaccio, High School Principal Sherman V. Wilbur, Middle School Principal Philip Buonfiglio, Accord Principal Warren Schoonmaker, Kerhonkson Principal Croswell Sheeley, and Marletown Principal John W. Thornton.

Giant Step is a continuation of the regular school reading program. The 90 children who participated in Giant Step, Phase II during the summer will be invited to become part of Giant Step, Phase III. The program is designed to aid children with reading difficulties in grades 3-8. Instruction will be by the same personnel who participated in Giant Step during the summer of this year under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn Kuhlmann, reading specialist and Grossman.

There is a great need to continue the work started during the 1965-66 and 1966-67 school years. Many of the participating children have begun to show great improvement in reading skills and a change in their basic attitude towards school, Grossman said.

This year, for the first time, an in-service course will be offered as part of the Giant Step program for teachers who wish to increase their understanding of the particular problems of the disadvantaged child and his environment.

A detailed letter outlining the program will be sent to the parents of Giant Step children in the very near future.

Columbia Man Killed in Crash

An 86-year old Columbia County man was fatally injured at 2:20 p. m. Wednesday when his car was in collision with a tractor-trailer on Route 9H at the intersection of Route 20 near Ghent.

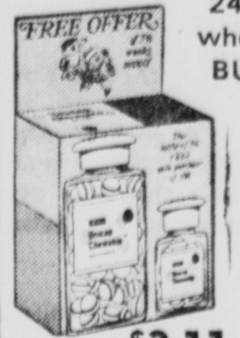

Claverack State Police said Wilson Bashford of Chatham was removed from the scene of the accident to Columbia Memorial Hospital in Hudson where he was pronounced dead.

The tractor-trailer was owned by the Associated Milk Haulers of Hillsdale and operated at the time by 33-year-old Edward Faulkner of Hudson Avenue, Chatham.

Investigators reported Bashford stopped for a stop sign at the intersection and then pulled into Route 9H in the path of the tractor-trailer and was hit on the right side.

The Fading Power of the Dollar

Most Favor Some Tax Action to Ease Threat of Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economists in the government, and many outside it, predict today's consumer dollar may be worth about 95 cents this time next year if taxes are not raised soon.

Solid Agreement

The forecasts of most college and corporation economists show solid agreement that inflation is a serious threat. They sound, in fact, much like the speeches being given by President Johnson's aides in behalf of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal.

But there is far less unanimity among industry economists that the surtax is the only answer. Sharp spending cuts or vigorous credit restraint are favored by many.

But most favor some kind of tax action, perhaps in combination with other curbs on demand. And an informal canvass of economic opinion inside and outside the government on the record and off the record produces this consensus of what 1968 may be like if there is no tax increase:

Prices — The increase is guessed at between 4 and 6 per cent for consumer prices and around 3 per cent for industrial commodities.

Many say such speculation is academic, since in the absence of a tax increase there would be spending clampdown, or both, if the living cost increase hit a 5 per cent rate for any prolonged period.

Interest — The government might have to pay 6 per cent interest on its bonds. High-grade corporate borrowers, already paying 6 per cent and up, could find themselves paying 8 or 9 per cent.

Hard on Credit

Credit supply — Many smaller borrowers would find credit unobtainable, in any practical sense, because of heavy government borrowing to finance a potential $28 billion deficit — and because the Federal Reserve Board would be forced to turn the tight money screws. Mortgage funds would dry up. Home building industry leaders fear there would be a housing recession.

Wages — A new round of big wage increase demands would develop. The wave has been subsiding, though new settlements still average about 5 per cent and the Ford Motor Co. settlement was around 6 per cent.

Officials predict privately that a congressional delay on tax action of three or four months, permitting prices to spurt, could set off another union drive to "catch up with living costs" and revive the wage-price spiral.

Profits — Profits after taxes would climb to a record high. The proposed 10 per cent surtax on corporations, on the other hand, might cancel out the gain and leave profits below the 1966 peak of $82.2 billion.

Production — A typical current forecast, assuming a tax increase, is for national output to increase by $60 billion to above $840 billion. Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisors says the rise would be $75 billion if there is no tax increase — an expansion rate fast enough, he said, to cause overheating and trouble.

Even if the surtax takes effect Jan. 1 as Johnson has urged, many economists believe inflation will cut family buying power in 1968 by as much as 3½ cents on the dollar.

Price Index at Peak

The consumer price index now stands at a record 117.1 per cent of the 1957-9 average. That means it now costs a typical city family $117.10 to buy what it could get for $100 less than 10 years ago.

If a 5 per cent rise should occur over the next year, the same bundle of goods and services would cost about $122.

Some economists expect further inflation but would prefer to fight it with weapons other than a tax boost. In the conservative wing of expert opinion, economist Milton Friedman of University of Chicago suggests a curb on the growth of the money supply and a curtailment of budget spending are needed.

Interest Rates Would Jump

Interest rates would rise for three to six months, Friedman concedes, but by then he believes "the pressure for credit would slacken and interest rates would start to decline."

On the liberal side, Leon Keyserling, a former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, also opposes the surtax, but for a different reason. Keyserling believes economic growth is too slow, not too fast. He predicts a tax increase would only contribute to "further economic stagnation."

Keyserling told The Associated Press he favors keeping taxes down and spending up. If prices threaten to get out of hand, he said, some selective controls might be applied. He did not advocate controls now, however.

Congressional coolness toward higher taxes has been encouraged by the latest batch of economic indicators. If the statistics did not support Keyserling's diagnosis of stagnation, they at least did not suggest overheating.

Joblessness increased in October, retail sales declined, the factory work week was reduced and the long buildup of military spending leveled off. New factory orders declined in September for the third straight month.

Administration officials, blaming much of the slackness on strikes, said the country was lucky to have the respite. They pointed to factory hiring gains as evidence the economy is "building up a full head of steam" and will need cooling off.

Similar conclusions led 260 economists from colleges and research organizations to call on Congress for "early enactment of tax legislation." A survey by the National Association of Business Economists showed that an overwhelming majority of its members favored the surtax.

Last week the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported that the rate of price and wage increase, including the Ford settlement, was "clearly excessive" and gaining speed.

When Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler suggested in September that the price climb could match the Korean war inflation — 5.5 per cent a year — some government economists felt he was overselling the surtax plan.

Today, however, a highly placed administration adviser insisted it is "highly probable that the year could bring a total advance of 5 or 6 per cent."

The September living cost rise was the smallest in six months, two-tenths of 1 per cent, but it capped a six-month increase which, if continued, would represent an annual rate of 3.6 per cent — a rate not exceeded since the mid-1950s.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which prepares the index, actually expects a 3.3 per cent rise in 1968 if there is a surtax, and a larger increase without one — how much larger, the bureau does not say.

The potential rise of interest rates could be even more painful to some segments of the economy — home builders and home buyers, small businesses and the school districts and local governments which rely on easy credit markets.

Joseph W. Barr, undersecretary of the treasury, did some pencilwork to show what would happen if mortgage rates rose 1 per cent — an expectable rise, he said, if taxes are not increased.

The home buyer who signs for a $15,300 mortgage payable in 25 years would pay $112 more in the first year. He would pay $2,800 more over the life of the mortgage.

The family which assumes a $27,000 mortgage would pay nearly $200 more in the first year, Barr said, and $4,950 more over the life of the loan.

The Fading Power of the Dollar

Most Favor Some Tax Action to Ease Threat of Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economists in the government, and many outside it, predict today's consumer dollar may be worth about 95 cents this time next year if taxes are not raised soon.

Solid Agreement

The forecasts of most college and corporation economists show solid agreement that inflation is a serious threat. They sound, in fact, much like the speeches being given by President Johnson's aides in behalf of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal.

But there is far less unanimity among industry economists that the surtax is the only answer. Sharp spending cuts or vigorous credit restraint are favored by many.

But most favor some kind of tax action, perhaps in combination with other curbs on demand. And an informal canvass of economic opinion inside and outside the government on the record and off the record produces this consensus of what 1968 may be like if there is no tax increase:

Prices — The increase is guessed at between 4 and 6 per cent for consumer prices and around 3 per cent for industrial commodities.

Many say such speculation is academic, since in the absence of a tax increase there would be heavy credit restraints or a spending clampdown, or both, if the living cost increase hit a 5 per cent rate for any prolonged period.

Interest — The government might have to pay 6 per cent interest on its bonds. High-grade corporate borrowers, already paying 6 per cent and up, could find themselves paying 8 or 9 per cent.

Hard on Credit

Credit supply — Many smaller borrowers would find credit unobtainable, in any practical sense, because of heavy government borrowing to finance a potential $28 billion deficit — and because the Federal Reserve Board would be forced to turn the tight money screws. Mortgage funds would dry up. Home building industry leaders fear there would be a housing recession.

Wages — A new round of big wage increase demands would develop. The wave has been subsiding, though new settlements still average about 5 per cent and the Ford Motor Co. settlement was around 6 per cent.

Officials predict privately that a congressional delay on tax action of three or four months, permitting prices to spurt, could set off another union drive to "catch up with living costs" and revive the wage-price spiral.

Profits — Profits after taxes would climb to a record high. The proposed 10 per cent surtax on corporations, on the other hand, might cancel out the gain and leave profits below the 1966 peak of $82.2 billion.

Production — A typical current forecast, assuming a tax increase, is for national output to increase by $60 billion to above $840 billion. Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers says the rise would be $75 billion if there is no tax increase — an expansion rate fast enough, he said, to cause overheating and trouble.

Even if the surtax takes effect Jan. 1 as Johnson has urged, many economists believe inflation will cut family buying power in 1968 by as much as 3 1/2 cents on the dollar.

ZENA ELEMENTARY SCHOOL—Bids for construction of a new 14-classroom elementary school at Zena are being solicited by the Kingston School District, Consolidated. Advertisement for bids appeared in The Freeman Nov. 16 and plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Harry Halverson Associates, Architects, 239 Fair Street. The new elementary school will be located on a 23-acre tract of land near the junction of County Roads 52 and 75

RVCS Outlines Snow Day Policy

The Rondout Valley Central School District will inaugurate, on an experimental basis, new procedural policies this year in the event of snow and icy weather. These procedures have been formulated with the dual purpose of safeguarding the health and welfare of the students and insuring as far as possible an uninterrupted school program.

John D. Basten, assistant for transportation, has advised that where weather conditions obviously warrant cancellation of classes, announcements will be aired beginning as soon after 6:30 a.m. as possible. Where improvement in conditions seems likely, school will first be postponed for one and a half hours. If road conditions warrant, the high school would then start operation at 9:30 a.m., and the elementary schools at 10:15 a.m. If anticipated improvement in conditions does not develop, cancellation notices will be broadcast.

Parents should listen to one of the following radio stations for school announcements: WBAZ, WGHQ, and WKNY in Kingston, and WELV in Ellenville. It is specifically requested, Basten said, that parents and students do not call the homes or offices of school personnel, as the telephones are needed for important calls to radio stations, bus contractors, and school employees, and also for the receipt of essential road information reports.

Basten also said that where inclement weather necessitates early dismissal, the elementary schools will be released immediately after lunch and the high school at the regular 2:30 dismissal hour.

in the Zena area. Plans call for a 14-classroom school with basic facilities to expand to a 21-room structure as need arises. In addition to the 14 classrooms, there is a two-story gymnasium, combination cafeteria and auditorium with stage, a library and music rooms together with the necessary facilities. The main portion of the building will be two stories with one story wing. Bids will be opened Dec. 15.

Dutchess Dean Named Trustee

Robert Moseley, dean of the Continuing Education Division at Dutchess Community College, has been elected a trustee of the International Association of Evening Student Councils.

At last weekend's conference at York University in Toronto, delegates named Moseley to a five-year term of office.

The organization represents 51 colleges in the United States, Great Britain, and Canada. Mr. Moseley's role will be to act as an adviser to the group, whose purposes include encouraging effective evening student programs and facilities for evening students, and serving as a clearing house for ideas.

ZENA ELEMENTARY SCHOOL—Bids for construction of a new 14-classroom elementary school at Zena are being solicited by the Kingston School District, Consolidated. Advertisement for bids appeared in The Freeman Nov. 16 and plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Harry Halverson Associates, Architects, 239 Fair Street. The new elementary school will be located on a 23-acre tract of land near the junction of County Roads 52 and 75 in the Zena area. Plans call for a 14-classroom school with basic facilities to expand to a 21-room structure as need arises. In addition to the 14 classrooms, there is a two-story gymnasium, combination cafeteria and auditorium with stage, a library and music rooms together with the necessary facilities. The main portion of the building will be two stories with one story wing. Bids will be opened Dec. 15.

RVCS Outlines Snow Day Policy

The Rondout Valley Central School District will inaugurate, on an experimental basis, new procedural policies this year in the event of snow and icy weather. These procedures have been formulated with the dual purpose of safeguarding the health and welfare of the students and insuring as far as possible an uninterrupted school program.

John D. Basten, assistant for transportation, has advised that where weather conditions obviously warrant cancellation of classes, announcements will be aired beginning as soon after 6:30 a.m. as possible. Where improvement in conditions seem likely, school will first be postponed for one and a half hours. If road conditions warrant, the high school would then start operation at 9:30 a.m., and the elementary schools at 10:15 a.m. If anticipated improvement in conditions does not develop, cancellation notices will be broadcast.

Parents should listen to one of the following radio stations for school announcements: WBAZ, WGHQ, and WKNY in Kingston, and WELV in Ellenville. It is specifically requested, Basten said, that parents and students do not call the homes or offices of school personnel, as the telephones are needed for important calls to radio stations, bus contractors, and school employees, and also for the receipt of essential road information reports.

Basten also said that where inclement weather necessitates early dismissal, the elementary schools will be released immediately after lunch and the high school at the regular 2:30 dismissal hour.

Esopus Prep Second Chance for Dropouts

HELPING HAND—Martin Ringel, a teacher at Esopus Prep, prevocational school for New York City high school dropouts, gives Raymond Howard of The Bronx a few pointers on getting his high school diploma. Carl Murdough (L.) from The Bronx gets some practice reading with the aid of a tape recorder. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

By HUGH REYNOLDS

"Learn, baby, learn." That's the motto of Esopus Prep, a prevocational academy for young men between 17-21, all from poor neighborhoods in New York City, high school dropouts with, at the most, a five-year level in reading.

Esopus Prep is on the site of the old Wiltwyck School for Boys, seven miles south of Kingston. It differs markedly from Wiltwyck, where former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson once attended, in that Esopus Prep is voluntary.

Use Advanced Techniques

The school was established as a demonstration program, jointly funded by the U.S. Labor Department and the New York City Youth Board, for young men whose academic level prevented them from getting anything but the most menial of jobs.

Using advanced educational techniques a student's reading level can be raised from 2-4 years in only a few months. The ultimate is a high school diploma and 35 of the 101 boys now enrolled are within weeks of that goal. Some of the high school graduates will go to college, others to work at decent wages or into other programs for further training.

The idea that this is just another high school is quickly dispelled upon a visit to the academy. The goals are perhaps the same but the methods of obtaining them are vastly different.

Relate Vital Word

Relate is an important word. Teachers and counselors are hired on their ability to relate to the students.

As director William K. Banks, 34, puts it, "We're looking for people with 'street savvy.' These students are all from the poor sections of New York. They've spent a lot of time out on the street. It's tough. Only someone who's been through it can know what it's like."

The relationship works both ways. Says Banks, "These teachers and counselors are an example to the students of what can be accomplished through education. The feeling among the students is, 'they teachers' counselors) came from the same place we did and they made it. We can too."

Counselor's Role

Availability of counselors is another factor. There is one counselor for about every 14 boys. Counselors work with groups of boys, live with them and eat with them. Problems that arise within a group are worked out by the group, not the counselor. He is on hand for advice, if asked or needed. This 14-1 counseling ration compares to about 1,000-1 in the ghetto schools in New York. As one student put it, "You can get lost in the shuffle awful easy down there."

Students are paid anywhere from $21 a week to $54, which varies according to dependents. But this is no paid vacation in the country. These guys work. The daily schedule looks like this: Reveille at 6 a.m., cleanup at 6:30 and breakfast from 7-7:30. The dorms are inspected at 8:30 followed by roll call at nine. School is from 9 to noon, lunch and free time until 1 p.m. From 1 to 4 school is back in session. Four to five is free time every day except Thursdays when student-staff meetings are held. Dinner is at 5:30, the recreation hall is open from 6-7. Group meetings are held after that with lights out at 11 p.m. Bedtime is 1 a.m. on week ends.

The eight groups alternate going home on weekends, with a group eligible every other weekend. However, privileges such as going home aren't automatic. A student has to have a mark of 85 out of a possible hundred to qualify.

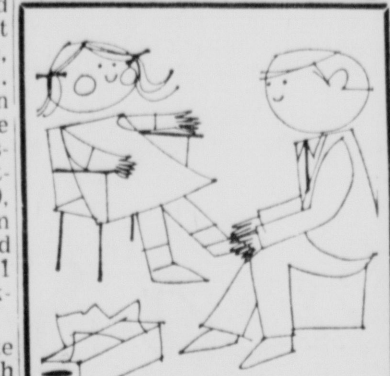

Its administrators are high on Esopus Prep and expect to see it refunded in June. Said Banks, a former director of the Liberty Parks Jobs Corps in Jersey City, and assistant director at Camp Brace in Deposit, run by the State Division of Youth, "I've worked in a lot of

Students Approve

The students seem to like it too. William (Willie) Moore, 20, of Brooklyn, perhaps a typical student, was interviewed. Willie got as far as the ninth grade, worked in various jobs, never making more than $50 a week. He found out about Esopus Prep from a buddy of his in Brooklyn who was a counselor at the school, gave it a try, and will be getting his diploma in January.

Willie hopes to go to college and major in either business or social work. He talked two of his friends from Brooklyn into trying Esopus Prep. Willie says they'll make it, too.

As we were leaving Willie Moore ran up to the car, poked his head in and said, "Mr., when you write our story don't forget our motto, 'Learn Baby Learn.'"

Vestry Apology to LBJ

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — The governing body of Bruton Parish Church has sent an apology to President Johnson for a controversial sermon delivered by the church's pastor Sunday while the President and his family occupied a front pew.

Edward M. Riley, the church's senior warden, said the vestry of the church sent a telegram to the White House Tuesday night expressing regrets over the incident.

The sermon, delivered by the Rev. Dr. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis, rector of the church, challenged Johnson to give a "logical, straightforward explanation" of American policy in Vietnam.

It drew adverse reaction from members of Congress, including Virginia's United States Sens. Harry F. Byrd Jr. and William B. Spong Jr., and resulted in a letter of apology being sent the President by Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr.

Riley would not disclose the actual vote in the vestry, usually made up of 16 members, on the decision to apologize to Johnson. No other action was taken in regards to the incident, he said.

Lewis said today he had no comment to make on the vestry's action. He did say, however, that he regretted "that remarks meant to be helpful and encouraging to the President were grossly misunderstood as being critical."

Place to Store Toys

Toys that brighten a child's life have a way of getting underfoot. Provide youngsters with a large box to store toys. A corrugated paper box from the store will do if you strengthen it with shellac sprayed from an aerosol can.

The relationship works both ways. Says Banks, "These teachers and counselors are an example to the students of what can be accomplished through education. The feeling among the students is, 'they teachers'

Choice of Steel Workers

Major Strike, Mass Layoffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — I. W. Abel, craggy-faced president of the United Steel Workers Union, is under considerable fire in trying to steer his big union past the twin shoals of a major strike or mass layoffs next year.

The center of the controversy is a no-strike plan being discussed with the steel industry at a time when labor militancy and strikes across the nation are at a 15-year high.

"There is a big element of steel union leadership that believes it is nonsensical to give up the right to strike," said one labor source outside Abel's union.

Steel Workers Union aides say Abel is angry at being accused of cozying up to the steel industry—the main issue on which Abel ousted David J. McDonald from the union presidency in a 1965 election.

Abel, who guided the Steel Workers to major contract gains without a strike later the same year, is reportedly undergoing his first major internal union struggle over the no-strike discussions.

The plan, which would submit major contract issues to voluntary but binding arbitration in the event of a bargaining deadlock, is far from approved and the current debate could kill it.

Steel buyers usually build up large inventories before labor negotiations and the result often has been mass layoffs even when there is no strike.

Abel's dilemma, sources say, is trying to balance off the potential losses from a strike against the effects of later layoffs on about 450,000 basic steel workers.

Mental Health Speaker Listed for December 6

Dr. Arniya Chakravarty, professor of philosophy, will speak in the auditorium of the George Washington School in Kingston, Wednesday night, Dec. 6. His topic will be "The Philosophy of Positive Living."

Dr. Chakravarty was educated in India and England. Earlier this year, Dr. Chakravarty traveled extensively and visited the University of Hawaii, the University of Melbourne and Sydney in Australia, Victoria University in New Zealand, and academic centers in Tokyo and Kyoto on a lecture tour which also took him back to India.

In announcing the guest speaker today, Mrs. Harry Gold, education chairman of the Ul-

Convicted Cong Terrorists to Be Executed

SAIGON (AP) — Three convicted Viet Cong terrorists will be executed before dawn Friday, government sources said today.

American officials were reported unhappy about the executions, the first such in more than two years, since in the past the Communists have on two occasions executed American prisoners in reprisal.

The executions are scheduled to take place at Saigon's Chi Hoa prison.

Police sources said those who will die are Bui Van Chieu, Le Minh Chau and Truong Thanh Danh.

All were convicted by the 3rd corps Special Military Court, Chieu in May and the other two in June.

All were sentenced to be shot. A number of times in the past the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese have threatened to execute American prisoners, both those captured in South Vietnam and pilots downed in the North, if the South Vietnamese government executed Viet Cong terrorists.

Two Western New York GIs Killed in Viet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The parents of two Western New York Army privates have been notified that their sons have been killed in action in Vietnam.

Pfc. Robert J. Bickel, 19, an Army paratrooper who volunteered for Vietnam duty while stationed in Panama last year, was killed in action Nov. 6. Mr. and Mrs. Jerome W. Bickel of Rochester said Wednesday. They said Army authorities told them their son died from gunshot wounds suffered in a Vietnam combat mission.

Bickel enlisted in the Army in 1965 and was a graduate of Monroe County High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon D. Laird of Batavia were told that their son Pfc. Richard F. Laird, 20, has been killed in Vietnam, following a report Nov. 10 that he was missing in action.

Laird had been in the battle zone one year when he volunteered for six months of extra duty with an airborne unit.

He was a graduate of Alexander Central School and enlisted in the Army Nov. 1965.

The Bickel address is 75 Jewel St.

The Laird address is 131 Elm St.

September Economic Activity in State Continued at Record

Economic activity in New York State in September continued at the record level attained in August, State Commerce Commissioner Ronald B. Peterson reported today.

Commissioner Peterson also called attention to the fact that unemployment in the State during September was the lowest for the month in the past 10 years, and that the employment rate either declined or held steady in each of the State's seven major labor market areas.

In New York City, he noted, the rate slid to 3.2 per cent in September — a low point for the 1960's. Westchester County hit a new low of 2.7 per cent, while the overall State rate was 3.4 per cent.

The State's preliminary, seasonally adjusted Index of Business Activity, remained at 133 (1957-59=100) in September, to equal the record level reached in August. Over the month, gains were registered in wholesale and retail trade, and in transportation, communication and public utility activity—all seasonally adjusted. Compared with September a year ago, finance, insurance and real estate activity shot up 13 points; transportation, communication and public utilities rose eight points, and retail activity, six.

"Of particular importance to the continuing high level of economic activity in New York State," Commissioner Peterson said, "is the fact that the percentage growth in per capita income between the fourth quarter of 1966 and the second quarter of 1967 exceeded all other states except Arkansas and Colorado."

Personal income in the State in the second quarter of 1967 rose to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $67.9 billion, according to preliminary estimates of the U.S. Department of Commerce. The average weekly earnings of production workers in manufacturing hit a new high of $115.82 in September, as did average hourly earnings at $2.91. Average weekly hours advanced slightly to 39.8 from 39.6 in August.

Construction Sluggish

Total employment in the State was 7,883,000, 35,000 less than in August but 95,000 more than in September 1966, according to the State Department of Labor. Nonagricultural employment was down sharply, due primarily to the New York City teachers' walkout and the Ford strike. However, the September figure of 6,898,000 was 80,000 above that of September a year ago.

Construction still remains a sluggish sector of the State's economy. The seasonally adjusted components of the Index was 93 in September, down one point from August and five points below the level of last September.

The value of construction contracts for the 12 months ended in September totaled $3.8 billion, according to the F. W. Dodge Corporation. This was nine per cent lower than the previous 12 months. However, in the New York Metropolitan Area, total construction contracts were only one per cent below the previous 12 month period, as an increase in nonresidential contracts almost offset the decline in residential building.

Find Cardinal Spellman in Ohio Clinic

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York is undergoing a checkup in Cleveland Clinic.

The 78-year-old prelate was admitted to the clinic Tuesday night under an assumed name, but his presence there became known to newsmen Wednesday night.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James F. Rigney, the cardinal's secretary, said in New York, "There was no emergency, and the hospital visit had been planned in advance." He said the cardinal's visit to the clinic was for a routine five-day checkup.

"The cardinal went to Cleveland Clinic out of a wish for privacy and a desire not to worry his friends," Msgr. Rigney said.

Cardinal Spellman came here from meetings of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops in Washington, D.C., where he was seen Tuesday afternoon and appeared to be in good health.

A spokesman for the clinic said he was permitted to say only that the cardinal was here for a checkup and would remain "several days"—the usual time for such examinations. "I'm sure there is nothing critical," the clinic spokesman added.

In 1964 he underwent a prostate operation at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

As military vicar of the Roman Catholic Church, Cardinal Spellman has visited American troops abroad at Christmas time in World War II, the Korean War and in the Vietnam war. He flew to Vietnam last year and told troops:

"I don't think I'd be able to come back once more, and I doubt if I'll be around next year."

Reputed Aide To Valachi Is Listed Missing

PORT LEE, N.J. (AP) — Ralph Wagner, the 34-year-old ex-cellmate of Joseph Valachi and reputed Cosa Nostra boss Vito Genovese has been missing since Oct. 19, police report.

According to federal authorities, it was Wagner who tipped off Valachi that Genovese planned to have him killed, when the three shared a cell in a federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga.

It was this tip, authorities said, that resulted in Valachi's bludgeoning to death a fellow inmate—the wrong man—in an attempt to save his own life, and to Valachi's subsequent appearance before a Senate committee in 1963.

During the hearings, Valachi told senators that he had received word he had been marked for death by Genovese, who did not like the way he had been acting.

Wagner, who had served a total of 15 years in prison on narcotics, assault and robbery convictions, was believed to have been a muscleman and enforcer for Valachi in the 1950s.

When Valachi started telling the Senate committee about the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate, Wagner was taken from the cell he had shared with Genovese and Valachi and placed in isolation from other inmates.

To members of the organized crime syndicate—unhappy at their sudden and unwelcome attraction of public attention through Valachi's disclosures—the implication was that Wagner tipped off Valachi.

Authorities said however that he subsequently appeared to have gotten back in with the mob.

Shortly after he was released from the penitentiary and returned to his father's home, here, they said, he began to wear flashy clothing and drive big cars—without a known source of income.

He was reported missing by his father on Oct. 29.

Kerhonkson Federated Notes

On Sunday the congregation of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson will hear the Rev. Robert L. Grupe speak on the topic, I Give You Your Life, during the morning worship service at 11 a.m. The Rev. Mr. Grupe is a supply pastor and is also employed as a teacher at Rondout Valley Central High School. This evening the senior choir meets for rehearsal at the church at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in singing with the choir may attend. They are beginning to prepare Christmas music now.

Junior choir meets for rehearsal at the church following school for grades three through eight on Friday.

Ushers for Nov. 19 will be Harold Schwaab, George M. Stockin, Richard Terwilliger, and Hamilton Sherman.

Sunday Church School classes meet from 9:40 a.m. to 10:40 a.m. An adult Bible study class meets at the same hour.

Issues Warning

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Yukio Kitagawa, operations officer of the Sumotoma bank, walked over to two bandits as a frightened clerk handed them $1,000 Wednesday.

"You're being watched," whispered Kitagawa. "You'd better leave."

The hooded man with the $1,000 handed it quickly to Kitagawa, and the two fled empty-handed.

Kitagawa wasn't kidding. The episode was recorded on film.

During the hearings, Valachi told senators that he had received word he had been marked for death by Genovese, who did not like the way he had been acting.

Wagner, who had served a total of 15 years in prison on narcotics, assault and robbery convictions, was believed to have been a muscleman and enforcer for Valachi in the 1950s.

When Valachi started telling the Senate committee about the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate, Wagner was taken from the cell he had shared with Genovese and Valachi and placed in isolation from other inmates.

To members of the organized crime syndicate—unhappy at their sudden and unwelcome attraction of public attention through Valachi's disclosures—the implication was that Wagner tipped off Valachi.

Authorities said however that he subsequently appeared to have gotten back in with the mob.

Shortly after he was released from the penitentiary and returned to his father's home, here, they said, he began to wear flashy clothing and drive big cars—without a known source of income.

He was reported missing by his father on Oct. 29.

Kerhonkson Federated Notes

On Sunday the congregation of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson will hear the Rev. Robert L. Grupe speak on the topic, "I Give You Your Life, during the morning worship service at 11 a.m. The Rev. Mr. Grupe is a supply pastor and is also employed as a teacher at Rondout Valley Central High School. This evening the senior choir meets for rehearsal in the church at 7 p.m. Anyone interested in singing with the choir may attend. They are beginning to prepare Christmas music now.

Junior choir meets for rehearsal at the church following school for grades three through eight on Friday.

Visitors for Nov. 19 will be Harold Schwaab, George M. Stockin, Richard Terwilliger, and Hamilton Sherman.

Sunday Church School classes meet from 9:40 a.m. to 10:40 a.m. An adult Bible study class meets at the same hour.

Issues Warning

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Yukio Kitagawa, operations officer of the Sumotoma bank, walked over to two bandits as a frightened clerk handed them $1,000 Wednesday.

"You're being watched," whispered Kitagawa. "You'd better leave."

The hooded man with the $1,000 handed it quickly to Kitagawa, and the two fled empty-handed.

Kitagawa wasn't kidding. The episode was recorded on film.

Twenty-One Troops In Girl Scout Field Day

Twenty-one of the twenty-six Girl Scout troops of the Saugerties Neighborhood recently held an outdoor field day at the Flatbush Reformed Church grounds.

Brownies went for walks with their leaders and gathered dried materials for fall bouquets. Later they gathered leaves to press or material for terrariums.

The Junior Girl Scouts learned lashing, trail blazing and whittling. The Cadettes also learned lashing and axmanship.

The Senior Girl Scout troop was present to help Brownie and Junior troops who were new to scouting and needed assistance with fire building and other skills.

All troops enjoyed lunches of stew, soup or spaghetti prepared over open fires. Before leaving all girls and leaders joined in singing scout songs led by Mrs. Robert Wright.

The planning committee for the day consisted of Mrs. Richard Holmes, chairman; Mrs. P. J. Bjornseth, Brownie advisor; Mrs. Robert Wright, Junior advisor; Mrs. Gerald Kurtz, Cadette advisor; and Sharon Hoffman, Senior Girl Scout.

Program consultants were Mrs. Lee North for lashing and axmanship and William Poythress for whittling.

Awards, Campout Chamber Needs Money for Yule Lighting

Boy Scout Troop 130, Trinity Episcopal Church, held a court of honor recently at which the following received awards.

Two boys were welcomed into the troop, Sal Misasi and Richard Polensky. They were former members of Troop 130.

Saturday tenderfoot badges were awarded Dean Timmer, Richard Lorenz, Joseph Juliano and John Magee.

The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens memory trees are at the C. A. Lynch Hose Company on Hill Street and at the Ellen Russell Finger Home at the corner of Ulster Avenue and Market Street.

After Thanksgiving these trees will be lighted with bulbs placed in memory of loved ones and friends.

The project is not limited to Garden Club members. All who wish to place a bulb on the trees may do so by leaving at Beadles Pharmacy on Main Street, their name, the names of the persons for whom the light is placed on the tree, and one dollar for each name or by calling or writing to one of the committee: Mrs. John Whritenor, Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, Mrs. Francis Lawless, Miss Jane Ziegler.

Troopers said the girl may be in company of two white men and a woman. The four may be traveling in a 1956 Cadillac painted pink with a black top.

The registration of the vehicle is not known to authorities.

The girl was identified as Diane Race of Philmont. Description of the missing girl notes she is 5 feet, 6 inches tall; weighs 140 pounds, dark blonde hair, blue eyes. When last seen she was wearing brown rimmed eyeglasses, black shirt, brown plaid skirt, brown shoes and a red coat.

State Police requests anyone who may know the whereabouts of the girl, or who sees the pink 1956 car, to notify them immediately at the Claverack barracks or the nearest police office.

Have Portrait Sketched at VFW Yule Sale

Quick portrait sketches and a day long demonstration of liquid embroidery are two of the features of the VFW Christmas Sale on Thursday and Friday in the former Delson building, Main and Partition Streets. Doors open at 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Stockings for wearing and filling, holiday aprons, and tree ornaments are a few of many items for sale.

Mrs. Maxine Windgate of Bearsville will do her sketches in 15 minute sittings from 11 to 3 each day. Children and teenagers are her specialties. For a nominal fee, a unique Christmas gift can be had, the auxiliary states.

Twenty-One Troops In Girl Scout Field Day

Twenty-one of the twenty-six Girl Scout troops of the Saugerties Neighborhood recently held an outdoor field day at the Flatbush Reformed Church grounds.

Brownies went for walks with their leaders and gathered dried materials for fall bouquets. Later they gathered leaves to press or material for terrariums.

The Junior Girl Scouts learned lashing, trail blazing and whittling. The Cadettes also learned lashing and axmanship.

The Senior Girl Scout troop was present to help Brownie and Junior troops who were new to scouting and needed assistance with fire building and other skills.

All troops enjoyed lunches of stew, soup or spaghetti prepared over open fires. Before leaving all girls and leaders joined in singing scout songs led by Mrs. Robert Wright.

The planning committee for the day consisted of Mrs. Richard Holmes, chairman; Mrs. P. J. Bjornseth, Brownie advisor; Mrs. Robert Wright, Junior advisor; Mrs. Gerald Kurtz, Cadette advisor; and Sharon Hoffman, Senior Girl Scout.

Program consultants were Mrs. Lee North for lashing and axmanship and William Poythress for whittling.

Two boys were welcomed into the troop, Sal Misasi and Richard Polensky. They were former members of Pack 130.

Last Friday, the boys went on a weekend campout at East Jewett under the leadership of Scoutmaster John Gade and assistant Scoutmaster Richard Shultis.

Saturday tenderfoot badges were awarded Dean Timmer, Richard Lorenz, Joseph Juliano and John Magee.

Memory Tree To Be Lighted

The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens memory trees are at the C. A. Lynch Hose Company on Hill Street and at the Ellen Russell Finger Home at the corner of Ulster Avenue and Market Street.

After Thanksgiving these trees will be lighted with bulbs placed in memory of loved ones and friends.

The project is not limited to Garden Club members. All who wish to place a bulb on the trees may do so by leaving at Beadles Pharmacy on Main Street, their name, the names of the persons for whom the light is placed on the tree, and one dollar for each name or by calling or writing to one of the committee: Mrs. John Whitener, Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, Mrs. Francis Lawless, Miss Jane Ziegler.

Have Portrait Sketched at VFW Yule Sale

Quick portrait sketches and a day long demonstration of liquid embroidery are two of the features of the VFW Christmas Sale on Thursday and Friday in the former Delson building, Main and Partition Streets. Doors open at 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Stockings for wearing and filling, holiday aprons, and tree ornaments are a few of many items for sale.

Mrs. Maxine Windgate of Bearsville will do her sketches in 15-minute sittings from 11 to 3 each day. Children and teenagers are her specialties. For a nominal fee, a unique Christmas gift can be had, the auxiliary states.

Funds derived will be used in the hospital and rehabilitation work of the Ladies Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW.

Nursery School Fund Raising Dinner Dec. 1

Saugerties Community Day Nursery School will sponsor a fund raising spaghetti dinner Friday, Dec. 1. The family style meal will include spaghetti and meat balls. Dinner will be served in the parish hall of the Saugerties Reformed Church on John Street from five until seven. Tickets may be purchased at the Saugerties Reformed Church office, Eddie's Delicatessen, Charles Fous, and from any of the parents of the nursery school children.

All funds raised will be used to purchase equipment and to meet financial obligations of the school. The nursery school will be open to all visitors during dinner hour. Miss May Evans, director of pupil personnel of the Saugerties Central Schools, will be on hand at the school, to answer all questions about the Community Day Nursery and the value of pre-school education.

County Planner, GOP Speaker

Richard Jacob, acting director of the Ulster County Planning Board, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Town of Saugerties Republican Club to be held Thursday, Nov. 16, 8 p.m., at Ye Old Quarry House, Route 32, Quarryville. Jacob will discuss the purpose of the planning board and plans for future development of Ulster County, according to club president, George Turner.

Is Promoted To IBM Post as Senior Engineer

The promotion of Patrick J. McGuire to senior engineer in the Airlines Systems area has been announced by IBM Kingston.

In his new position, McGuire will be responsible for directing the systems design and evaluation for custom airline systems.

McGuire joined IBM in July 1957 as a systems test engineer in Memory Test at Kingston. One year later, he was named an associate engineer in Computer Design. He was promoted to staff engineer in Air Traffic Control Support at Atlantic City, N. J. in January 1961, and to project engineer in that area in early 1963. McGuire returned to Kingston in 1963 as a project engineer in Data Acquisition Systems, and was promoted to development engineer in March 1964. He was assigned to Airlines Systems and Engineering in March 1967, a post he has held until his present promotion. McGuire is a graduate of Catholic University, Washington, D. C., where he received a bachelor of science degree in physics. He, his wife Patricia, sons Patrick and William, and daughter Deanna, reside in Saugerties.

Ailment Fells Native Dancer

KENNETT SQUARE, Pa. (AP) — Thoroughbred race horse Native Dancer, whose only loss in 22 races in the 1953 Kentucky Derby, died today after an operation for a blocked intestine.

Native Dancer, one of racing's best-known horses, was owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt. He died at the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary Hospital, a hospital spokesman said. The spokesman said Native Dancer became ill on Tuesday and was brought to Penn's New Bolton animal center here Wednesday night.

Native Dancer, who won $785,000 during his career, was retired to stud at Sugerme Farms, near Baltimore in 1954.

His $20,000 stud fee was the highest in the world for a privately owned stallion. His offspring, which include Kauai King, a Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, have won over $4 million up to this year.

Caldor Appoints 2 Retailers to Executive Posts

The appointments by Caldor of two retailers with many years of experience to important executive positions for that discount department store chain have been announced.

Saul Zusman has been named divisional merchandising manager, and Richard Snyder, domestic buyer for Caldor.

Zusman, who has had an extensive retail career, was formerly a buyer and then assistant merchandising manager at G. Fox in Hartford, Conn., and also was a buyer with Kennedy's.

A graduate of Boston College, Zusman also attended the Harvard School of Business Administration. He is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force during the Second World War, is married, has two children, and lives in West Hartford, Conn.

Snyder comes to Caldor from a nationally known retail store where he was domestic buyer for the last six years.

A graduate of Boston University, Mr. Snyder holds a degree in business administration. He is presently a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve. Snyder is married, the father of three children, and is a resident of Orangeburg, New York.

50 Executives Attend Seminar At Walgreen's

Fifty top executives from leading railroad, trucking, airline and steamship lines throughout the U. S. and Puerto Rico convened at Walgreen Drug Stores' Chicago headquarters recently to take part in the firm's 4th Annual Transportation Seminar, aimed at better understanding between carriers and retail shippers.

They studied first-hand many phases of Walgreen's warehousing and shipping activities, and its future plans.

"There's a need for closer communication between retail shipper and carriers," said Robert G. Smith, Walgreen's Director of Physical Distribution, who led the Seminar. "A heart-to-heart discussion like this iron's out a lot of problems."

"The retailers' main frontier today in maintaining low consumer prices is in moving products from manufacturer to point of sale with maximum efficiency at minimum cost."

Smith reported a 150 per cent growth in Walgreen's physical distribution operations in tonnage of merchandise handled within the past ten years. He pointed out that Walgreen's is taking every advantage of automated warehousing procedures and electronic data processing to keep distribution costs to a minimum.

Walgreen's Transportation Seminars have been hailed by the distribution industry for helping pioneer closer communication between carriers and all of retailing.

Opens New Shop-Rite

The new Shop Rite at Florham Park, the second store owned and operated by Carmen Kursino and Sal Davino, opened recently in that New Jersey community. Bruce Stauffer is manager.

Further promoting its one-stop shopping theme, the Florham Park Shop Rite will carry a wide selection of housewares and non-food products. The store has 14,000 square feet of selling space and parking for hundreds of cars.

Victory Markets Notes Dividends

Directors of the Victory Markets Inc. meeting on Nov. 10, declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 10 cents per share payable on Dec. 15, 1967 to stockholders of record as of Nov. 21, 1967.

Charles A. Smith, chairman of the Board and treasurer, reported new sales records. Sales for forty-three weeks, 1967 were $59,676,950.46, which was an increase of $5,004,360.55, or 9.2 per cent over the same period in 1966.

This will be the 235th dividend and is the 59th consecutive year of continuous dividends for the corporation.

The expansion program of the company is proceeding on schedule. Two new Victory supermarkets have been opened this year.

Dividend Voted By Directors of Rotron Company

Stockholders of Rotron Manufacturing Company, Inc., at the annual meeting recently held at the general offices of the company re-elected directors for another term. At the annual meeting of the Board, J. Constant van Rijn was re-elected president.

Directors elected for a new term were J. C. van Rijn, Christiane van Rijn, G. Edward Kattel, Houston E. Landis Jr., and William C. Miller. Kattel is the executive vice president of Marine Midland Grace Trust Company of New York, and Miller is a partner of W. E. Hutton & Co., investment brokers in that city.

Other officers of the Board of Directors elected for new terms were: Houston E. Landis Jr., executive vice president and treasurer; Paul M. Beard, vice president, sales; Alexander Hosack, vice president, engineering; Charles E. Raible, vice president, manufacturing; William J. McGuire, vice president, Rotron Controls Division; O. A. Vanden Dooren, secretary and assistant treasurer; Christiane van Rijn, assistant secretary; Edwin Ward, assistant treasurer.

In recognition of the earnings and continued growth of the company, the Board of Directors also declared a stock dividend of five per cent on the outstanding common stock of the company to stockholders of record on Nov. 13, 1967. The dividend is payable on Dec. 4, 1967.

Ferroxcube Shows New Memory System

A new coincident current core memory system, FI-1, featuring the same random access characteristics and non-volatile storage capability of larger core memories, but also capable of serial operation for data transmission and CRT refresh applications will be exhibited by Ferroxcube Corporation at the Fall Joint Computer Conference (FJCC), Ferroxcube will be exhibiting at Booths 104-106 during the FJCC at the Anaheim Convention Center, Anaheim, Calif., Nov. 14-16.

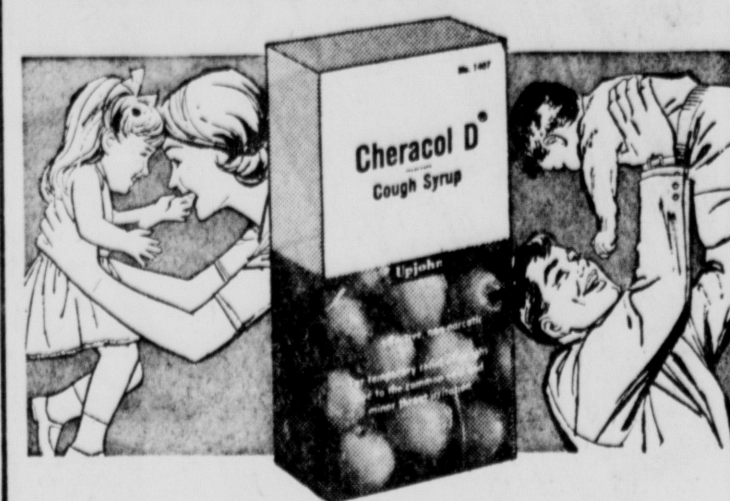

The new memory system, manufactured at Ferroxcube's System Division, Englewood, Colorado, is said to be the lowest-priced, small capacity coincident current system on the market today. Model FI-1 is designed to be competitive with other forms of storage normally used for economical low capacity requirements such as flip-flops, shift registers, relays, MOS transistors and delay lines.

New Grand Union

A new Triple-S Blue Stamp Redemption center was opened recently adjacent to a Grand Union-Stevens supermarket in South Miami, Fla. Mayor Clyde Taylor cut the ribbon at opening ceremonies, and on opening day each visitor received 30 free Blue Stamps. Modernized facilities for Blue Stamp savers are provided in the new Center.

Some ferns are so small they look like moss, while large ferns of South America and the Pacific islands may grow 40 feet tall.

Season for Feasting

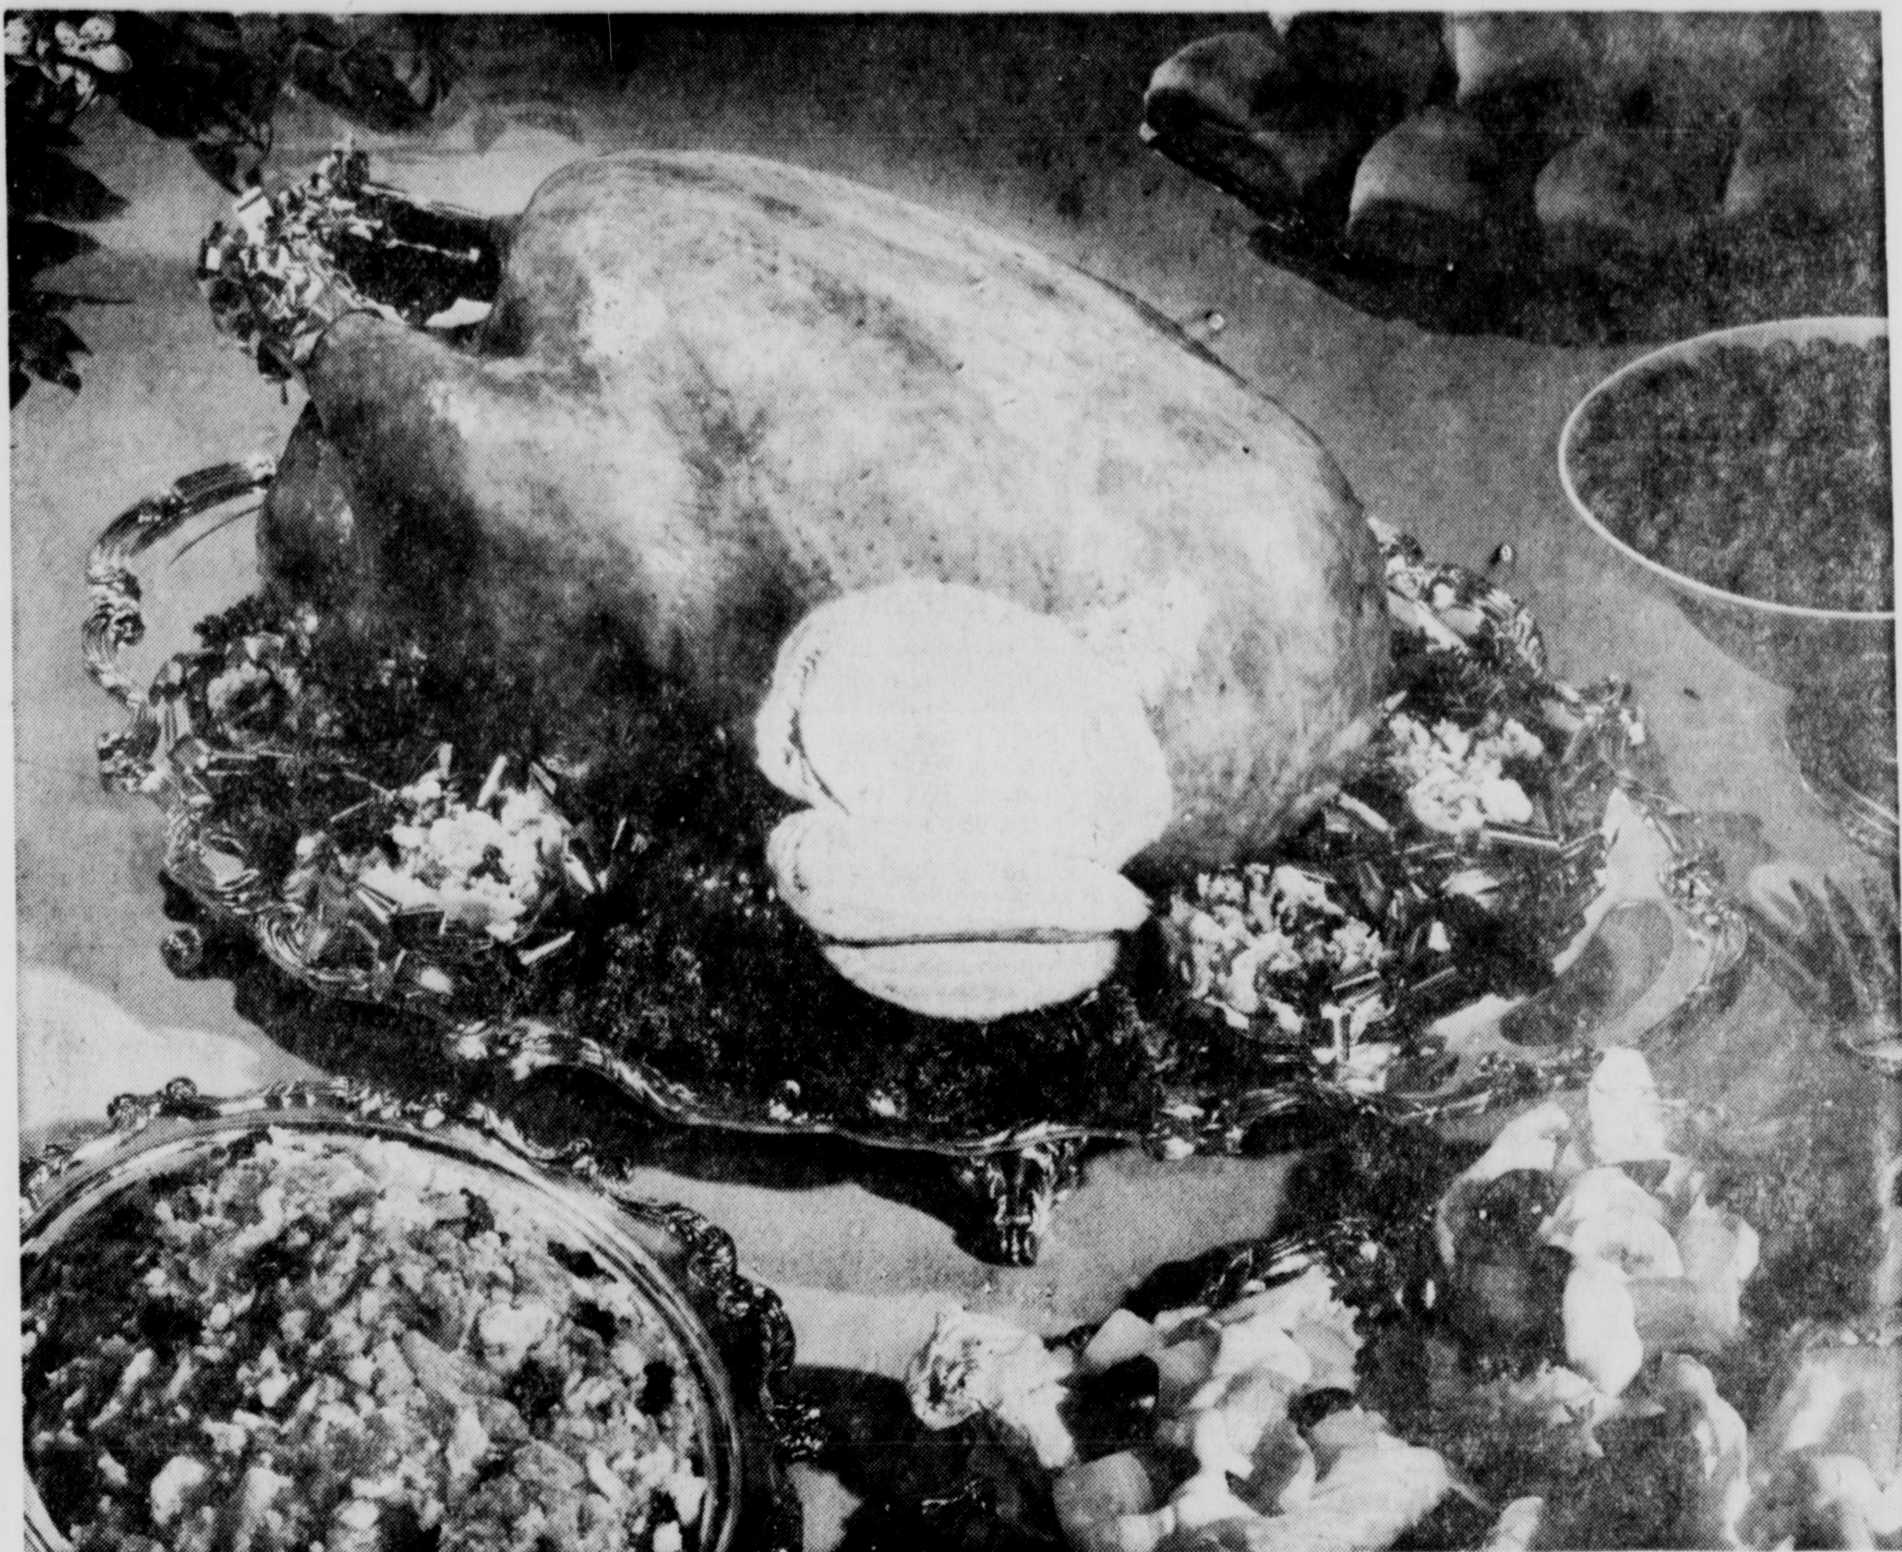

BY: DOROTHY A. NAREL
WOMAN'S PAGE EDITOR

Every family loves traditions, and some of the nicest ones are built around holiday feasting. Who can imagine Thanksgiving dinner, for instance, without a perfectly-browned roast turkey gracing a festively-set table? Who does not remember the mounting anticipation that grows as that mouth-watering aroma of a savory turkey fills the house.

We honor the tradition when featuring turkey during the holiday season. But why not branch out a bit and try some new recipes as you plan your menus. Introduce a brand new stuffing, richly flavored with chopped prunes and oranges and crunchy with nuts. You'll love its-out-of-the-ordinary flavor. Then serve colorful, juicy-sweet fruit salad in cups of crisp western iceberg lettuce—always a favorite. Choose your family's most liked vegetables, add crisp rolls—and then bow to custom by ending with your own special pumpkin pie.

For another meal, you might try boneless sliced turkey from your holiday bird, if you are lucky enough to have some left. Or buy one of the simple-to-cook boneless turkey roasts to provide delicious turkey slices with practically no effort on your part. Blushing Pear Salad, served on rafts of iceberg lettuce, is easy and swift for serving buffet style. The delicate flavor of canned pears is accented with a tangy relish. Vegetables of your choice and crisp rolls fill out the main course of dinner. And for dessert there's a holiday-rich Prune-Eggnog Pie.

Do try some of these new ideas. You just may start a new "tradition" for your family's holiday menus.

Golden Roast Turkey

1. Thaw turkey according to directions on bag, or place in refrigerator for two to four days depending on size of bird. Allow 24 hours for each five pounds. Turkey may also be left overnight at room temperature or thawed more quickly by immersing in lukewarm tap water. Leave turkey in its plastic bag while thawing.
2. Prepare Prune-Orange Stuffing. Lightly stuff neck cavity; fasten neck skin to back of turkey with skewer. Stuff body cavity, being careful not to pack, since stuffing expands during cooking. Tuck legs under band of skin at tail or tie with string. Place in shallow roasting pan.
3. Bend wing tips under body or fasten wings to body, using skewers or string. Brush turkey with melted butter. Insert roast meat thermometer.
4. Roast in preheated 325 degree F. oven according to timetable:

Ready-to-Cook Weight Pounds	Approximate Time Hours
6 to 8	3 to 3½
8 to 12	3½ to 4½
12 to 16	4½ to 5½
16 to 20	5½ to 6½
20 to 24	6½ to 7

5. Roast until thermometer, inserted into thickest part of breast or thigh muscle (not touching bone), registers 185 degrees F. or thickest part of drumstick feels soft when pressed between protected fingers and leg joint moves freely when drumstick is twisted. Brush occasionally with additional butter or pan drippings. After the bird has lightly browned, cover with a loose tent of heavy duty foil. This prevents overbrowning and helps to keep the bird moist and juicy.
6. Transfer turkey to heated platter; cover tightly with aluminum foil. Allow to stand about 20 minutes to absorb the juices and make for easier carving. Prepare gravy from drippings. Garnish with remaining Prune-Orange Stuffing baked in small individual foil containers.

Menu -- 1

Chilled Cranberry Juice
Golden Roast Turkey

- 1 large head western iceberg lettuce

1. Core, rinse, drain lettuce and store in plastic bag in refrigerator.
2. When ready to serve, set aside enough large leaves for individual lettuce cups. Cut remainder of head in bite-size chunks and toss lightly together with prepared fruits.
3. Fill lettuce cups with salad mixture and serve with Fluffy Fruit Dressing. Serves 8.

Prune-Orange Stuffing

- 2 (6½ oz.) bags cornbread stuffing
- 24 pitted and chopped prunes
- 2 oranges, peeled and chopped
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 cup (2 sticks) butter, melted
- 1 cup orange juice

1. Combine stuffing with fruit, celery, and nuts. Blend in butter.
2. Add orange juice and mix thoroughly but lightly. Will stuff a 14 to 16 pound turkey.

Fluffy Fruit Dressing

- ½ cup sugar
- 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup fruit juice (pineapple or orange)
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ cup whipping cream

1. Blend sugar, cornstarch, and salt in small saucepan. Gradually stir in fruit juice.
2. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils 1 minute.
3. Remove from heat, add lemon juice, chill.
4. Just before serving, whip cream, fold into dressing. Makes about 1½ cups.

Calico Corn Bread Stuffing

- 1 8 oz. pkg. corn bread stuffing
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup pimiento strips

Prepare stuffing according to package directions. Meanwhile saute celery, green pepper in butter 5 minutes. Stir in pimiento strips. Combine with stuffing. Place in 1 quart casserole and bake, covered, last 30 minutes of roasting time. Yield: 6 servings.

Tasty Boneless Turkey Roast

1. Thaw turkey roll according to directions on package. Leave strings intact. Wipe with damp paper towel; brush with melted butter; sprinkle with salt and pepper.
2. Insert roast meat thermometer into center of roast. Place in shallow pan.
3. Roast in preheated 325 degree F. oven according to Timetable for Boneless Turkey Roast.

Ready-to-Cook Weight Pounds	Approximate Time Hours
3 to 5	2½ to 3
5 to 7	3 to 3½
7 to 9	3½ to 4

4. Roast until thermometer registers 185 degrees F. Brush occasionally with melted butter or pan drippings.

Prune Eggnog Pie

- ½ cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cups milk
- 4 eggs, separated
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup finely chopped cooked prunes
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell
- Whipped cream
- Whole cooked, pitted prunes for garnish

1. Blend sugar, flour, nutmeg, and salt in medium-size saucepan. Gradually stir in milk, mixing until smooth.
2. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils one minute; remove from heat.
3. Beat egg yolks slightly; gradually stir half of hot mixture into egg yolks, then, stirring constantly, blend egg yolk mixture into hot milk mixture.
4. Cook, stirring constantly, about 1 minute, or until mixture is thick but does not boil.
5. Sprinkle gelatin over cold water. When softened, stir into hot filling.
6. Fold in vanilla and chopped prunes.
7. Cool in refrigerator until thick and cold but not set.
8. Beat egg whites with ¼ cup sugar until stiff peaks form when beater is raised. Fold into cooled pie filling.
9. Pour into pie shell. Chill at least 2 hours to set before serving.
10. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream and whole prunes. Serves 6 to 8.

Blushing Pear Salad

- 2 medium heads western iceberg lettuce
- 8 canned pear halves, drained
1. Core, rinse, and drain lettuce and store in plastic bag in refrigerator.
2. When ready to serve, cut crosswise slices of lettuce about 1 inch thick.
3. Place canned pear half, cut side up, on each lettuce raft. (Cut a slice of pear from rounded side if necessary to keep pear from tipping.)
4. Fill centers of pears with cranberry-citrus relish (of use whole cranberry sauce if you prefer). Pile cream cheese cubes beside pear.
5. Serve with Sour Cream Dressing. Serves 8.

Mincemeat-Pumpkin Pie

Pumpkin Filling

- 3½ cups (1 lb. 13 oz. can) pumpkin
- ¾ cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon salt

To prepare Crust: Into a bowl sift together flour and salt. Cut in butter and lard until mixture resembles small peas. Sprinkle water over flour mixture, 1 tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly with fork after each addition. Gather up dough with fingers; shape into ball. Divide dough into 2 portions. On lightly floured board flatten dough slightly and roll ⅛-inch thick into circle 1-inch larger than diameter of pie plate. Ease each portion into 9-inch pie plates, build up rim around pie plates, flute edges. To prepare Filling: In a bowl combine pumpkin and brown sugar. Blend in

- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon mace
- ½ teaspoon cloves
- 6 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2½ cups evaporated milk

cinnamon, salt, ginger, nutmeg, mace and cloves. Mix in eggs; gradually stir in evaporated milk. Pour 4 cups pumpkin mixture into each pie shell. Bake in pre-heated 400 degree oven 40-45 minutes or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. To prepare Topping: In a bowl stir together mincemeat and walnuts. Spread 1 cup of mixture on each pie when removed from oven. Cool on wire rack. Top each serving with a dollop of whipped cream. Makes 2 pies.

Note: Mincemeat topping may be omitted and pumpkin pie served with sweetened whipped cream.

Glazed Onion—Mums on Apple Slices

- Yield: 5 servings
- 5 medium-sized onions
- 3 cups ice water
- 3 large apples

To Make Onion-Chrysanthemums: Peel and cut the top of medium-sized onions. Use a sharp knife to cut down through the onion almost to the bottom to make ¼ inch slices. Cut crosswise in the same way to make ¼ inch squares. Keep onion in the original round shape. Place cut-side down in ice water. Refrigerate overnight. Onions will blossom like flower petals.

Mincemeat Topping

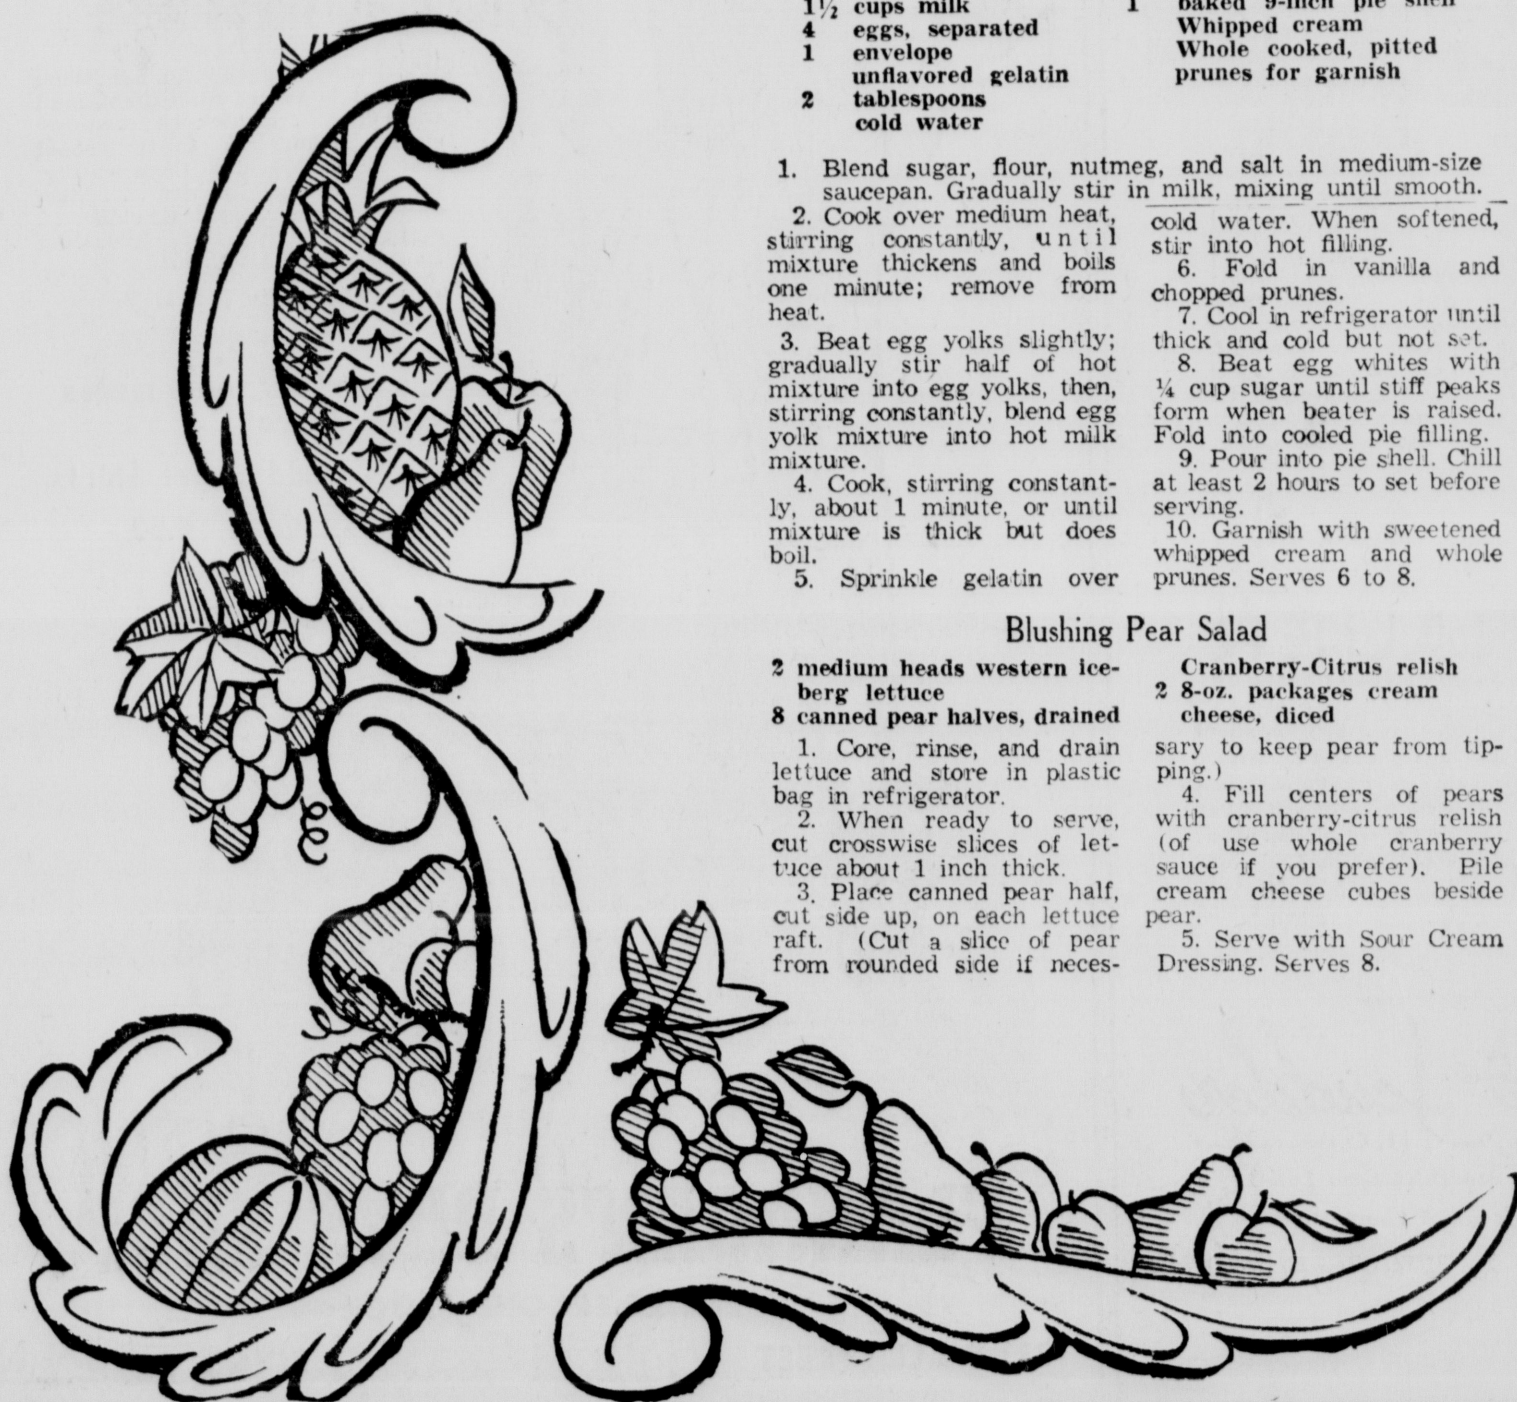

- 1 jar (1 lb. 4 oz.) mincemeat
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- Crust:
- 1½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter
- ¼ cup lard
- 3-4 tablespoons water

Remove. Drain on absorbent paper. To Make Glazed Mums on Apple Slices: Wash and core apples. Cut into ½ inch slices. Dip apple slices into lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Place apple slices in baking dish. Top with onion mums which have been dotted with butter. Meanwhile, heat sugar and water in sauce pan to boiling. Pour syrup over onions and apples. Cover.

Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) for 25 minutes until onions and apples become tender. Baste occasionally with syrup during baking time. Remove cover. Continue to bake for 15 minutes, basting frequently. If desired, place under broiler heat 2 to 3 minutes to brown tips of onion mums. Serve on turkey platter.

Season for Feasting

WOMAN'S PAGE EDITOR

Every family loves traditions, and some of the nicest ones are built around holiday feasting. Who can imagine Thanksgiving dinner, for instance, without a perfectly-browned roast turkey gracing a festively-set table? Who does not remember the mounting anticipation that grows as that mouth-watering aroma of a savory turkey fills the house.

We honor the tradition when featuring turkey during the holiday season. But why not branch out a bit and try some new recipes as you plan your menus. Introduce a brand new stuffing, richly flavored with chopped prunes and oranges and crunchy with nuts. You'll love its-out-of-the-ordinary flavor. Then serve colorful, juicy-sweet fruit salad in cups of crisp western iceberg lettuce—always a favorite. Choose your family's most liked vegetables, add crisp rolls—and then bow to custom by ending with your own special pumpkin pie.

For another meal, you might try boneless sliced turkey from your holiday bird, if you are lucky enough to have some left. Or buy one of the simple-to-cook boneless turkey roasts to provide delicious turkey slices with practically no effort on your part. Blushing Pear Salad, served on rafts of iceberg lettuce, is easy and swift for serving buffet style. The delicate flavor of canned pears is accented with a tangy relish. Vegetables of your choice and crisp rolls fill out the main course of dinner. And for dessert there's a holiday-rich Prune-Eggnog Pie.

Do try some of these new ideas. You just may start a new "tradition" for your family's holiday menus.

Golden Roast Turkey

1. Thaw turkey according to directions on bag, or place in refrigerator for two to four days depending on size of bird. Allow 24 hours for each five pounds. Turkey may also be left overnight at room temperature or thawed more quickly by immersing in lukewarm tap water. Leave turkey in its plastic bag while thawing.
 2. Prepare Prune-Orange Stuffing. Lightly stuff neck cavity; fasten neck skin to back of turkey with skewer. Stuff body cavity, being careful not to pack, since stuffing expands during cooking. Tuck legs under band of skin at tail or tie with string. Place in shallow roasting pan.
 3. Bend wing tips under body or fasten wings to body using skewers or string. Brush turkey with melted butter. Insert roast meat thermometer.
 4. Roast in preheated 325 degree F. oven according to timetable:
- | Ready-to-Cook Weight Pounds | Approximate Time Hours |
|-----------------------------|------------------------|
| 6 to 8 | 3 to 3½ |
| 8 to 12 | 3½ to 4½ |
| 12 to 16 | 4½ to 5½ |
| 16 to 20 | 5½ to 6½ |
| 20 to 24 | 6½ to 7 |
5. Roast until thermometer, inserted into thickest part of breast or thigh muscle (not touching bone), registers 185 degrees F. or thickest part of drumstick feels soft when pressed between protected fingers and leg joint moves freely when drumstick is twisted. Brush occasionally with additional butter or pan drippings. After the bird has lightly browned, cover with a loose tent of heavy duty foil. This prevents overbrowning and helps to keep the bird moist and juicy.
 6. Transfer turkey to heated platter; cover tightly with aluminum foil. Allow to stand about 20 minutes to absorb the juices and make for easier carving. Prepare gravy from drippings. Garnish with remaining Prune-Orange Stuffing baked in small individual foil containers.

New C of C Service Is Inaugurated With State BPW Membership Meeting

With the presentation of 150 conventioners' portfolios to the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club this week, the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce inaugurated a new service to the community.

The folders, prepared in the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at 17 Albany Avenue, were presented to the Ulster County BPW for distribution to the participants in this weekend's state-wide membership conference being hosted by the local club. Activities get underway this evening with a reception at the Governor Clinton Hotel. State and national officers of the BPW will be in attendance. All-day workshop sessions, luncheon and dinner are scheduled for Saturday with summations on Sunday.

The folder given to the Ulster County BPW was designed by the Chamber's Tourist Convention and Promotion Committee to provide convention visitors to Kingston with basic information and aids to make their stay more meaningful.

Chamber Executive Vice President Peter O. Allen, noted that similar portfolios will be prepared by the Chamber for any group hosting a regional or state-wide meeting here in Kingston. For further information, local representatives of such organizations are urged to contact Mr. Allen at the Chamber office.

Materials in the portfolio included a recreation and touring brochure of Ulster County, an abbreviated map of the City of Kingston showing the principal streets and facilities location, a brief narrative and pictorial guide to the Kingston area giving an outline of its history and comprehensive shoppers guide, listing all members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce according to the business classifications.

Legion Auxiliary Requests Christmas Items for Vets, 'Operation Gift Shop'

Members of Kingston Post No. 150, American Legion Auxiliary, are joining their counterparts throughout the country and state in formulating plans to staff the gift shop counters at the Albany Veterans Hospital.

Auxiliary officials said the 16th annual "Operation Gift Shop" is to provide hospitalized veterans an opportunity to send their loved ones some little memento at Christmas. Mrs. June Murphy, local rehabilitation chairman said there are some 1,000 hospitalized veterans in the Albany Hospital at this time and Auxiliaries throughout the state must provide a large number of gifts. Due to this fact the local Auxiliary must solicit the aid of the general public. Anyone wishing to donate to such a worthy cause contact Auxiliary members or leave their gifts at the Memorial Building, 18 West O'Reilly Street. Only new gifts suitable as Christmas gifts can be accepted. Also cosmetics, candy, food or anything that is perishable or breakable cannot be accepted. Gifts received will be placed on display in the hospital recreation room for the open house on December 3rd. Auxiliary units from Ulster County will be at the hospital on Monday, Dec. 4th, to assist with the gift wrapping of the gifts.

Auxiliary officials request all those intending to make the trip to Albany for the wrapping operation, be at the 3rd floor recreation room on December 4th at 9 a.m. Auxiliary hat or hospital workers uniform should be worn while working on the project. Anyone wishing to donate to the cause is requested to send his or her contributions to the Unit Rehabilitation Chairman or leave them at the Memorial Building in West O'Reilly Street before Friday, Nov. 24th.

note paper, pen and pencil were included. Chamber President S. James Matthews expressed his great appreciation to the several Kingston area banks.

Clove Valley Group Will Host Actors Saturday at 9 P.M.

Clove Valley Theatre, High Falls, will host a group of actors from the Broadway stage on Saturday at 9 p.m. in Canada Joe's Cabaret.

Scenes from Broadway plays, musical comedy skits, poetry and opera will highlight the evening.

A scene from William Saroyan's, "The Time of Your Life," will be shown as a sneak preview as the play will be presented at the theatre during the first week of December.

Liz Lamkin, well known for her live performances at Cabaret, will sing several numbers from opera classics. Marion Paone, Lucy Neilson, Tom Lloyd, all veterans of the stage, will lend their talents to the event. Bill LaVoie and Canada Joe will also perform.

the hair to let those pink ears shine through. Then, as is fashion's paradoxical way, it has become stylish to cover them up, or at least dress them up to be worth looking at.

At any rate everything is hung on the ears these days, including the chandeliers. It did appear for awhile that women's ears would become as droopy as a hound dog's if some people did not come to the rescue. Hence engin-earring.

There has been another hang-up. Some women don't have enough lobe area to attach earrings to. Besides, earrings hurt, cause headaches, fall off, get lost. All these are more reasons for engin-earring.

Now we have new ways to attach earrings to their proper places. Participating manufacturers in the Great Designs in Jewelry Awards program have created some items of particular splendor which completely ignore the lobes.

Everybody can wear the hoop earring. It is a circle which comes to a rounded off stop before closing up. This is secured in the shell of the ear.

There are also wingbacks. A small piece on the back of the earring sets in the ear and the wingback balances and holds it in place. This design is perfect for the button type or for luxurious drop earrings.

For the really elaborate, and weighty earring that dangles on the shoulder, there is a special design. You just tie one on, around the ear.

One earring has become a style of pirates, hippies, some individualist millionaires, and women who have lost the other things that fits around the earring. Stanley Hagler designs ear shell.

This Season It's the Decorated Ear—One or Two

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Now we have engin ears. Maybe you just call them jewelry designers. But that title isn't enough; not for all the rocks and baubles hung on ears lately.

With short hair and short skirts, this has been the year of the decorated ear. Coiffurists are all for cutting windows in

Clove Valley Group Will Host Actors Saturday at 9 P.M.

Clove Valley Theatre, High Falls, will host a group of actors from the Broadway stage on Saturday at 9 p.m. in Canada Joe's Cabaret.

Scenes from Broadway plays, musical comedy skits, poetry and opera will highlight the evening.

A scene from William Saroyan's, "The Time of Your Life," will be shown as a sneak preview as the play will be presented at the theatre during the first week of December.

Liz Lamkin, well known for her fine performances at Cabaret, will sing several numbers from opera classics. Marion Paone, Lucy Neilson, Tom Lloyd, all veterans of the stage, will lend their talents to the event. Bill LaVoie and Canada Joe will also perform.

Attend Parley

Arnold Gottesman, guidance coordinator, and Harold Ross, Social Studies Coordinator, will represent the Rondout Valley Central School District and comprise part of the Ulster County delegation to the House of Delegates, New York State Teachers Association convention, to be held in Rochester Nov. 18-21. The convention is held annually to support, propose and recommend legislation, in or pertaining to the field of education, for presentation to the New York State

the hair to let those pink ears shine through. Then, as is fashion's paradoxical way, it has become stylish to cover them up, or at least dress them up to be worth looking at.

At any rate everything is hung on the ears these days, including the chandeliers. It did appear for awhile that women's ears would become as droopy as hound dogs' if some people did not come to the rescue. Hence engin-earring.

There has been another hang up. Some women don't have enough lobe area to attach earrings. Besides, earrings hurt, cause headaches, fall off, get lost. All these are more reasons for engin-earring.

Now we have new ways to attach earrings to their proper places. Participating manufacturers in the Great Designs in Jewelry Awards program have created some items of particular splendor which completely ignore the lobes.

Everybody can wear the hoop earring. It is a circle which comes to a rounded off stop before closing up. This is secured in the shell of the ear.

There are also wingbacks. A small piece on the back of the earring sets in the ear and the wingback balances and holds it in place. This design is perfect for the button type or for luxurious drop earrings.

For the really elaborate, and weighty earring that dangles on the shoulder, there is a special design. You just tie one on, around the ear.

One earring has become a style of pirates, hippies, some individualist millionaires, and women who have lost the other earring. Stanley Hagler designs ear shell.

Tales of Days of Wine and Roses

BY SHARON MCEACHERN
Wichita Eagle Staff Writer

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The doors are locked. The blinds are pulled tight. The telephone rings go unanswered.

The woman inside doesn't go out very often. She seldom eats. She can't sleep well. She has hallucinations. When she does fall asleep, she wakes up in a cold sweat ... with the "shakes."

She lies, she cheats. She hates herself. She has what she and other women like her call "the housewife's secret sickness."

She is an alcoholic.

She is only one of thousands of women alcoholics.

There are very few people who do not know her. She's a relative, a neighbor, a friend.

But her illness is hidden. She can stay home, behind four walls and people will ignore her problem ... pretend it's not there.

Members of Alcoholics Anonymous, a fellowship of men and women whose primary purpose is to stay sober, take their first step when "we admit we are powerless over alcohol ... that our lives have become unmanageable."

This is the big step. An active alcoholic seldom admits that she is actually an alcoholic. "You lie to yourself so many times ... you start believing your own lies," admitted one of the women. "You just can't be halfway. You're either an alcoholic or you aren't."

"You haven't heard of a partially pregnant woman have you? Well, there are no partial alcoholics either. The only time you're cured is when they bury you."

Sue is 36 years old, an attractive and well-groomed woman, a wife and a mother. She has maintained her sobriety for eight months now — taking one day at a time.

"Just remember, what I'm telling you isn't something in the past," Sue began, with a cup of black coffee close at hand and a lit cigarette. "It was me, my life just eight months ago ... and it can be me again. All I have to do is take one drink."

When did Sue's problems begin? When she started drinking. I was 17 years old, that's when it started," she remembered.

"Every time I'd start on a binge, I'd say: 'Oh God, I hope this time I don't get sick or don't get in trouble.' I always got sick and always got in trouble ... but that doesn't stop an alcoholic."

"I'd disappear from home for days at a time. I found myself in Las Vegas once and didn't know how I got there. I lied and cheated. You just do anything to get a drink."

"I'd sit with any man who would buy me a drink. I didn't look like I do now. Weeks would go by and I didn't bathe or even comb my hair. It got so bad I couldn't sleep, couldn't eat, I've been in jails and hospitals and places you'd never dream of."

An alcoholic is shrewd and clever when it comes to drinking explained Sue. "When I was working for awhile, well I used to get a coke on my lunch hour. Then I'd empty half of it and go to my car. I'd fill the rest of the bottle with booze and drink it in the car ... that's what a lot of girls do on the job."

The children of an alcoholic mother become shrewd, emotionally unbalanced and misguided also. Sue's young teenage son was "just as sick emotionally because of my drinking as I was as an active alcoholic."

"When I would wake up in the mornings, I'd have to have a drink to stop my shakes. My little boy, he was 13, would hide my bottle at night after I went to bed."

"Then he'd offer to sell the bottle back to me in the morning ... and I'd pay him just to get that drink."

Mary is a mother of four and has been married "more than once." Very soft-spoken, Mary at 37 has the appearance of being very tired.

"I was a loser. That's the only way to describe it," she explained. "When things started going wrong, I'd always find someone or some situation to blame my problems on. It never even occurred to me that there was any correlation between my drinking and my problems."

"The last couple of years, my life was just a crazy merry-go-round and nightmare of drinking. When a woman is an alcoholic she's so remorseful, so ashamed, she just hides."

"It's just not as acceptable for a woman to be drunk as it is for a man. So she won't seek help ... she feels she's so bad she can't face anybody. And it's easier for a woman at home to hide than it is for a man. "You know that you're going to go through hell and get sick when you start drinking ... but you go ahead and drink." Mary emphasized that an alcoholic will do almost anything in order to get a drink. If regular liquor isn't available or money has run out "you can drink all flavors of extract, pure alcohol, or even canned heat and shaving lotion."

Chronic alcoholism is one of the most serious major health problems in the United States.

DAWSON-SOBERS

Sacred Heart Church, Esopus, was the setting Sunday, Nov. 12, for the wedding of Miss Linda Mary Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Dawson, Ulster Park, to Ronald W. Sobers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sobers Sr., Grove Street, Tillson.

The Rev. Joseph A. Wall, CSsR, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Arthur Perry provided traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie and re-embroidered rose point lace gown, fashioned with a scalloped neckline and full skirt which was pleated at the waistline. A crown of crystals and seed pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums, ivy and stephanotis.

Mrs. Donna Reilly, Queens, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore an empire styled gown with a royal blue velvet bodice and sky blue crepe skirt. Her headpiece was a crown of seed pearls attached to a light blue chapel length veil. She carried a bouquet of blue and white chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Jeanne Staicer, Ulster Park; Judy Hughes, Kingston; Wanda Baganz, Ruby, niece of the bridegroom. Their gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant but were in ruby velvet and pink. They wore pink headpieces and carried ried bouquets of pink and white chrysanthemums. Nancy Jean Dawson, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her gown was identical in styling to that of the matron of honor. A chapel veil was held by a royal blue velvet bow. She carried a white basket of white chrysanthemums and blue pompons.

Walter Baganz Jr., nephew of the bridegroom, Ruby, was best man. Ushers were Herbert Sobers Jr., Tillson, brother of the bridegroom; Donald Dawson Jr., Ulster Park, brother of the bride; Alfred B. Wolven Jr., Kingston.

After the wedding a reception for 60 guests was given at the Alpine Restaurant, DeWitt Lake Road.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at Spiegel's Catalog Store, Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served two years with the U. S. Army, a year of which was spent in Vietnam. He is employed by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Sobers will reside at Creek Locks.

LANGE-RIOZZI

Miss Maureen Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lange, 39 Hoffman Street, was married Saturday, Nov. 11, to Daniel A. Riozzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Riozzi, Route 3, Box 485, Saugerties, at St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown in the cage style with circle neckline and long fitted sleeves. The gown featured Alencon lace on the bodice and skirt. A full chapel train detached at the shoulders. Her veil of wide English mist was fastened to a cap of white leaves.

Attendants were Jeanne Riozzi, Saugerties, sister of the bridegroom; Karen Dolan, Kingston; Kathy Dombek, Kingston; Kathryn Miller, Lake Katrine. Their gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant in cotton blue color.

Toni Ann Riozzi, sister of the bridegroom, and Kelly Madden were flower girls.

Rudy Mould, cousin of the bride, Glasco, was best man. Ushers were Tom Riozzi, brother of the bridegroom, Saugerties; Frank Lange, brother of the bride, Kingston; Bobby Raucci, Glasco; Andy Simmons, Saugerties.

David Riozzi, brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer. After the wedding a reception for 234 guests was held at Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's School and attended Kingston High School. Her husband, an alumnus of

Mr. and Mrs. Riozzi will reside at Key West, Fla.

SCHISKIE-THOMPSON

Miss Marion Schiskie, 7 St. James Court, Kingston, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Crantz, 64 Pine Grove Avenue, this city, became the bride of Thomas Michael Thompson, Apt. 3D, University Gardens, New Paltz, son of Mrs. Mary Goddard, Eatontown, N. J., and Harry Thompson, Pittsburgh, Pa., Saturday, Nov. 4, at St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiated at the ceremony. Miss Anne Goldrick, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. White carnations and gladioli decorated the altar and satin bows marked the family pews.

Miss Lynn M. Gallo, 103 Southfield Street, Kingston, was maid of honor. She wore a gown styled with a dark green velvet bodice over a light green crepe skirt. She carried a bouquet of dark green carnations with white chrysanthemums.

Jay Pidegon, New Paltz, was best man. Ushers were Michael J. Schiskie, brother of the bride, Pine Grove Avenue, this city; William Mulford, Route 1, Box 398 D, Kingston.

After the wedding a reception for 80 guests was held at Elmer's Inn, Ruby.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed as secretary by Ronder and Ronder, certified public accountants.

Her husband, an alumnus of Parkway High School, St. Louis, Mo., is now attending State University College at New Paltz.

ROTH — FORMISANO

Miss Sharon Jean Roth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Roth, 13 North Front Street, New Paltz, was married Saturday, Nov. 4, to Michael Formisano FTG3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Formisano, Gardiner. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Monckton of St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Kenneth Baumgartner sang traditional wedding selections accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Acion. Baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pompons decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Jacques Heim designed gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice highlighted with French sequins and tiny seed pearls. A pouf skirt of organza was swept to a deep center back pleat. The long tapered sleeves were fashioned of Chantilly lace. Her headpiece was a white silk illusion veil of fingertip length attached to a regal handmade crown of lace, crystals and pearls. She carried a prayer book covered with white roses and miniature carnations.

Miss Cathy Roth was maid of honor for her sister. She wore an empire styled gown featuring a royal blue velvet bodice over a long ivory crepe skirt.

Wide bands of embroidered Belgian lace accented the waist and cuffs of elbow length sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white pompons.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Celiann Shepard, Peekskill, and Judith Dougherty, Kingston, both college friends of the bride. Their gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant but were styled with powder blue skirts. They carried bouquets of yellow pompons.

Miss Diana Formisano, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her gown was similar in styling to that of the bridesmaid and she carried a bouquet of white and yellow pompons. Ushers were James Badami, New Paltz, and Barry Formisano, brother of the bridegroom.

For her wedding trip to the Poconos, Pennsylvania, the bride selected a white wool sheath dress with brown accessories.

The bride is a graduate of New Paltz High School, and is a student at State University College at New Paltz.

DAWSON-SOBERS
Sacred Heart Church, Esopus, was the setting Sunday, Nov. 12, for the wedding of Miss Linda Mary Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Dawson, Ulster Park, to Ronald W. Sobers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sobers Sr., Grove Street, Tillson.

The Rev. Joseph A. Wall, CSSR, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Arthur Perry provided traditional wedding selections. Baskets of white chrysanthemums and pompons decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie and re-embroidered rose point lace gown, fashioned with a scalloped neckline and full skirt which was pleated at the waistline. A crown of crystals and seed pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums, ivy and stephanotis.

Mrs. Donna Reilly, Queens, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore an empire styled gown with a royal blue velvet bodice and sky blue crepe skirt. Her headpiece was a crown of seed pearls attached to a light blue chapel length veil. She carried a bouquet of blue and white chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Jeanne Staicer, Ulster Park; Judy Hughes, Kingston; Wanda Baganz, Ruby, niece of the bridegroom. Their gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant but were in ruby velvet and pink. They wore pink headpieces and carried ried bouquets of pink and white chrysanthemums.

Nancy Jean Dawson, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her gown was identical in styling to that of the matron of honor. A chapel veil was held by a royal blue velvet bow. She carried a white basket of white chrysanthemums and blue pompons.

Walter Baganz Jr., nephew of the bridegroom, Ruby, was best man. Ushers were Herbert Sobers Jr., Tillson, brother of the bridegroom; Donald Dawson Jr., Ulster Park, brother of the bride; Alfred E. Wolven Jr., Kingston.

After the wedding a reception for 60 guests was given at the Alpine Restaurant, DeWitt Lake Road.

For her wedding trip to the Poconos, the bride selected a navy and white checked sheath and jacket suit with red accessories, and a corsage of miniature carnations.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at Spiegel's Catalog Store, Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served two years with the U. S. Army, a year of which was spent in Vietnam. He is employed by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Sobers will reside at Creek Loops.

LANGE-RIOZZI

Miss Maureen Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lange, 39 Hoffman Street, was married Saturday, Nov. 11, to Daniel A. Rizzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rizzo, Route 3, Box 485, Saugerties, at St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown in the cape style with circle neckline and long fitted sleeves. The gown featured Alencon lace on the bodice and skirt. A full chapel train detached at the shoulders. Her veil of wide English mist was fastened to a cap of white leaves.

Miss Jeanna Parise, 12 Court Avenue, this city, was maid of honor. She wore a green chiffon over taffeta floor-length gown styled with long sheer sleeves. The empire waistline was encircled with two-tone green satin bands which ended in floor-length streamers. A matching bow headpiece held her chapel length veil.

Attendants were Jeanne Rizzo, Saugerties, sister of the bridegroom; Karen Dolan, Kingston; Kathy Dombek, Kingston; Sharon Miller, Lake Katrine. Their gowns were styled identically to that of the honor attendant in cotton blue color.

Toni Ann Rizzo, sister of the bridegroom, and Kelly Madden were flower girls.

Rudy Mould, cousin of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Tom Rizzo, brother of the bridegroom; Saugerties; Frank Lange, brother of the bride, Kingston; Bobby Raucchi, Saugerties; Andy Simmons, Saugerties.

After the wedding a reception for 234 guests was held at Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

For her wedding trip to Key West, Fla., the bride selected a two-piece green and blue knit suit.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's School and attended Kingston High School.

SIGNAL CALLERS: When the top-ranked UCLA Bruins battle the Southern California Trojans in Los Angeles Saturday in the Rose Bowl decider, the men calling the signals will be UCLA's quarterback Gary Beban (L) and his USC counterpart, Steve Sogge (shown being stopped by California's Chuck Reed)). The game could also decide the national championship, with UCLA pitting its undefeated, once-tied record against third ranking USC, who suffered a 3-0 upset at the hands of Oregon State, who also tied the Bruins. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

During Easter Week

Mets Schedule '68 Opener Against Willie and Giants

An April 17 Easter Week Shea Stadium opening against Willie Mays and the Giants, an increase in the number of day dates and restoration of the round robin doubleheader program against each National League rival highlight the 1968 home schedule of the New York Mets.

Only once before in their history—on a similar date in 1964 that coincided with the official opening of Shea as their spanking new home after two seasons in the Polo Grounds—have the Mets staged a local inaugural as late as April 17. The upcoming ceremonies will also mark the New York unveiling of Gil Hodges as manager of the Mets on the heels of a six-game road trip which launches the campaign under his stewardship.

71 Home Dates

The 81-game 1968 home schedule comprises 71 dates (against 72 last year) and reveals a slate of 34 day dates compared to 31 in 1967. Correspondingly, the number of night dates has been reduced from 41 to 37, with the first Shea night event scheduled for Wednesday, May 1, against the Phillies. The Mets close the 1968 season at home, ringing down the curtain with Philadelphia on Sunday, Sept. 29.

Of the 10 doubleheaders listed, seven represent Sunday attractions, two are holiday pairings with Pittsburgh on July 4 and Atlanta on Labor Day, while Cincinnati is scheduled for a twilight bill on August 28. The Dodgers and Giants return to the doubleheader program, after a year's absence, in Sunday matinees on April 21 and June 16 (Father's Day), respectively.

Bill Russell's, That Is

Celtics Take Over Lead Despite a 'Lost' Buggy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics had just taken over first place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, but Player-Coach Bill Russell had a problem.

He didn't know where his car was.

Following the Celtics' 113-110 victory over San Francisco in snow-clogged Boston Wednesday night, Russell stood in his club's dressing room and said:

"The first thing I want to do is find my car. I don't know where it is."

But during most of the game, the second of a doubleheader at Boston Garden, Russell knew where his car was. He was in it, and it was in a mammoth traffic snarl caused by the storm.

He finally abandoned it, caught a ride with a policeman and arrived at the Garden with just a few minutes remaining in the game. He didn't bother changing into his uniform.

In Russell's absence, General Manager Red Auerbach, who guided the Celtics to eight straight NBA titles and earned 1,037 victories before turning the coaching job over to the star center last season, stepped into the breach.

Pistons Top 76ers

Detroit beat Philadelphia 123-120, San Diego topped New York 122-108 in the first game at Boston before only 2,645 fans and Los Angeles turned back Chicago 124-115.

tively. The Giants led the league in attendance at Shea last year, attracting 246,942 in eight dates. Atlanta and St. Louis followed with 216,751 and 207,210, while the Dodgers were fourth with 205,542.

The world champion Cardinals, led by National League MVP Orlando Cepeda and World Series heroes Lou Brock and Bob Gibson, make their 1968 Shea bow on Friday night, May 31, in a holiday week-end series.

Ladies Day attractions involve each club in the league, covering seven Saturday afternoons, the Aug. 28 twinnight with Cincinnati and a Sept. 14 Saturday night encounter with Pittsburgh.

The annual "Oldtimer" game is a nocturnal event for the third consecutive year, on Sat., July 27, as a prelude to the regularly scheduled game with the Reds. As an arclight presentation during the previous two seasons, the nostalgic tribute to stars of the past has drawn a total of 93,800.

The Mets' longest home stand covers a 10-game, nine-day span of June 14-23, with the Giants and Dodgers each in for a week-end series on June 14-15-16, and June 21-22-23, respectively.

Five subscription ticket plans are in effect: (1) season boxes; (2) combination plan covering night games, Sundays, holidays and opening day; (3) night games; (4) Sundays and holidays; (5) the eight Saturday afternoon games.

Mail orders and requests for additional information may be addressed to "Ticket Manager, Shea Stadium, Flushing, N. Y. 11368."

This Is Rebuilding Season For Saugerties High Cagers

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

"This is a rebuilding season for us. We will have a young team and hope to improve game by game."

That's how John P. (Bud) Smith describes his cage hopefuls at Saugerties High as he preps the Sawyers for their opener on Nov. 28 against Catskill.

Roger Praetorius, a 6-3 veteran, returns from the 1965-66 team and he figures to be a starter. Reserves from last season include Bill Perks, Warren Whitaker, Drew Craig and Tom Christiansa.

There are 11 newcomers and Smith will have to cut two prior to the opening game. They are: Carl Nickerson, John Carnright, Bill Casal, Steve Vedder, Bill Benham, Tom Myers, Randy Fury, Jack Fitzpatrick, Tom Greco, Charles Olinger and Tom Emerick.

Smith, a basketball star at Ithaca College, said the Sawyers will have good height but lack of experience and several tough clubs in the Dutchess County Scholastic League figure to make the season a long one.

He tabs Poughkeepsie and Beacon as the teams to beat and feels Wappingers, Arlington and Lourdes will provide stiff competition.

Yanks Still Top Drawer on Road

BOSTON (AP) — Win or lose, the New York Yankees still are the top drawing card on the road in the American League.

Despite a ninth-place finish this season, the Yankees drew 1,364,783 fans away from home, helping the league to a record attendance of 11,336,923.

A league spokesman said Wednesday that according to records available the Yankees topped the circuit in road attendance for the 18th straight year.

Six other clubs topped the one million mark, also setting a league mark for the most teams surpassing that mark in road attendance.

Minnesota drew 1,325,806 to rank No. 2. The Chicago White Sox were a better drawing card away from home, attracting 1,277,404 fans on the road compared with just 985,364 at home.

The Boston Red Sox showed the biggest gain in road attendance as they leaped from a ninth-place finish in 1966 to the pennant. The Red Sox drew 1,171,688 fans on the road, 383,153 more than last year.

Baltimore's 1966 champions attracted 1,145,275 fans on the road, and Detroit 1,139,121. The Washington Senators passed the million mark on the road for the first time, helping to attract 1,077,131.

Other road figures were Cleveland 995,665; California 971,836 and Kansas City 938,214.

ALL-AMERICA backfield candidate and a strong one this year is Larry Csonka of Syracuse shown in a typical bulldozing play. Fullback Csonka has paced the Orange to a winning season. (NEA photo)

HARBINGER OF THINGS to come, as WKNY staff announcer "Big John" (Allen) discussed the upcoming Dryland Ski School with Peter O. Allen, center, chairman of the Trail Sweepers Ski Education Committee and Dr. C. J. (Skeets) Goffredi, a certified ski instructor and long-time mainstay of the club's instruction and racing program.

Dryland Ski School Sunday in Phoenicia

Beginning skiers will have a change to learn basic ski techniques on the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 19, in Phoenicia. The Trail Sweepers Ski Club of Kingston will hold their annual Dryland Ski School at Phoenicia's Simpson Memorial Slopes, on the 19th, starting at 1 p. m. All persons interested in learning to ski are invited to attend.

Dryland Ski School is presented by the Trail Sweepers Ski Club of Kingston as part of the club's continuing interest in education for the beginner, giving him (or her) an opportunity to practice maneuvers with skis on, while not having to contend with snow on the ground.

Experienced instructors will demonstrate proper methods of walking on skis, plus climbing, turning and straight skiing. The instructors work with each pupil, pointing out ways to the correct method of executing each maneuver.

Participants who do not have skis, boots or poles will be able to borrow these from the rental stock of the Four Seasons Ski Shop in Phoenicia. The use of this equipment is being made available at no charge by the shop's owner, John McGrath. Skis and boots have just been fitted with modern Cubco safety release bindings which provide maximum protection for the skier.

Instruction will start promptly at 1 p. m. Persons wishing to use equipment from the Four Seasons Ski Shop should allow extra time for its selection, fitting and adjustment. Information on this and other Trail Sweepers activities, as well as membership, may be obtained by writing the club at U. P. O. Box 41, Kingston. Guests are also encouraged to attend the club's weekly meeting, held Prince Street, near the old bench Thursday night at 8:15 main post office building on p. m. in the Moose Hall, 82 Broadway.

HIS CRUTCH—University of Florida's star quarterback Larry Rentz, forced to hobble to classes on crutches. Florida coach Ray Graves said the ankle is not responding to treatment and he may miss the Florida-Kentucky game Saturday. Rentz injured his ankle in the 17-16 win over Georgia last Saturday. Baker-Villaneuva Only Two of Kind

NEW YORK (AP)—The old style all purpose kicker who handled the punting, field goal work and kickoffs has all but disappeared from the scene in pro football.

Sam Baker of the Philadelphia Eagles and Danny Villaneuva of the Dallas Cowboys are the only men who do the triple job. In fact, they are the only players who handle both the punting and field goal work regularly.

Villaneuva lost his job during the training season while he was recuperating from an operation but he now has taken over again. Harold Deters, the rookie field goal specialist, was placed on the taxi squad. Baker normally shares some of the punting with King Hill but the No. 2 quarterback was injured early.

Don Chandler may be back in double duty harness again now that Danny Anderson has taken over at running back for the injured Elijah Pitts, out for the season. Chandler punted once in the Baltimore game but Anderson handled whatever punting was necessary last week in the rout of Cleveland.

Five rookie punters are doing the job in the National Football League with Jim Elliott at Pittsburgh, Chuck Latourette at St. Louis, Steve Spurrier at San Francisco, last year's Heisman winner, Tom McNeill at New Orleans and Lem Barney at Detroit since Pat Studstill has been out. The American Football League's rookie punters are Larry Seiple of Miami and Terry Swanson of Boston.

Chandler seems to be helped by the lighter work load. Last year he made 12 of 28 field goals, missed two extra points and averaged 40.9 yards punting. Relieved of the punting, he

Chiefs Have Horses--4 Good Ones

Nick Buoniconti, the Boston Patriots' middle line-backer, had just spent a long day chasing Kansas City's running backs. They had come at him in all shapes and sizes and he poured out his frustration:

"Kansas City doesn't get hurt when they substitute backs—they're all good. They kill you with all that little stuff. We worked hard on the pass rush. So they used the screen pass and draw to counteract it. What were we going to do, call off our pass rush?"

Mike Garrett. Curt McClinton. Bert Coan. Gene Thomas.

A rush. A pass. A draw. A flare.

They didn't get big yardage on any one play, but when the game was over last Sunday and the figures totaled, Kansas City had a 33-10 victory over Boston and the Chiefs' backfield had accounted for 190 yards rushing and pass receiving.

But then that's by design.

Back Interchangeable

"We're at a stage in our offense," says Coach Hank Stram, "where we can interchange our four running backs at any time. We want to keep them fresh and at the same time give our offense the versatility we think is important. Our theme is always balance and this is what we have with these four."

What Stram has is the leading ground gaining unit in the league with Garrett, McClinton, Coan, Thomas and company, averaging 153.3 yards a game rushing. In addition, the four backs have gained 1,713 yards in all, 54.6 per cent of the Chiefs' entire total of 3,140. The averages are: Garrett 9 TDs, 4.7; McClinton, 4.1; Coan, 4.5; and Thomas 2.0.

Coach's Appraisal
And here's the way Stram sees the members of his quartet:

Garrett (5-9,200): "He's a seam runner. Mike will get more out of a small cavity than any back I've seen. He is deceptive in that normally a back his size would be classified strictly as a runner but Mike does it all, not only from a running standpoint."

McClinton (6-3,227): "Curtis is the most consistent fullback in the AFL. He runs well, blocks well and catches well."

Coan (6-4,220): "Coan and Garrett complement each other extremely well. Bert is a slasher with outstanding speed and a great start. He has the physical size and strength to go into a pile and come out the other end."

Thomas (6-1,210): "Thomas is one of the most improved players on our squad. He has as much potential as any young back we have ever had."

Pressure Against Army??

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Sugar Bowl has been quietly informed that "powerful people in high places" don't think Army's football team should play in a postseason game because of the Vietnam war.

This new development changes fluid situation for the Sugar Bowl once again with North Carolina State, Penn State, Louisiana State, Auburn, Mississippi, Miami, Fla., and Wyoming all somewhere in the picture.

"As of this moment, I would say we would probably have either North Carolina State or Penn State vs. either Auburn or Miami," said one Sugar Bowl official privately. "But a great deal depends on the outcome of this Saturday's games."

He quickly added: "The situation could change again within the next hour or two. After all, it's been changing like a newborn baby's diapers all week."

Army's football players were informed Wednesday that there would be no bowl game, the Sugar Bowl has learned here.

It was also learned here that unless Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., the ranking majority member of the House Armed Services Committee, is able to change some minds in Washington quickly, there will be an official announcement from West Point, N.Y., sometime today about Army's no bowl policy this year.

"The idea of appearing in a bowl met with military approval all the way up to the Pentagon," another Sugar Bowl confidant. "But something apparently happened."

Oh brother, Howie Glover's really helping the Cleveland Barons.

Howie, the brother of Cleveland Player-Coach Freddie Glover, has scored nine of the Barons' 46 goals. He tallied No. 9 Wednesday night when Cleveland blanked Hershey 2-0 and increased its lead over runner-up Rochester to seven points in the American Hockey League's Western Division.

Will Martin put the Barons on top with 47 seconds remaining in the first period at Hershey. He took a pass from Doug Senior and beat Bears' goalie Andre Gill with a 20-foot shot.

Howie Glover registered midway in the second period on a rebound off Gill's pads.

The shut out was the third of the campaign for Barons' netminder Gerry Desjardins.

No other games were scheduled.

Guarantee $100 First Prize in Freeman Pin Classic

Shelighntner Is First Entry

A guaranteed first place prize of $100 has been announced for the First Annual Kingston Daily Freeman Individual All Star Bowling Classic. The event is co-sponsored by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

Under American Bowling Congress rules, the second place winner then must receive at least $50.00. The Classic has been sanctioned by the ABC and all high scores are protected.

Both first and second place winners also receive elaborate trophy awards.

Shelighntner First
Bob Shelighntner, one of the city's all-time great bowling stars, is the first to file an entry. Others are expected to follow in quick order and tournament director Jack Ferraro anticipates an entry of at least 75.

"We expect that every name bowler in the county will compete," Ferraro said. "This is only the beginning of what should develop into the area's finest tournament."

All bowlers with bonafide averages of 185 have received invitations through the mails. Bowlers with averages in the 180-184 range may obtain entry blanks at Ferraro's Bowlerama or Sangi's Bowlero on Cedar Street in Kingston.

Top Names Expected

John Ferraro, proprietor of the Bowlerama (site of the tournament) heads the entry list for this initial Ulster County competition.

His son Jack, along with Hall of Famers Randy Kelder and Harold Broskie are expected to compete. Also expected to add glamor to the event of such tenpin titans as Tom Carlinio, Vince (Chic) Carpio, Larry and Herb Petersen, Kildy Corrado, Bob (Tall) Smith, Bob Schoneman, Jim Rose, Dick Howard and others.

First qualifying date is Sunday, Dec. 3, with all contestants rolling 8 games across 16 lanes at Ferraro's Bowlerama. The next two rounds—Dec. 10 and 17—will qualify the 8 finalists for the championship round.

Petersen Point system will be used to score the finals. There will be a sudden death rolloff for the 8th spot in the event of a tie in the match game finals.

The minimum qualifying average for the Classic is 180 and minimum age is 19. All participants must be bonafide residents of Ulster County.

Pitts Out For Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Elijah Pitts, Green Bay halfback, is out for the season, having been placed on the "reserved as injured" list of the National Football League.

If the Packers should try to reactivate Pitts prior to the end of the season, including postseason play, Pitts could be claimed by any other NFL club on non-recallable waivers.

However, Vince Lombardi of the Packers, fully conversant with the rules, would not be likely to risk such a valuable property.

Pitts suffered a torn achilles tendon in a Nov. 5 game with Baltimore. His place has been taken by Donny Anderson, the bonus sophomore from Texas Tech who scored four touchdowns last Sunday against Cleveland.

Another Victory, But

Senator Pin Streak Is Checked at '33'

Ulster County Community College's undefeated bowling varsity extended its consecutive points streak to 33 before bowing in the final game to State U at Farmingdale Wednesday.

A 252 solo by anchorman Bill Lukowsky enabled the home keggers to edge the locals, 933-921, and snap the UCCC winning streak. John Schatzel Jr. rapped a points streak to 33 before bowing in the final game to State U at Farmingdale Wednesday.

Coach Al DiBernardo's trundlers to 1006-2831 team effort. Runnerup was anchor man Don Gregorius with 210-584. Lukowsky, the Farmingdale "spoiler" paced the losers with 599.

Comes From Behind In Stamford Pace

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mr. Wexford came from far back in the field and edged Fire-away N. by a head Wednesday night in the $4,000 Stamford Pace at Yonkers Raceway, the evening's top harness contest in New York State.

Mr. Wexford, driven by Frank Popfinger, was fifth at the top of the stretch when he made his bid. He stepped off the cold, windy mile in 2:07 and returned $13.80. Drumbule was third.

In races featured at other harness tracks: Saratoga Raceway—The $1,200 Sports Editors' pace was won by Hayes Mac ($9) in 2:08. May S. was second, nearly three lengths back, trailed by Success York.

Buffalo Co-Capt.

In North-South

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Ted Gibbons, University of Buffalo football co-captain, has been picked to play for the North in the North-South All-Star Classic on Christmas Day at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

Andy Gustafson, University of Miami athletic director and director of the game's playing talent, selected Gibbons, a 5-foot-10, 235-pound senior. A defensive tackle, Gibbons will play middle guard for the North.

Three Hookers Are Selected

End Terry White, tackle Bob Guelndner and back Gerry Gardner of Red Hook were named to the Bi-Valley League All-Star football team by circuit coaches.

The Hookers, who finished second to Pawling, also placed guard Tim Cole and quarterback Ed Thompson on the second team.

Guarantee $100 First Prize in Freeman Pin Classic

Shelghtner Is First Entry

A guaranteed first place prize of $100 has been announced for the First Annual Kingston Daily Freeman Individual All Star Bowling Classic. The event is co-sponsored by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

Under American Bowling Congress rules, the second place winner then must receive at least $50.00. The Classic has been sanctioned by the ABC and all high scores are protected.

Both first and second place winners also receive elaborate trophy awards.

Shelghtner First

Bob Shelghtner, one of the city's all-time great bowling stars, is the first to file an entry. Others are expected to follow in quick order and tournament director Jack Ferraro anticipates an entry of at least 75.

"We expect that every name bowler in the county will compete," Ferraro said. "This is only the beginning of what should develop into the area's finest tournament."

All bowlers with bonafide averages of 185 have received invitations through the mails. Bowlers with averages in the 180-184 range may obtain entry blanks at Ferraro's Bowlerama or Sangi's Bowlero on Cedar Street in Kingston.

Top Names Expected

John Ferraro, proprietor of the Bowlerama (site of the tournament) heads the entry list for this initial Ulster County competition.

His son Jack, along with Hall of Famers Randy Kelder and Harold Broskie are expected to compete. Also expected to add glamor to the event of such titans as Tom Carlinio, Vince (Chic) Carpinio, Larry and Herb Petersen, Kildy Corrado, Bob (Tall) Smith, Bob Schonenman, Jim Rose, Dick Howard and others.

First qualifying date is Sunday, Dec. 3, with all contestants rolling 8 games across 16 lanes at Ferraro's Bowlerama. The next two rounds—Dec. 10 and 17—will qualify the 8 finalists for the championship round.

Petersen Point system will be used to score the finals. There will be a sudden death rolloff for the 8th spot in the event of a tie in the match game finals.

The minimum qualifying average for the Classic is 180 and minimum age is 19. All participants must be bonafide residents of Ulster County.

Pitts Out For Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Elijah Pitts, Green Bay halfback, is out for the season, having been placed on the "reserved as injured" list of the National Football League.

If the Packers should try to reactivate Pitts prior to the end of the season, including postseason play, Pitts could be claimed by any other NFL club on non-recallable waivers.

However, Vince Lombardi of the Packers, fully conversant with the rules, would not be likely to risk such a valuable property.

Pitts suffered a torn achilles tendon in a Nov. 5 game with Baltimore. His place has been taken by Donny Anderson, the bonus sophomore from Texas Tech who scored four touchdowns last Sunday against Cleveland.

Best off-the-pace victory on the PGA tour this year was turned in by Charley Sifford when he won the Hartford Open. He was five shots off the lead going into the last 18 holes.

THE BIGGER they are the harder they fall—on opposing linemen, that is. And if one doesn't get you, the other one will. Kansas City's Buck Buchanan (86) and Ernie Ladd (left) give the Chiefs the hugest defensive tackle combination in pro football.

Three Injured In Olive Crash

Three persons were injured at 4:40 p. m. Wednesday when the car in which they were riding skidded on slippery pavement on Route 28A, Town of Olive, left the highway and hit a tree after rolling down an embankment.

The car was operated by John Walsh, 64, of Cambria Heights and traveling south on the highway at the time of the mishap, according to a report of Trooper John Kohland of the Kingston substation.

Trooper Richard Dempsey said Walsh was treated at Benedictine Hospital for lacerations of the scalp and right ear. Passengers in the car were Mrs. Margaret Walsh, 62, who suffered a fractured left wrist and lacerations of the head, and Esther Scanlon, 64, also of Cambria Heights, who sustained skull and lacerations. The women were admitted at the hospital for further treatment and observation.

Truck Fire

A fire in a pickup truck's engine brought firemen to the corner of Delaware Avenue and Broadway last night, it was reported. Engines were summoned when a 1953 truck, registered to Tudoroff Bros., 22 Broadway, ignited after gas spilled across its hot motor, officials said. The driver, Ray Garcia, 76 Crane Street, told firemen he was pouring dry gas into the carburetor when it caught fire.

Britain Will Press For Mideast Accord

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Britain plans a determined effort to prod the U.N. Security Council into unanimous action toward a settlement to the Middle East stalemate, declaring that the "time to decide has come."

The United States urged the council Wednesday to reach an accord calling for Israeli withdrawal from captured Arab lands but also supporting Israel's insistence on "secure and recognized" boundaries.

"Only the parties themselves can make peace," added U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg. The council did reach a decision on Portugal, condemning the Lisbon government for permitting foreign mercenaries to use Portuguese Angola for an abortive invasion of the Congo.

Portugal has denied any knowledge of mercenary operations from Angola and its U.N. delegate, Francisco Bonifacio de Miranda, called the condemnation "gratuitous and baseless." But Soviet representative Platon Morozov, said the resolution did not go far enough because it did not call on Portugal's fellow members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to respect U.N. charter provisions barring interference in the internal affairs of another state.

In the Middle East debate,

News Reference Available at Local Library

Now available at the Kingston Library is a special news reference service — Facts on File — which puts the significant news events of the past two years at fingertip reach, making it possible for users to locate specific news items as easily as looking up a word in the dictionary.

Facts on File News Digests — which are issued weekly — record tens of thousands of items annually, spanning all categories of news from world and national affairs to sports, finance, education, religion, science and the arts as well as the activities of newsworthy individuals.

Facts on File News Digests contents are culled from over 4,000 newspapers, magazines, informative radio-TV broadcasts and press releases. More than one million words of press reports are condensed to 10,000-15,000 words of essential information every week, and facts are checked against all news sources to assure accuracy.

A cumulative index, issued twice monthly and consolidated throughout the year, tells the user exactly where to find the details of a news event in the Facts on File News Digests. The index also specifies the date of the event, thus making it possible to find additional background information in newspaper and periodical files.

Positive Thinking Used in Film Career

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ted Hartley is going about a film career in the same way he won a post as naval aide at the White House: with positive thinking.

"There was absolutely no logic to my being appointed aide to President Eisenhower in 1957," he recalls. "There were other Navy officers with more seniority and better qualifications. But I was fascinated with the power structure of Washington and I wanted to observe it from the inside, so I put in my application. A couple of weeks later I was told to report to the White House."

Hartley was even less qualified to become an actor; his only previous experience in dramatics had been playing a female role in an Annapolis production. Yet his film career has been progressing, and he has his best role so far in the Cinerama epic, "Ice Station Zebra." At age 34, the ruggedly handsome Hartley is thinking of writing his memoirs. Born in Omaha, Neb., and reared in Des Moines, Iowa, he has packed a lot of living into his lifetime.

Among his experiences: Becoming the nation's youngest pilot at 13; forming a fast friendship with Lady Astor during a cruise to England; hobnobbing with the Kennedys and other Washington society; serving as naval aide at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow; breaking his back when his Cougar jet crashed on the carrier Midway off Formosa.

He managed to survive the injury, but it was enough to get him discharged from the Navy. For lack of anything else to do, he bought a travel agency in Corpus Christi, Tex., where he was discharged.

"The business didn't prosper, but at least I got some free trips out of it," said Hartley. He sold his travel agency to become an acquisitions man for Gulf & Western.

Hartley did so well that he was hired away by another acquisition-minded firm and sent to its Nevada headquarters. But the business life paled on him, and he left the $30,000 post for the nebulous career of a writer in Hollywood.

"Then the idea of acting presented itself," he related. "I first became interested when Rita Gam took me to sessions of the Actor's Studio in New York. I was offered a one-day role as a minister in 'Peyton Place' and I decided to take a flier. I must have done all right, because I stayed 3½ months." Since then he has appeared in "Walk, Don't Run," "Murder-

In the Middle East debate,

Britain's Lord Caradon complained that the Security Council has been bogged down for weeks by "dreadful and damaging delays and persistent and frustrating disagreements."

The council may consider as many as four separate Arab-Israeli peace plans. A U.S. plan and an India-Mali-Nigeria proposal are formally before the council. Argentina and Brazil are ready to introduce another and Britain is reported working on a separate draft.

Supervisors Meet Tonight

Routine business, including the adoption of equalization rates for the various towns and city of Kingston, will be transacted tonight by the board of supervisors.

The resolution on equalization rates indicates only two changes. In Olive the rate will go up one point from 13 to 14 and in Wawarsing the rate will drop one point from 17 to 16 percent. The rates submitted by resolution are those suggested by the state.

Other business will include report on apportionment of mortgage tax money, approval of levies in special districts including the Walkkill sewer and sidewalk tax and action on town budget levies.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education, Kingston City Schools (Consolidated) until 2:30 P. M. Eastern Standard Time, December 15, 1967, at the office of the Board of Education, located in the City of Washington School, 67 Wall Street, Kingston, N. Y., at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read for furnishing all labor and materials for the construction of an Elementary School near the junction of Con Routes 29 & 75, Town of Woodstock — known as Zena area.

Two (2) sets of plans and specifications shall be issued to Bidders for Contract No. 1 on deposit of EIGHTY DOLLARS ($80.00). One set of plans and specifications will be issued for Contract No. 2, 3, 4 and 5 on deposit of FORTY DOLLARS ($40.00). For Contract No. 6, a deposit of TWENTY DOLLARS ($20.00) will be required. Plans and specifications will include:

- Contract No. 1: General Construction
- Contract No. 2: Electric Plumbing
- Contract No. 4: Heating & Ventilating
- Contract No. 5: Sprinkler System
- Contract No. 6: Kitchen Equipment and may be seen at the office of Harry Halverson & Associates, Architects, 239 Fair Street, Kingston, New York.

Any bidder returning such plans and specifications in good condition within three (3) weeks from date of opening of bids will be refunded the deposit.

Non-bidders and those requiring additional sets will be refunded the deposit upon return of each set returned in good condition.

Deposits for plans and specifications shall be to the order of Harry Halverson.

Each proposal for each of the six (6) Contracts for work, must be accompanied by a Bond or Certified Check on a National Bank or Trust Company, for five (5) percent of the Contract Price, made payable to the Board of Education, Kingston City Schools (Consolidated) as security that if the Proposal be accepted, the bidder will enter into a Contract for the work.

A Performance and a separate Payment Bond, each for 100% of the Contract Price will be required for each Contract.

No bidder may withdraw his bid within forty five days after the actual date of opening thereof.

Attention of bidders is particularly called to the requirements as to the conditions of employment to be observed and minimum wages to be paid under the Contract.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all proposals which may be deemed not to be to the best interest of the said School District.

Dear Abby

It's Better to Be Sure

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The teacher called me for a conference because of an essay my daughter had written as part of a class assignment. It was entitled "My Father," and it went like this: "My father is the worst father in the whole world. I am ashamed of him. He left us when we were small and my mother had to work to feed us. I hate him."

Abby, my daughter was four years old when her father left us, and she hasn't mentioned him in all these years. She is a moody child but I think it is just her nature. My other children seem happier and better adjusted. Well, this teacher suggested I take my daughter to a psychiatrist. I don't believe too much in psychiatry. I went to one after my husband left me, and many hundreds of dollars later all I got out of him was the sage advice that I should "adjust" to the situation and make the best of it. I don't want an emotionally disturbed child on my hands, but I can't afford to pay a psychiatrist just because a teacher says she thinks my child needs one. What should I do?

DEAR CONCERNED: Ask your family doctor for his recommendations, after telling him the background. Far better to investigate psychiatric help for your daughter and be told she doesn't need it, than not to seek it when she does.

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, November 17, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): What appears as opposition may be a buff. Know this. Ad here to convictions. You tend to fear the unknown. If realistic you find that path is smoother than you imagined.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Cycle continues high, but there are problem areas related to marriage, partnership, public relations. You learn today how to deal with those of opposing views. Study ARIES message.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Subtle approach achieves best results. Play cards close to chest. Don't tell all you know. Emphasize air of mystery, glamor. Some behind the scenes are much concerned with you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You could be deceived in connection with a relationship. Means don't wear heart on sleeve. Obtain hint from GEMINI message. Keep some things to yourself. Observe and analyze.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Leap over red tape. Get to heart of matters. Utilize intuition. Your ability to perceive truth is spotlighted. Some come to you for special teaching. Give what you can. You also receive.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Some of your desires are fulfilled. Keep communication lines clear. Emphasis on the way you look at future. Outline ambitions. Put some thoughts on paper. Visualize success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Discuss essentials with mate, partner. Be aware of details. Don't skip basic tasks. Be thorough. You could find things out—and gain solid advantage. Observe.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You could be overanxious. Don't assume. Wait until you get necessary information. Avoid tendency toward self-deception. Others seem to have difficulty understanding plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Lunar position emphasizes work, health, key accomplishments. Harmony with associates is essential. Fine for off-duty pleasure, recreation. Tonight is time for relaxation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Some of your desires may lack base of reality. Review various aspects, including romantic area. Check tendency to act on impulse. Be creative, not reckless.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Individual in authority is willing to make concessions. Be gracious. Realize that you speak from position of strength. Build on solid structure. Choose quality.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Short-range plans subject to change. Be ready for surprises. Applies especially to dealings with close relatives. You finish project and begin anticipating future.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "WORRIED MOTHER" who is concerned about telling her 11-year-old son the facts of life, sounds like many parents with whom I have talked. After teaching elementary school for 17 years, I have found that the parents of 11-year-olds who think they are going to tell their children something new in revealing the facts of life, have a lot to learn themselves. Sincerely yours, DAVID S. MILLS, Principal Dow, Illinois

DEAR ABBY: Re that late-working husband who made a habit of worrying his wife because he was ashamed to say to his boss, "Excuse me, I have to call my wife and let her know I'll be late." Most bosses admire and respect an employee who shows that kind of consideration for his wife. In fact, that is one of the quality a boss looks for when he considers a man for promotion. How do I know? I am a boss.

'Androcles' Disappointing

Bite, Satire Missing
NBC's adaptation of "Androcles and the Lion" arrived Wednesday night having lost somewhere along the way the bite and sly satire of the Irish playwright. The score, alas, was one of Rodgers' minor efforts.

What came through in the 90 minutes was the familiar tale of a small timid tailor of ancient Rome, one of the Christians, whose love of animals gave him courage to pull a thorn from the paw of a lion.

Captured by Roman soldiers, Androcles is placed in the arena with other Christians to be fed to the lions for the sport of Caesar and the populace. Of course, the lion turns out to be his old friend and his life is spared.

Norman Wisdom played Androcles in broad comedy style, even occasionally dropping into cockney baby-talk when speaking to his lion. Ed Ames had a song or two in his part of the giant who worried about his conscience. Inga Swenson appeared as a Christian girl who attracted a Roman captain—just enough for a couple of songs with him.

Noel Coward as Caesar appeared at the end of the show and had one amusing number, "The Emperor's Thumb," which he delivered with considerable style.

Story, Music Don't Jibe
But at no point did there seem to be a comfortable fit of story and music. Ancient Rome and the ordeals of early Christians combined with musical comedy like oil and water. Perhaps Rodgers' best number was a sort of hymn, "Follow in Our Footsteps," but, in the name of humor, even this one had the name changed at one point to "Feed Them to the Lions."

The show was a disappointment. Later on ABC, there was a slick attention holding adaptation of "Dial M for Murder." It is a dandy suspense story to start with and was done in good British whodunit style.

U.N.C.L.E. Fading
NBC will drop "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." now in its fourth season, after the Jan. 22 show. The replacement will be a variety series starring the comedy team of Rowan and Martin. The canceled show's ratings have been very low this season and its departure was expected.

NBC also confirmed officially that "Maya" will be replaced by "The Saint" in early March. The British action series did well as a summer replacement. "Accidental Family," the first series to go—on Jan. 12—will be replaced by an evening edition of the morning game show.

"Hollywood Squares."

Debbie Delayed

ABC has announced the postponement of its Debbie Reynolds special, scheduled for next Sunday. Like Carol Channing's show, it was taped after the strike of union technicians against the network and under an agreement not to broadcast Wilson.

if the strike were still on. It will be replaced by a repeat of a cartoon show, "Alice in Wonderland, or What's a Nice Kid Like You Doing in a Place Like This."

Recommended tonight: "Pop-endipity," ABC, 9-10 EST. Variety show with comedian Flip Wilson.

'Androcles' Disappointing

Bite, Satire Missing

NBC's adaptation of "Androcles and the Lion" arrived Wednesday night having lost somewhere along the way the bite and sly satire of the Irish playwright. The score, alas, was one of Rodgers' minor efforts. What came through in the 90 minutes was the familiar tale of a small timid tailor of ancient Rome, one of the Christians, whose love of animals gave him courage to pull a thorn from the paw of a lion.

Captured by Roman soldiers, Androcles is placed in the arena with other Christians to be fed to the lions for the sport of Caesar and the populace. Of course, the lion turns out to be his old friend and his life is spared. Norman Wisdom played Androcles in broad comedy style, even occasionally dropping into cockney baby-talk when speaking to his lion. Ed Ames had a song or two in his part of the giant who worried about his conscience. Inga Swenson appeared as a Christian girl who attracted a Roman captain—just enough for a couple of songs with him.

Noel Coward as Caesar appeared at the end of the show and had one amusing number, "The Emperor's Thumb," which he delivered with considerable style.

Story, Music Don't Jibe

But at no point did there seem to be a comfortable fit of story and music. Ancient Rome and the ordeals of early Christians combined with musical comedy like oil and water. Perhaps Rodgers' best number was a sort of hymn, "Follow in Our Footsteps," but, in the name of humor, even this one had the name changed at one point to "Feed Them to the Lions." The show was a disappointment.

Later on ABC, there was a slick attention holding adaptation of "Dial M for Murder." It is a dandy suspense story to start with and was done in good British whodunit style.

U.N.C.L.E. Fading

NBC will drop "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." now in its fourth season, after the Jan. 22 show. The replacement will be a variety series starring the comedy team of Rowan and Martin. The canceled show's ratings have been very low this season and its departure was expected.

NBC also confirmed officially that "Maya" will be replaced by "The Saint" in early March. The British action series did well as a summer replacement.

"Accidental Family," the first series to go—on Jan. 12—will be replaced by an evening edition of the morning game show,

if the strike were still on. It will be replaced by a repeat of a cartoon show, "Alice in Wonderland, or What's a Nice Kid Like You Doing in a Place Like This."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's hint that he might alter his announced support of President Johnson in 1968 adds new drama to the potential opposition candidacy of Minnesota Democratic Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Rocky Talks On Mounting Welfare Woes

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller said the commitment of every significant institution in our society is needed to solve the problem of increasing welfare dependency in a speech at the New York State Welfare Conference Wednesday.

Rockefeller told more than 800 persons at the conference, which ends its 68th annual meeting today, that he was determined not to lose the momentum generated on the problem two weeks ago by the Arden House Conference. He praised business and labor leaders who gathered at Arden House to discuss ways of dealing with what he termed "the welfare quandary."

The Republican governor said that he was deeply encouraged by the genuine commitment to the public welfare problem made by these people from the private sector.

A committee had been appointed to follow up the conference recommendations, and public meetings across the state would be held by the State Board of Social Welfare to gain further views on the problem, Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller also said he had an open mind on the controversial proposal that the state take over the administration and costs of local welfare programs. He said local welfare costs can be handled either by more state aid to the hard pressed localities or a state takeover of additional welfare functions.

McCarthy Image Gaining

McCarthy is likely to generate some important backing if he enters presidential primaries as an outspoken opponent to Johnson's Vietnam war policies.

More Later?

Asked how a McCarthy candidacy would affect his previously announced decision to support President Johnson's expected bid for re-election despite his criticism of some of the President's Vietnam policies, the New York senator said,

"I perhaps will have something to say further if Sen. McCarthy announces."

Kennedy also said if he were Johnson he'd consider McCarthy's possible candidacy "very serious," and added: "I think he'll (McCarthy) receive some support around the country. I think from the people I've talked to, in California, New England, the Midwest, he'll have some support."

Kennedy was interviewed on the CBS Evening News.

McCarthy has said he was considering getting in to the race for the Democratic nomination because he felt Kennedy's announced intention of supporting Johnson left a vacuum in which voters had no direct way of expressing their opposition to Vietnam policies.

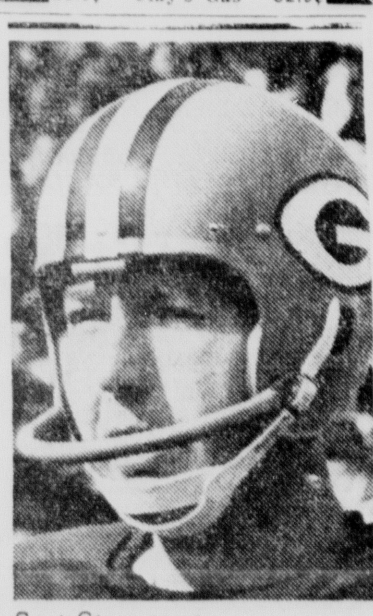

McCarthy wasn't immediately available for comment on Kennedy's statements. But in an earlier interview Wednesday the Minnesotan said any bid he makes for the Democratic nomination would aim at giving voters a chance to exert the kind of pressure he thinks might cause Johnson to change his course in Vietnam.

"Vietnam is an important issue and it can't be pushed aside," he said. "It is the kind of issue that should be presented squarely to the people under the established procedures of American politics."

No Thoughts on '72
"It has got to be presented with personal identification. It can't be dealt with as an abstract issue. If it is identified with a personality in the primaries the people can make their judgment."

McCarthy said personal political ambitions don't enter into his decision.

Disputes Warren Data, Says Three Involved

NEW YORK (AP) — A new critic of the Warren report claims that three gunmen in three different locations fired a total of four shots in the assassination of President Kennedy.

Josiah Thompson, a philosophy professor turned investigator, disputes the Warren Commission finding that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone killer of the President.

From Photos, Data

Writing in the Dec. 2 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, Thompson says he based his conclusion on detailed analyses of the pictures of the assassination and testimony of certain witnesses.

In a statement, William A. Emerson Jr., the magazine's editor, said, "With painstaking care and formidable logic Thompson demolishes the Warren report by building a case for three assassins."

In an editorial accompanying the Thompson article, the Post said: "We declare once again that we believe the Kennedy mystery has not been solved, that the case is not closed."

Thompson, 32, who teaches at Haverford College, is a graduate of Yale University and Navy veteran. The article was extracted from his book "Six Seconds in Dallas" to be published Nov. 27 by Bernard Geis Associates.

Thompson said his "new evidence does not prove that the assassination was a conspiracy. Nor does it prove Oswald's innocence. It shows that the question of Oswald's guilt must remain—four years after the event—still unanswered."

In his "reconstruction," Thompson argues Kennedy was hit by the first and third shots fired at the presidential motorcade. He believes they probably came from the Texas School Book Depository but were not necessarily fired by Oswald.

Second From Building

Thompson claims the second shot came from a building to the rear of the motorcade—most probably the Dallas County Records building—and was the bullet that wounded Gov. John Connally.

Commenting on the Thompson thesis Wednesday, Gov. Connally disputed the fourth shot theory. "I still contend there were three shots fired. I don't believe there was more than one assassin," he said.

Almost immediately after the third shot hit Kennedy in the head, Thompson claims a fourth shot also struck the President's head. He believes this shot was fired from behind a fence to the right and in front of the motorcade.

In part, Thompson based his conclusions on a study of an amateur movie filmed during the assassination by Abraham Zapruder, a spectator. The film was also central to the Warren Commission findings.

Thompson draws his theory of three assassins from interpretation of the facts of timing of the frames of the Zapruder film, but he does not speculate on who the gunmen were.

Tavern Scuffle

Ellenville police investigated a complaint of a scuffle at Jere's Tavern on Center Street Wednesday night and arrested one of the participants identified as James H. Summers, 30, of Danville, Ill., on a charge of disorderly conduct. According to a police spokesman, Summers and Stephen Dexter, of Ellenville, became engaged in the disturbance and police were notified. On arrival at the tavern police said they found Dexter bleeding and took the man to the Ellenville Community Hospital, where he was admitted after treatment.

Most Teeners Treated Smoke Marijuana

TORONTO (AP) — A Cornell University psychiatrist says most of the adolescent patients he has treated recently smoked marijuana or took LSD.

Dr. James F. Masterson of Ithaca, N.Y., an associate professor of psychiatry at Cornell, told a Toronto audience Wednesday that 10 years ago he never saw an adolescent patient who used marijuana or LSD.

But, now, he added, "I never seen one who hasn't."

Masterson told 150 psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers at a Toronto treatment center that he didn't understand the reason for the change to drug stimulants.

"Maybe they smoke pot because it has become more readily available as a technique for dealing with their problems," he said.

He said most teenagers he dealt with at the Payne Whitney Clinic in New York had tried LSD, but most "found it doesn't work; they don't feel any better so they go back to something safer."

County to Get $325,399 as Per Capita Aid

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the distribution of $24,962,276.27 as the third 1967-68 quarterly installment of per capita assistance to counties, cities, towns, villages, and town-outside-village municipalities. Ulster County will receive $325,399.71 of these funds.

Also included in today's payment are all 57 counties of the State (excluding the five which comprise the City of New York) 61 cities, 550 villages and 932 towns.

Unlike other types of state aid, which are granted for a specific purpose (such as education, highways and health), the per capita aid can be used for any general municipal purpose.

This payment is allocated to the local units of government on a per capita basis. The payment formula for all units of government except counties has two parts, a basic minimum, and an adjustment factor to compensate for deficiencies in local property taxes.

The formula for the following minimum annual payments per municipal resident are: cities—$8.60, towns—$3.55, villages—$3.60, and town-outside-village—$2.05. These minimums are increased by five cents per capita for each $100 by which a municipality's per capita full valuation is less than $8,000.

The county formula is an amount equal to the population of the county multiplied by 65 cents plus an increase of five cents of each $100 or part thereof in which the county average of full value and personal income per capita is less than $8,000.

Real name of Jack Dempsey was William Harrison.
